CURB ON SUBMARINES IS GAINED AT LONDON; TRIPLE PACT CERTAIN

Jurists at Naval Parley Agree to Humanizing of Submersibles.

JAPANESE SITUATION SUFFICIENTLY CLEAR

Only One Reservation Is to Provide Ground for More Argument.

FRANCE AND BRITAIN CONTINUE DISCUSSION

Feeling Greatly Improved, Although Italy Still Refuses to Budge.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, April 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Humanization of submarines was agreed on today by the jurists committee of the London naval conference, and after a further conference between the American, British and Japanese delegates the Japanese situation was sufficiently cleared up to make it possible to state that a three-power settlement is certain here.

These were the two outstanding positive achievements of the day in the five-power parley.

On the other hand, no progress was made toward finding an Anglo-French security formula equally acceptable to London and Paris, and the attempt to do so seems fairly hopeless.

In an exclusive statement to the New York World News Service from a high Italian quarter it was made clear tonight that negotiation of any five-power treaty here is impossible.

Submarine Pact Path Clear.

The submarine agreement between the jurists has to go to committee No. 1, and then to the big five for ratification, but no further snags are foreseen. It is agreed that merchantmen must not be sunk without warning, and that passengers and crews must not be put in open boats far from land or while the elements render their safety precarious.

It is understood the agreement represents a compromise between the American and French views on the Root convention, which the French Chamber of Deputies refused to ratify after it had been signed at the Washington conference of 1921-22.

Although the Americans, British and Japanese after their meeting today appointed a committee of experts to consider Japanese reservations, there is only on chief point for discussion—the Japanese desire, which was admitted in principle, to keep their dock yards in condition by replacing submarines during the next five years to the extent of 20,000 tons more than contemplated in the American offer to Tokyo.

Other Provisos Agreed To.

The Americans and British agreed to other Japanese reservations; that a battleship holiday to 1936 shall be part of the agreement; that the agreement shall expire in 1936, and that the Japanese claim to 70 per cent in big cruisers after that date is not waived. It appears uncertain whether the United States will consider it necessary to state formally that she reserves the right after 1936 to object to the Japanese big cruiser claim.

The three-power agreement on tonnage is therefore practically complete, excepting for the seaplane carrier dispute between Great Britain and the United States. The American super-Rodney has been dropped, and so has British opposition to American 6-inch-gun cruisers of more than 7,500 tons, although neither of these recessions has been officially announced.

Although Anglo-French security formula discussions continue, it is known that these now concern merely a British proposal to agree to fight on unanimous recommendation of the council of the League of Nations instead of retaining a free hand.

Since the league council must be unanimous and Great Britain has a

$102,427 Verdict Against Mellons

Girl Wins Award for Hurts During Construction of Pittsburgh Hotel.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 3 (A.P.).—Damages of $102,427, one of the largest amounts ever granted in a common pleas court verdict here, were awarded Miss Mary G. Hahn, 23, in a suit against Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his brother, R. B. Mellon, today.

The Mellons were sued as the owners of the Pittsburgh Hotel.

Miss Hahn was hurt when a man employed in construction of the hotel dropped a hammer which shattered a window. Miss Hahn was struck by flying glass.

Clara Bolling Hurt In Fall From Horse

Niece of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Recovering After Accident.

Miss Clara Bolling, 19-year-old daughter of R. Wilmer Bolling and niece of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and one of the most prominent members of Washington's younger social set, was thrown from a horse on the Potomac Park bridle paths early Wednesday night and was painfully, though not seriously, injured.

In company with a group of others, Miss Bolling's animal, known to be spirited, was galloping along with the others when a rider suddenly cut in front of it. The horse stopped abruptly to avoid a collision, and, in the words of Miss Bolling's father, she neglected to stop with the horse.

The fall was not the first in Miss Bolling's career as a horsewoman. She fell on her shoulder, striking her head a glancing blow. She was stunned by the blow and was apparently seriously hurt when Inspector Ernest W. Brown, head of the Traffic Bureau of the Police Department, picked her up, and in his own machine took her to Emergency Hospital.

Hospital physicians quickly ascertained that she was suffering from concussion of the brain and severe lacerations on her head. Three stitches were required to close one of the cuts, and others were dressed to prevent infection.

Mr. Wilmer Bolling, prominent in business and social circles, was notified of the accident, and he went at

RASKOB WILL FACE LOBBY GROUP TODAY

G.O.P. Hopes to Make Capital Out of His Activity for Dry Law Repeal.

EYE KEPT ON ELECTIONS

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

John J. Raskob, chairman of what is popularly known as the Democratic national committee, comes to town today to sit in the uneasy seat before the Caraway lobby committee, just vacated by Chairman Huston, of the Republicans. And it is the fond hope of the latter that Mr. Raskob will be made just as uncomfortable as was the man who preceded him.

Whether this will be the case remains to be seen. The Republicans are not so optimistic, but inasmuch as hope springs eternal in the human breast they plan to make the best of the possibilities. Capitol Hill experts in mass psychology had the subject under discussion pretty much of the day, but after a study of all phases, the consensus was that the story would prove a dud.

It lacks, it was pointed out, the necessary element of surprise.

For example, it is expected that it will be shown that Mr. Raskob is the guardian angel of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, that he and his close associates, such as the Du Ponts, now contribute approximately one-third of that organization's budget. Records at the Capitol show that in 1928 Mr. Raskob personally gave $17,000, the following year $30,000, and this year he contributed $12,500 in January and $5,000 in February, which proves beyond question that Mr. Raskob is not o 'y against the eighteenth amendment, but that he has faith in the association's ability to do something about it.

It is only this latter, however, about which there can be any surprise.

Mr. Raskob's views on prohibition are very well known. They have in

TARIFF CONFERENCE FEATURED BY CLASH

Smoot and Garner Have Tilt Over Publicity Policy at First Session.

CHEMICAL RATES FIXED

(Associated Press.)

The final phase of the Republican tariff revision program was entered upon yesterday as the Senate and House conferees held their first sessions to adjust the many differences between the two congressional branches over the Hawley-Smoot bill. Action was taken on 32 rates in the chemical schedule.

Senate conferees are victorious in a big majority of the contests, the House group receding from its higher rate amendments in sixteen instances and the Senate giving in on only four. Twelve compromises were reached.

A controversy over publicity featured the first organization and business meeting. Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, and Representative Garner (Democrat), Texas, clashed.

Angered when Mr. Garner left the committee room and called to newspapermen that he was ready to make public all that took place, the Utahan appeared in the doorway and requested that the reporters "come inside."

"I'll give you every rate agreed on," he said.

"I want to make sure that all you fellows get this accurately."

Other Republicans in the room expressed surprise that daily publicity was to be given their actions.

Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee and head of the House conference group said he thought it had been agreed to make public the actions only after an entire rate schedule had been completed.

"Yes, but Jack Garner says he's going to give out what we do every

Mae West Trial Jury Fails To Agree on Play's Morals

Body Dismissed by Judge and Prosecutor Hints Case Is Ended.

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—The jury reported disagreement tonight actress and playwright, and 23 other persons charged with violating the penal code by presenting her play, "Pleasure Man," which was closed as indecent by the police in the fall of 1928. The jury was then discharged.

The jury had deliberated almost 10 hours and in discharging it, Judge Amedeo A. Bertini expressed his thanks.

CIVIL SERVICE RETIREMENT IS HALTED IN ROW

Dale, Lehlbach Clash as Conference Begins on Measure.

PESSIMISM VOICED BY HOUSE SPONSOR

First Joint Session Ends in Deadlock Among Conferees.

SENATOR DEFENDS HIS OWN MEASURE

Detailed Discussion Awaits Future Meeting as Members Split.

The Senate-House conference on the new bill to liberalize the civil service retirement law broke up in a deadlock yesterday, and when the conferees separated no arrangements had been made for another meeting.

Senator Dale (Republican), Vermont, chairman of the Senate civil service committee, objected strenuously to the new bill, while Representative Lehlbach (Republican), chairman of the House civil service committee, defended it.

When, after a lively two-hour discussion, the conference broke up, it was understood that the Senate conferees would consult among themselves before a date for another conference was set.

Lehlbach Is Pessimistic.

"I am not at all optimistic," Chairman Lehlbach said afterward. "As for another meeting, that is entirely up to the Senate conferees."

Yesterday's discussion, it was learned, never got beyond the main proposition; that is, the new bill in its entirety. Hence, a detailed discussion of the tontine provision and other provisions, if such a discussion comes, must await future meetings.

Senator Dale has always been in favor of his own bill to liberalize the retirement law, which passed the Senate twice, the House once, and then was pocket vetoed by former President Coolidge.

Outline of Dale Bill.

Briefly, the Dale bill increased the maximum retirement annuity from $1,000 to $1,200, lowered the retirement age two years, and made retirement optional after 30 years service provided the retiremen age had then been reached.

Representative Lehlbach also favored that bill at one time, and sponsored it in the House. Then President Hoover, a student of retirement, stepped in and directed that a more scientific bill be drafted. When Mr. Lehlbach learned what the President wanted, he introduced the new bill, and proclaimed it to be far more liberal than the old Dale bill.

In the hearings that followed, representatives of the Federal employes

PRESTON QUITS PRESIDENCY OF GAS COMPANY

George Wood, of Chicago, to Replace Capital Man in Firm.

Fusion With Georgetown Concern Is Aimed in Expansion.

CAPITAL STRUCTURE BAN MAY BE LIFTED

Utilities Commission Urges That Merger Legislation Be Enacted.

Ord Preston, president of the Washington Gas Light Co. since February, 1924, has resigned and will be replaced by George Wood, Chicago engineer and utilities expert, at the election meeting of the board of directors next week.

The man scheduled to become president of the company has been connected with the Seaboard Investment Trust Co., of Boston, and has also had much experience in development of the Central Gas Co. of Illinois.

Mr. Preston announced his resignation yesterday, declaring that he had submitted it nearly a month ago, to become effective at the will of the board.

Meeting Called for Tuesday.

The next meeting of representatives of the stockholders of the company will be held Tuesday. It was indicated last night that the personnel of the board will remain pretty much as at present.

Details of the new organization are to be worked out at a conference in New York today between Wilton J. Lambert, Washington attorney and one of the directors representing the new owners of the gas company, and other representatives of the new owners. The election of Mr. Wood is expected at the April 12 meeting of the directors.

"I sold my interest in the gas company some time ago and my resignation was prompted simply by the belief that the new owners of the company should have the management of the company. That is all there is to it," Mr. Preston said.

Stock Sold at $125.

The new owners of the gas company stock hold between 108,000 and 109,000 shares of the 130,000 shares outstanding. Dana A. Pearson represented the new owners in the buying campaign, which was brought to a successful conclusion when Mr. Preston agreed to sell his holdings at $125 a share provided the purchasers would buy the stock of all other stockholders who were willing to sell at the same price. The par value of the stock is $20 a share.

Of primary importance in the expansion plans is the pending measure providing for merger of the Washing-

Widow Holds Power In Miles Exhumation

Post Mortem Request by Mrs. Rogers Probable, In Foul Play Theory.

Although Department of Justice agents have interviewed a score of persons, most of whom are socially prominent, in their investigation of the death of Basil Miles, diplomat and economist, who succumbed suddenly June 14, 1928, at Emergency Hospital, the only points of interest brought out so far have been that he had been scheduled to leave the hospital on June 15 and that his physical appearance in death could have been caused by prussic acid poisoning as well as pulmonary embolism, which physicians ascribed as the cause of his demise.

Despite the poison element, Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw still refused yesterday to order the disinterment of the body and it was understood that no such action would be taken unless stronger evidence is discovered or unless Mr. Miles' widow, the present Mrs. H. H. Rogers, wife of the Standard Oil magnate, requests a post mortem. So far there has been nothing of merit to warrant the United States Attorney's office or the Department of Justice to order the body exhumed.

Due to the rumors that have been rife around Newport and other exclusive Eastern society resorts that Mr. Miles met with foul play—rumors which, reaching two New York newspapers, prompted the investigation—it is considered highly probable that Mrs. Rogers will make the request that the body be disinterred and the viscera and body tissue examined to determine whether her dead husband really died of poisoning or of the blood clot in the lungs, as the physicians said.

Mr. Miles succumbed unexpectedly while sipping a highball in his private hospital room, and the only one with him at the time was his wife. He had been subjected to a minor operation a few days before and his condition was considered so favorable that his physician, Dr. James Mitchell, had left that day on a trip to Canada.

Although approximately 20 other persons, also socially prominent re-

U. S. TERMINAL SITE NOT YET SELECTED

National Aeronautic Group Admits Graf Skipper as Honorary Member.

(Associated Press.)

Out of studies and conferences which have engaged Dr. Hugo Eckener day by day, there emerged last night the latest details concerning transoceanic dirigible service which may be instituted within two years.

One of the Graf Zeppelin commander's closest advisers, Commander J. C. Hunsacker, revealed that—

Passenger fares will be approximately double steamer rates;

Germany will furnish two ships, the Graf Zeppelin and a new dirigible to be constructed immediately for completion in 1931;

America will build two ships, modeled after the two dirigibles ordered by the United States Navy;

Eastward trips from airport to airport will be made in two days and western trips in three days.

Plans of Eckener Told.

Commander Hunsacker, former Navy dirigible expert and now vice president of the International Transport Co., has accompanied and conferred with the Graf Zeppelin's skipper during the recent terminal surveys. Dr. Eckener is technical adviser and leading German figure in the proposed service.

"Immediately on his return to Germany," Hunsacker said, "Dr. Eckener will go ahead with construction of a new dirigible for the service, a larger and faster ship than the Graf Zeppelin and scheduled to be complete by autumn of next year.

"The design has been drawn, but new ideas gained by Dr. Eckener in America will be included. A German subsidy will finance building, and in little more than a year the sister ship and the Graf will be ready as the European contribution to the venture.

"Two ships will be constructed in the United States. Designs are being studied and the ships will follow the general structure of the two dirigibles ordered by the United States Navy. Plans under consideration include passenger capacities of 40, 60 and 80 persons.

Plane Contacts in Flight Seen.

"While the Navy dirigibles will have hangar space for five fighting planes, the commercial ships will probably not carry heavier-than-air craft, but be modified to allow airplanes to make contacts while in flight.

"This has already been shown to be practical and arrangements may be worked out to allow planes to meet the liners over water, make contact for special mail or passengers and speed coastward. It is also likely that contacts may be made over intermediate cities where the dirigibles will not stop for discharging passengers and cargo.

"Tentative schedules call for eastward trips from airport to airport to be made in two days and westward flights in three days. Seville, Spain, will be tested as the probable European terminal in May when Dr. Eckener proposes to fly the Graf Zeppelin to South America and Lakehurst."

U. S. Terminal Site Unchosen.

While the survey of the Chesapeake Bay area has been completed, he said it will probably be nine months before a definite selection will be made

INDIAN ADMITS PART IN MURDER OF RIVAL

ACTS AFTER MISTRIAL

Buffalo, N. Y., April 3 (A.P.).—The curtain was rung down today on a drama of Nation-wide interest in which an Indian woman was tried for the murder of a white artist's wife, and tonight the last of the scenery was being cleared away.

Lila Jimerson, the "Red Lilac" of the Cayuga Indians, lay on a sick bed in the Buffalo City Hospital and faced a prison term of 20 years to life, a sentence which became mandatory when she pleaded guilty today to a charge of murder, second degree, reduced from one of murder, first degree.

In sharp contrast to the earlier scenes of the trial of Lila Jimerson for murder, in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, internationally famous artist and sculptor the final act of the drama took place in the auditorium of the hospital before a bare handful of spectators, most of them newspaper reporters.

For it was from her hospital bed, wheeled into the auditorium, that the emaciated, disease-racked Indian woman nodded her silent acquiescence to questions put to her by Judge F. Bret Thorn and thereby entered her plea of guilty to the reduced charge. Not once did she speak. Her plea accepted, she was removed to her room, and her part in the drama which had gripped a Nation's interest for the past two weeks was ended. Ended, save for the epilogue to come after her release from the hospital, when she will be formally sentenced to prison.

Henri Marchand, husband of the murdered woman, who took the witness stand and admitted intimacy with the Indian woman "for professional reasons" only, tonight was preparing to leave the county jail where he had been detained since the start of the trial as a material witness in default of $25,000 bail. District Attorney Guy B. Moore said that Marchand would be released tonight

CRIME BOARD PLANS TO GET ACTION SOON

House Judiciary Members Divided Over Points in New Measure.

MITCHELL RAPS BILLS

(Associated Press.)

Decision on legislative proposals of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission to strengthen dry enforcement was set for next Wednesday by the House judiciary committee after failure yesterday to reach an agreement on major recommendations in the program.

With the committee divided on the commission's bills to permit juryless trials before United States commissioners and to define misdemeanor violations of prohibition laws, indications were that these measures would not be favorably reported to the House without radical changes.

Although several committee members expressed the opinion that these measures had practically died in committee, Chairman Graham said the group was willing to cooperate in formulating legislation to aid law enforcement.

"We refuse to rush action on measures that would result in unscientific legislation, just because somebody demands it," he added, however.

In a confidential communication to the judiciary committee, Attorney General Mitchell approved the bills, provided certain changes be made which would meet the approval of Chairman Wickersham of the commission.

Mr. Mitchell suggested the maximum penalty be increased from a $500 to $1,000 fine and six months' imprisonment, or both, and favored a redraft of an original commission bill to prevent district attorneys from calling a defendant in a minor liquor case before a grand jury after a trial before a United States commissioner.

In the same letter, Mr. Mitchell strongly opposed a bill by Representative Stobbs (Republican), Massachusetts, to modify the Jones five year and $10,000 fine law by defining slight and casual offenders and fixing the maximum penalty at six

Front Page of Newspaper Is Flashed Across Country

Schenectady Sees Periodical Printed 3 Hours Sooner on Coast.

Schenectady, N. Y., April 3 (A.P.).—The complete front page of a newspaper has been transmitted across the country by radio for the first time.

Giving the present a peep into what may be commonplace in the future, engineers of the General Electric Co. today reported that successful experimentation had permitted them to read the first page of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin three hours after it had left the press. It was reproduced in full size in the laboratory by a new type automatic carbon recorder, connected to short-wave receiving equipment actuated by signals originating 2,500 miles away.

The engineers did not hesitate to forecast many possibilities for this day and I'm going to do it myself," Mr. Smoot told the Oregon member.

The finance committee chairman then dictated in detail action taken on the first 32 changes in the bill. Other rate schedules will be taken up in the order in which they appear in the measure.

"The public is entitled to know what transpires in the conference with respect to the rates and provisions of the tariff bill," said a statement issued later by Mr. Garner.

"There has been too much secrecy in formulation of this measure," he added. "The American people, who are vitally concerned, are entitled to know from day to day whether the conference committee is handling the bill in their interests or in the interests of those seeking special tariff favors.

Plea Made for Publicity.

"The committee is considering a bill which will place a tax upon every consumer in the United States, and it is the people's right that they should know every phase and factor considered or entering into this bill."

The controversy over the flexible provisions and the export debenture will not be reached until administrative features are taken up.

An outgrowth of the long Senate tariff debate was the favorable report by the Senate rules committee yesterday on the Swanson resolution to do away with consideration of bills in committee of the whole. The tariff bill was in this status for six months in the Senate and afterward the entire measure was subject to change. Many prior decisions were reversed and this led to vigorous protests for a change in rules.

Rates As Determined.

Here are the rates agreed upon by the conferees yesterday: Acetic acid containing by weight not more than 65 per cent of acetic acid, 1¾ cents a pound; containing more than 65 per cent, 2 cents a pound.

Acetic anhydride, 3½ cents a pound; boric acid, 1 cent; refined borax, ½ of a cent; citric acid, 17 cents; formic acid, 3 cents; tannic acid, containing by weight of this acid less than 50 per cent, 5 cents; containing 50 per cent or more and not medicinal, 11 cents; 50 per cent or more and, medicinal, 18 cents.

White arsenic, free; gallic acid, 6 cents; nitric acid, free; red oil, 20 per cent; phosphoric acid, 2 cents; pyrogallic acid, 12 cents; carbon dioxide, 1 cent; cetone and ethyl methyl ketone, 20 per cent; aluminum sulphate, 1-5 of a cent; antimony oxide, 2 cents.

Amber, not specially provided for, 50 cents; synthetic gums and resins, not specially provided for, 4 cents a pound and 30 per cent; bleached shellac, free.

Caffeine, $1.25 a pound; caffeine citrate, 75 cents; impure tea and tea waste and siftings, free; calcium acetate, crude, 1 cent; carbon tetrachloride, 1 cent; chloroform, 4 cents; tetrachloroethane and trichloroethylene, 30 per cent.

Casein, a dairy product used in paper manufacture, will be the first major rate to face the conferees tomorrow. The House bill retained the present rate of 2½ cents a pound, while the Senate increased this to 3½ cents.

Senator George (Democrat), Georgia, said last night that an analysis of the votes of Democratic senators on the tariff bill would show that their votes for rate increases were cast in an effort to give agricultural products equal protection with industrial products.

In a statement issued through the Democratic national committee in reply to that of Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, which enumerated the Democrats who had voted for raises, Senator George said that the Watson statement had been issued to "prepare the public for presidential approval of the bill."

10 DEAD, 30 INJURED IN FIREWORKS BLAST

Explosion Near Philadelphia Wipes Out Plant and Rocks Wide Area.

HOMES BADLY DAMAGED

Philadelphia, April 3 (A.P.).—Ten persons lost their lives and more than thirty were injured today when a series of explosions virtually wiped out the plant of the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display Co., Inc., at Devon, 16 miles west of Philadelphia.

Most of the dead were employes of the plant which was comprised of ten small buildings on a 7-acre tract of land near the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Although hospitals reported treating only about twenty injured persons, many more were aided on the scene by emergency ambulances dispatched with physicians. Many others in the 200 homes in surrounding territory which State police reported were damaged, were helped by family physicians or administered first aid treatment themselves.

Several Reported Missing.

Police tonight were still investigating reports that several employes are unaccounted for, but it is believed if they are missing they are represented among the unidentified dead.

The explosions were terrific and caused great excitement and much anxiety on the quiet countryside. The shock of the blasts was felt over a wide area, reports having been received that the heavier explosions were felt 30 miles away.

Heavy damage was done to houses nearby tenanted by workers. Roofs were caved in, porch roofs wrecked and windows blown out. There was extensive minor damage done over a large area, some places more than a mile away being affected.

There were three heavy explosions which caused most of the damage, followed by similar blasts over a period of 20 minutes after the first great shock.

Rescuers Held at Distance.

At times the exploding fireworks sounded like the battle of machine guns. Rescuers were forced to remain at a distance until the explosions ceased, when hundreds of persons rushed into the rescue.

The debris caught fire and was burning briskly when firemen and other rescuers tackled the scattered debris of the small buildings, most of them of frame construction.

Eight of those who lost their lives were killed outright and their bodies were badly charred before they were dragged from the burning ruins. Another died shortly afterward and the tenth, a girl, died in the Bryn Mawr Hospital this afternoon, four hours after the explosion. She had been terribly burned.

There was little left of the buildings when the last of the explosives on the leveled tract let go, and the fire was easily extinguished.

Dynamite Set Off.

According to Alexander Vardaro, proprietor of the fireworks plant, the first explosion occurred in a building at the extreme northwestern corner of the property where a quantity of dynamite was stored.

"The only thing I could think of that would cause the explosion would be friction," said Vardaro.

"It would be possible for the nails of shoes of some of the workmen moving about the building to cause sufficient friction to set off the dynamite. The exact cause prabably will never be known."

Copyright Change Urged by Authors

Old Laws Are Out of Date, Is Claim as Foreign Demand Is Cited.

Prominent authors, playwrights and publishers yesterday told the House patents committee that a new and growing demand for American books abroad necessitates a sweeping change of "antiquated" copyright laws.

Will Irwin, author and former war correspondent, marshalled before the committee Marc Connally, playwright; Elmer Davis, novelist; Chester T. Crowell, magazine writer; Thyra Samter Winslow, short story writer, and Edwin H. Hart, attorney for his author-wife, Frances Noyes Hart, who is ill.

They all urged that the Vestal bill would give the individual author greater control over his product and permit this country to enter the International Copyright Union. Publishers, declaring that American authors are producing a far better product than ever before, attracting a foreign demand they can not supply because of the simultaneous publication ruling, also approved the bill.

Carolina Workers File Protest Against Parker

(Associated Press.)

Protests from labor organizations from four North Carolina cities against confirmation of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, as associate justice of the Supreme Court were received yesterday by the Senate judiciary committee.

The protests were from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen at Charlotte; the Central Labor Union of Winston-Salem; the Central Labor Union of Salisbury, and from the union at Raleigh. A subcommittee of the judiciary committee, headed by Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, will give a hearing tomorrow to representatives of organized labor who are protesting Judge Parker's confirmation.

SENATE ACTION DUE ON MUSCLE SHOALS

NORRIS QUITE CONFIDENT

(Associated Press.)

Final action today on the Norris resolution for Government operation of Muscle Shoals was in prospect last night after the Senate rejected all attempts to amend the main features of the legislation.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, was confident of the votes for adoption of his resolution. It is in practically the same form as the measure sent to President Coolidge two years ago by Congress. That proposal was given a pocket veto.

Urging that "no peg be put in the resolution upon which a veto by the Chief Executive may be hung," the Nebraskan successfully beat down attempts by Senators Black, and Heflin, of Alabama, Democrats, to amend the measure yesterday.

Senators Heflin and Black also attacked some of those interested in private operation of the power industry. Senator Heflin said:

"There have been more lobbies in Washington who have lived on it, fattened on it and grown rich on it than on anything else I have heard of since I have been in the Senate."

On the pleas of Senator Norris, the Senate rejected two amendments by Senator Black, one of which would have opened the cyanamid nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals to private operation upon a guarantee that nitrogen for use in fertilizer would be manufactured.

Senator Black contended this went farther than the proposal of the American Cyanamid Co. for the property. Senator Norris said, "Largely by the efforts of Senator Black, the lobby committee has destroyed the proposed lease of the American Cyanamid Co." He urged that the amendment be rejected.

An amendment by Senator Heflin providing for the manufacture through private industry of 40,000 tons of fixed nitrogen annually at the plants also was voted down.

Senator Fess (Republican), Ohio, is prepared to talk against the Norris resolution today, but so far no voice has been raised against it.

Two perfecting amendments by Senator Black were adopted. One of these would permit contracts for sale of the power for a period of 30 years instead of 15. The Senate also accepted an amendment by Senator George (Democrat), Georgia, forbidding those using power from the Muscle Shoals project to allow discriminatory rates.

McKellar Tells History Of Project Over Radio

Speaking on the general title, "What of Muscle Shoals?" Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, of Tennessee, last night described to the Columbia Broadcasting System's radio audience the history of the Alabama power project.

Senator McKellar gave his hearers a picture of the scene at Muscle Shoals; of the various attempts by private interests to gain control of it; of Henry Ford's offer for the plant there and of legislation and Governmental action in connection with the site.

HAGUE PHONE CALL PERTURBS WOMEN

Nationality Code Likely to Discriminate Between Sexes, Is News.

FINAL VOTING DUE TODAY

In a four-minute telephone call to Europe yesterday Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley learned from Miss Doris Stevens, chairman of the Inter-American Commission of Women, that the nationality section of the world code now being drawn up by the codification conference of international law at The Hague is likely to be based on inequality between the sexes.

The final voting on the measure will begin today and Miss Stevens declared there is grave danger that the women of the United States and Latin America will lose the rights they have won since 1848. She urged that the feminists here make every effort to have the United States delegation oppose this attempt to put Old World standards for women on the whole world.

The call was made from the National Woman's Party headquarters. With Mrs. Wiley awaiting the news from The Hague were Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the nationality committee of the Inter-American Commission of Women, Miss Anita Pollitzer, of Charleston, S. C., vice chairman of the National Woman's Party; Miss Elsie Hill, State chairman of Connecticut; Miss Maud Younger, of California, congressional chairman of the Woman's Party.

Author Awarded Divorce Decree

Eugene Walter Separated From Charlotte Walker, Stage Star.

Los Angeles, April 3 (A.P.).—Award of an interlocutory decree of divorce to Eugene Walter, author of "Paid In Full," from Charlotte Walker, stage actress, on grounds of desertion, was revealed here today.

The decree was given Walter by the Superior Court last week on default and supplemented a previous divorce granted him in Delaware some years ago. His attorney attempted to conceal his client's identity and it was not until Walter was located in Hollywood today that reporters were able to confirm the names of the principals.

Walter is living in Hollywood. Miss Walker recently appeared on the stage here.

Clandestine Friendships Charged in Divorce Plea

Clandestine friendships with other women is charged in a suit for absolute divorce filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Mrs. Eva Pearl Weary, of 425 D street southeast, against her husband, Milton B. Weary, a member of the United States Marine Band. A corespondent is named.

The couple was married January 20, 1923, at Covington, Ind., and have two children. They have lived in the District since July, 1924. The wife tells the court that she is temporarily employed, but asks for maintenance for herself and the children. Attorney Raymond Neudecker appears for the wife.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 12 noon and recessed at 5 p. m. to 12 noon today.

Received nominations of Roger Sumner and Sidney H. Browne, jr., to be foreign service officers; Tom W. Dutton to be United States marshal for the Eastern district of Louisiana; William J. Carter, United States attorney for Eastern district of Tennessee, and Roy C. Fox, United States attorney for Eastern district of Washington.

Judiciary committee received protests from four North Carolina cities against the confirmation of Judge John J. Parker as associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Senator Blease (Democrat), South Carolina, urged that lawless foreigners, including attaches of embassies, be dealt with the same as citizens.

Passed and sent to the Senate the appropriatoin bill for the Department of Justice.

Rejected proposals for modification of the Norris bill for Government operation of Muscle Shoals.

Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, declared he had obtained reports from the House which showed that John J. Raskob, chairman Democratic national committee, had contributed $64,500 to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Commerce committee approved two of the three Wagner bills to relieve unemployment.

Agreed to take up next Tuesday legislative remedies for unemployment, including a stabilization agency with authorization for a $150,000,000 Federal Appropriation.

Vice President Curtis appointed a committee to represent the Senate at the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Charleston, S. C.

Commerce committee approved White bill establishing preference in ocean mail contracts for companies or individuals that previously purchased the United States Lines.

HOUSE.

Met at 12 noon and adjourned at 4:30 p. m. to 12 noon today.

Passed and sent to the Senate the Hoch bill to liberalize allowances for the living quarters for American foreign service representatives.

Judiciary committee failed to agree on any of the proposals of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission, and decided to consider them again Wednesday.

Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, demanded payment in cash to World War veterans of the face value of their bonus certificates and suggested that the necessary money be raised by a tax on the incomes of millionaires.

Representative Romjue (Democrat), Missouri, proposed that a national school be established here for the training of policemen and policewomen.

DRYS GAIN SLIGHTLY IN MAGAZINE VOTING

20 States Favor Repeal of Law and 20 Want Strict Enforcement.

CRITICISMS GET REPLY

The vote for strict enforcement shows a slight gain in the fourth week's returns of the Literary Digest's "straw" referendum on prohibition, though Kansas and Tennessee are the only 2 of the 40 States reported which are voting bone dry, according to tomorrow's issue of the magazine. Seven hundred and fifty-five thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven new votes are reported this week from 20 additional States.

Of the 2,000,340 post-card votes returned through the mail and counted at the poll headquarters, 848,751, or slightly over 42 per cent of the total are wet and 598,252, or nearly 30 per cent, vote damp, while 553,337 are bone dry and demand a strict enforcement of the prohibition laws.

In every Southern State except Tennessee the combined vote for modification and repeal is larger than that for enforcement, while in Maryland the vote for repeal is considerably greater than for both modification and enforcement.

The vast section of Dixie is appraised as voting "medium dry" by the Literary Digest.

Even Split on Repeal.

Of the 40 States reported, 20 show a vote for repeal that is greater than for either modification or enforcement, while in the other 20 States the vote for strict enforcement shows a larger total than for either modification or repeal.

The Literary Digest states that it has been bombarded with criticisms from those favoring every shade of opinion, and it passes off the many objections as almost too silly to answer.

"This year," the periodical notes, "the bitterest of the accusations seem to come chiefly from our dry friends, who ought to know better—and some of them positively do know better.

"However, we are also being assailed by earnest wets, who accuse us of 'splitting the wet vote' and of further discriminating against them by throwing out ballots marked in more than one square.

Local Scandals Claimed.

"We always expect to be bombarded with local scandals about our ballots going to the wrong kind of people, and none going to the right kind of people.

"A favorite accusation just now is that we are sending no ballots to women, only to men. Whereas our enormous daily mail includes many complaints that the women are getting the best of it in the ballot distribution.

"Then there is a sinister story that the Digest is financed by the 'wet interests,' just as our 1928 poll was declared to have been financed first by the Democrats, then by the Republicans. To all such silly stories our sole reply is a vigorous 'Bosh!'

"The Digest finances its own polls, and never has cause to regret the outlay, enormous as it is."

First Lady Noticed By Few at Meeting

Mrs. Hoover in Philadelphia for Gathering of Friends Society.

Philadelphia, April 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. Herbert Hoover attended the Friends' yearly meeting here today, unnoticed by many in the auditorium. She is a member of the Friends Society.

She came to the meeting unexpectedly and quietly took a seat in the middle of the old meeting house. With her sat Mrs. George Vaux, jr., and her traveling companion from Washington, Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, sister-in-law of Mrs. Vaux. Mrs. Hoover planned to spend the night with Mrs. Vaux before returning to Washington tomorrow.

Mrs. Hoover told a secret service man who accompanied her and Mrs. Walcott that her visit here was purely a church matter and that she did not want to be bothered with police clearing the way for her wherever she went.

During the meeting today a report of the west town school committee was read and it was believed this was one of her reasons for the visit. Last year when an appeal for $750,000 for the school was made she was one of the first contributors.

Medical Rum Ban To Be No Tighter

Copeland Gets Assurance Further Restrictions Are Not Planned.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York Democratic senator, received official assurance yesterday that there would be no move for tightening restrictions on the use of medicinal liquor by doctors and hospitals.

Stirred by protests from doctors, Senator Copeland conferred with Prohibition Administrator Doran. It was understood at the Capitol that a proposal to restrict further the use of liquor by doctors and by hospitals in their practice was put up to Mr. Doran and that it is now in the hands of high officials of the Justice Department.

"I am satisfied," Senator Copeland added, "there is no intention at present to tighten the regulations."

RADIO PHONE HOOKUP IS OPENED BY HOOVER

Greets Presidents of Chile and Uruguay Over New Service.

ARGENTINE HEAD "ILL"

Radio telephone service between North and South America was inaugurated yesterday morning when President Hoover exchanged greetings with President Carlos Ibanez del Campo of Chile and President Juan Campisteguy of Uruguay. Acting Secretary of State Joseph P. Cotton also talked with government officials in the Latin-American countries and with John Campbell White, counselor of the American Embassy in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Dr. Hipolito Yrigoen, President of Argentina, as predicted in The Post, did not participate in the ceremony, giving as an excuse a "bad cold."

Other officials of the government, foreign representattives and officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. were in the Cabinet room during the conversations.

Walter S. Gifford, president of the telephone company, opened the ceremonies by calling Col. William F. Repp, vice president of the International Telephone & Telegraph Co., in Buenos Aires from New York and informing him that President Hoover had consented to open the service. The entire ceremony took only fifteen minutes.

Both the National Broadcasting System and the Columbia System broadcast the conversations of the presidents. Short-wave transmitters of the General Electric Co. carried the ceremony into foreign countries.

Telephone conversations between North and South America are transmitted over the radio channels. The United States transmitter is at Lawrenceville, N. J., and the receiver at Netcong, N. J. The conversations yesterday were carried over regular telephone circuits from Washington to New York.

William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, was the first to use the new service after its official opening. He talked in turn to bank officials in Buenos Aires, Montevideo and Santiago.

Woman, Two Children Injured in Auto Crash

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., April 3.—A woman and two children were hurt and four other persons escaped injury this afternoon when two tourist autos collided on the Valley Pike at Stone Spring, one mile south of here. Mrs. A. J. Moore, of Beckley, W. Va., received a severe scalp wound and her 4-year-old daughter suffered a fractured collar bone and severe bruises. Mr. Moore and A. C. Lilly were not hurt.

Edmund Soule, 14, son of Mrs. Philip Soule, of Swarthmore, Pa., suffered a severe scalp wound, but his mother and sister were not injured. The slippery roadway was blamed for the crash. The Moore party was en route to Washington while the Soule party was going South. Both cars were badly damaged.

RASKOB WILL FACE LOBBY QUIZ TODAY

the past caused Southern Democrats considerable pain. It will cause them pain when this all comes out again, too, and here it would seem is the only opportunity for the Republicans.

Scalp May Be Called For.

If they can develop a picture of Mr. Raskob giving money out of one pocket to the wet association and out of the other to the Democratic party, which undoubtedly can be done, the Southern Democrats will of necessity have to stand up and call loudly for his scalp. They have done this before and it is hard to see where the Republicans will accomplish anything more than to start them off again.

Now it is conceivable that this might be helpful in their predicament over Mr. Huston. If the Democrats start to calling for Mr. Raskob's resignation, they can say: "See, calling for the resignation of national chairmen is a national pastime. So you must not take the business about Mr. Huston so seriously."

In other words the whole thing might become so funny that the country would see the joke and laugh it off. Nothing would be more pleasing to the Republicans just now, and to say that they would gladly join in the laughter is to put it mildly. They would get hysterical.

Election Aid Possible.

On the other hand, there is the question of whether the more emphasis that is placed upon Mr. Raskob's wetness the easier it will be for Democrats to pick up members of Congress in this fall's election. Democratic representatives from the South are expected to return as a matter of course. It is in the Eastern wet centers that they expect the revolt from the administration's dryness to help them.

The Democrats have played a right cagey game on this prohibition matter. They have not said anything about it at all. The Republican dryness, on the other hand, has been emphasized.

It might be if the lobby committee were otherwise constituted that Mr. Raskob could be so used as to tie up the wet association and the Democratic national committee in such a manner that the dry Democrats would just have to withdraw from the party or at least kick up a ruckus and make further efforts at harmony futile.

But there is only one man on the committee to carry the Republican cause, Senator Robinson, of Indiana. He does not know exactly himself how he will proceed, but he intends to hit out with both fists, and maybe if he has good luck he will do such good work that he will be made a Republican whip or something. It is his opportunity.

HOOVER SEEKS FISH ON RAPIDAN TODAY

President Takes First Outing Since Trip to Florida, Six Weeks Ago.

MEN ONLY ARE IN PARTY

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover will leave work behind him in Washington today and tomorrow while he whips the streams at his summer camp, high in the Virginia mountains.

Resuming the week-end fishing trips which he enjoyed so much last year, the Chief Executive planned last night to take a small party of friends with him to his recreation camp on the Rapidan River in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Though at first it was planned that Mrs. Hoover and the wives of some of the men accompanying the President would go with them, it was announced later at the White House that the party would include only men.

Secretaries Lamont and Wilbur, Attorney General Mitchell, Representative Fort, of New Jersey; Lawrence Richey, one of the President's secretaries, and Joel T. Boone, White House physician, will go with the President.

The party expects to leave the White House shortly after lunch, to permit arrival by automobile at the camp in time for some fishing before dinner. They will return to Washington Sunday afternoon.

This is the President's first respite since his trip to Florida, about six weeks ago. The last visit of the Chief Executive to the summer camp was on the occasion of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's trip to Washington.

WARRANTS LOOMING AFTER FOREST FIRES

Carelessness Seen as Cause of Blazes in Virginia and Maryland.

CITE PROPERTY OWNERS

Warrants charging carelessness will probably be issued against a number of property holders in connection with forest fires which swept nearby Maryland Tuesday and Wednesday, officials of the State department of forestry announced yesterday. The Maryland fires, and similar but less serious grass blazes in Fairfax County, Va., were extinguished yesterday morning by lessening winds and a continuous rain, aided by hundreds of volunteer fighters, forest wardens, soldiers and inmates of the Lorton Reformatory.

The adjutant's office at Fort Humphreys, Va., yesterday reported that the three fires in Fairfax County had been completely extinguished, and reports from Maryland authorities said that only a few smoldering stumps recalled the fire which swept more than 1,000 acres in the vicinity of Great Falls, Leonardtown, Glenn Dale, Seabrook, Tuxedo, Berwyn and other communities in Prince Georges County. Fires in Arundel, Charles and St. Mary's Counties were also out.

The Maryland blazes claimed the old lockhouse at Great Falls, several farm buildings and a small amount of live stock, in addition to damaging timber, but the Fairfax County fires resulted in practically no loss with the exception of a small sawmill located near the old Mahon place south of the reformatory, where the most serious of the three fires originated.

DUCHESS IS CHARGED IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Remanded on Bail by London Court After Death-Try by Gas.

ROMANCE WAS BROKEN

London, April 3 (A.P.).—A dingy police court in the drab London district of Lambeth today had before it the wife of the premier duke of the Irish peerage, charged with attempted suicide in a two-room flat at Brixton April 1.

She was the Duchess of Leinster, formerly the beautiful musical comedy star, May Etheridge, and a police inspector testified how he had found her in the flat at 3:15 o'clock in the morning, attired in a nightdress and with her head against an oven door from which gas was pouring.

The officer testified that he was accompanied to the flat by a man named Williams, his statement recalling that the landlady had declared in the press that the duchess was known as Mrs. Williams at the apartment.

The inspector said he applied artificial respiration methods for fifteen minutes and the duchess began to respond. Then a physician arrived and she was taken to a hospital.

Today's proceedings were short and ended in the duchess, known in court as Mary Fitzgerald, being remanded on bail of £50 (about $250). She was released when bail was furnished.

The case has created great interest in England, for many recall the stage and society sensation of 1913 when young Lord Edward Fitzgerald, as the Duke of Leinster then was, took the striking May Etheridge from the leading part in "Princess Caprice" to a honeymoon in a shack beside Lake Ontario after a surprise wedding in a register office.

The duchess and her husband have been separated for some time and she is reported to have been living in reduced circumstances of late.

In reporting the attempt, the London press recalled not only the romantic marriage of the duchess but also the fact that the duke, before succeeding to the title, sold the reversion of his Irish estates, estimated at the time to be worth £40,000 (about $200,000) a year, to Sir Mallaby Deeley for £60,000 in cash and an annuity.

Nothing of this was brought up in court today.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

SENATOR MOSES of New Hampshire, hung up a fairly impressive record as the larruping lambaster of "the sons of the wild jackasses," but against the elusive cockroach he has displayed a prime, pristine and puissant prowess of which any walloping Vandal or galloping Goth might well be proud.

He took the field against the challenging insect when Senator Keyes, approaching him as chairman of the committee in charge of the Senate Office Building, lamented: "Cockroaches are running me out of my sanctum! They are eating the handsome bindings of my rarest and most valued books!"

Leaning heavily on his fellow committeeman, Mr. Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, Mr. Moses went into conference with Mr. Charles E. Alden, the newly chosen custodian of the senatorial office building.

* * * *

MR. ALDEN, all pepped up by the martial cheers of Mr. Moses and the merciless cries of Mr. Harrison, emerged from that conference with the light of battle in his eye. He hired extra help. He got rid of help that had not done much helping. And ever and anon he jarred the 85,000 square feet of the building's marble corridors with the war cry, "Death to the cockroach!"

The cockroach was everywhere. It scuttled over the senatorial shoes. It made merry in the senatorial desks. It gorged itself on official desks. It used the corridors as a race track.

But the newly organized army of cleaners went after it. In the language of Mr. Lewis Carroll in his description of the hunting of the Snark:

"They sought it with thimbles, they sought it with care;
They pursued it with forks and hope;
They threatened its life with a railway share;
They charmed it with smiles and soap."

* * * *

THAT is to say, they campaigned against the cockroach millions with mops, brooms, insect powders, sprays and squirtguns. From midnight until 8 in the morning the cleansing crusader battled the noisome hordes without ceasing and without mercy.

Naturally the war cost money. To the $93,000 which had been appropriated for this year's hostilities, $63,000 had to be added; and it is now estimated that, if the building is to be kept to its present innocence of dust, dirt and intruders, nearly $200,000 will be needed for the next fiscal year.

But, with the cockroaches exterminated, who cares about the expense? Mr. Keyes' books are saved. Mr. Alden's battlers have the situation well in hand. Not an atom of dust profanes any senatorial sanctum.

And Mr. Moses, departing for Europe today, may begin his vacation with the proud knowledge that, as victorious commander in chief of the cockroach killers, he will be greeted on the other side with the roll of drums, the bellowing of big guns and the frenzied huzzas of hero-worshiping foreigners.

CAPPER SECURITIES BILL COMMENDED

District Chiefs Disapprove of Blaine Measure for Stock Sale Here.

REPORT CITES REASONS

The Capper bill regulating sale of securities in the District of Columbia was approved yesterday by the District Commissioners at the same time that they disapproved the pending Blaine securities bill.

The Blaine bill, the Commissioners said in a report to the Senate District committee, is objectionable because it provides that issues of securities first would have to be approved by the Public Utilities Commission before being offered for sale in the District.

Such approval, the Commissioners said, would be harmful because it "would convey a substantial approval by the Government that the securities offered represented substantial value and merit.

"They believe that the practical effect of this bill would be to create difficulties, delay and expense in connection with the distribution of sound securities.

"A further objection is that the Blaine bill places administration under the Public Utilities Commission, instead of under the Boar dof District Commissioners.

"The Commissioners believe that there is necessity for passage of legislation regulating sale of securities. Existing laws under which prosecutions are brought are not adequate to meet the situation."

The Capper bill has been given careful study by the corporation counsel, the Commissioners said, and is believed to meet needs, provided it is amended to provide funds for its administration. The Capper bill provides for registration of dealers and salesmen and issuance of licenses to them for a fee.

MILES' EXHUMATION RESTS WITH WIDOW

U. S. Attorney's Office Still Sparing in Details of Death Quiz.

POST MORTEM DISTANT

main to be questioned by Department of Justice agents, the general belief in the United States attorney's office was that nothing would come of the investigation and that no facts would be garnered which would warrant an investigation by the District grand jury.

Dr. John H. Lyons, an associate of Dr. Mitchell, who was entrusted with the care of Mr. Miles upon Dr. Mitchell's departure for Canada, was questioned yesterday by Mr. Burkinshaw but it was understood that his statement contributed nothing new.

Mrs. M. G. Nash, who nursed Mr. Miles at the time of his death, was questioned last week, and was again subjected to questioning last night by Mr. Burkinshaw and Department of Justice agents. Another Washingtonian, whose name could not be learned, also was put through a quiz.

Mr. Burkinshaw yesterday maintained the attitude he has since the investigation was made public through newspaper stories. He refused to discuss the situation, except to state that the only true story that has been written about the case appeared in Thursday's edition of The Washington Post, and to deny that he had summoned Mrs. Thomas Surratte, Mr. Miles' sister, from her Concord, Mass., home to assist him in the investigation.

"I have not sent for Mrs. Surratte, and I do not intend to question her unless she comes to this office and asks for an interview," Mr. Burkinshaw said. Questioned as to his reasons, the youthful prosecutor merely asked: "Why should I question her? She knows nothing of her brother's death except that he died."

It also was denied in the United States atttorney's office that Leo A. Rover, chief of the office, is hurrying back from Atlantic City, where he is recovering from a recent illness, to take personal supervision of the case. It was stated that Mr. Rover personally put Mr. Burkinshaw in charge of the case, so far as his office was concerned, and that he is more than satisfied with the manner in which Mr. Burkinshaw has conducted his part of the investigation.

The United States attorney's office also denied reports that J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, had gone to New York to interview Mrs. Rogers. While admitting that Mr. Hoover probably was in New York, it was stated that there is no basis for questioning Mrs. Rogers at this time.

Although 20 persons remain to be interviewed by agents scattered from Maine to Florida and from New York to Los Angeles, the general viewpoint of those connected with the investigation was that it would pass over in a few days and that the poison theory would prove to be a "dud."

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Justice announced yesterday that J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, was not in New York in connection with a reported investigation into the death of Basil Miles, former member of the Diplomatic Corps.

It had been reported that Hoover had gone to New York because of that investigation, and the department said that his visit had nothing at all to do with that case, but that he had gone there to testify in another case.

permanent council seat, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France does not feel that this concession is worth any sacrifice of French tonnage.

Franco-British feeling, at any rate, between the delegations, has been greatly improved by the discussions of the past week and the atmosphere for an ultimate three-power agreement has been correspondingly made more favorable.

Even if the British and French succeeded in their search for a mutually acceptable security formula, the Italian statement on high authority tonight shows how impossible a five-power treaty here has become. This authority declared the conference should adjourn for six or nine months and that Italy would be prepared to agree to a five-year building holiday, but that pressure being constantly brought on the delegation by the French and, to a lesser extent, by the British, will fail in its object.

Two Reasons Are Given.

Italy must decline to budge on parity with France, it was categorically stated, for two reasons: Nationalist and internationalist. First, no excuse could be given to Italian opinion for abandonment of a claim justified by geography and Italy's sense of nationhood, and secondly, parity is to be upheld because it makes for peace, as shown by the United States' admitted claim for parity with Great Britain.

Anxiety to wind up the five-power negotiations was shown by my informant on the ground that great danger exists lest continuance of pressure on Italy might force her into a position of isolation from her two former allies.

This, it was suggested, would force her to take thought regarding her international commitments. The authority declined to comment on published reports that Italy, in case France makes a separate agreement with the other powers, leaving her out, might withdraw from the Locarno treaties.

Lord of Admiralty Optimistic.

"The atmosphere of the naval conference is promising," said Albert Victor Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, in a speech in Brixton today. "The whole tone of the position this week is much more hopeful than a little time ago.

"You will have seen from the press that we have an almost complete basis of agreement which will enable, at any rate, three of the main naval powers of the world—America, Japan and ourselves—to agree.

"We are pressing on in the negotiations with France and Italy, and if we can complete a five-power treaty which will limit and reduce present naval provision for armaments, then we shall have achieved a cooperative act in a sphere of human endeavor in which cooperative action and spirit are perhaps more needed today than in almost any other."

Tardieu Forced to Bed By Indigestion Attack

Paris, April 3 (A.P.).—Premier Andre Tardieu was forced to leave a committee meeting today when he was taken suddenly ill with indigestion. He had to be assisted to an automobile and taken to the hotel where he lives.

Wild rumors concerning the premier's illness circulated around the bourse tonight, with some fearing he had been poisoned. The Associated Press, however, was able to say that upon his arrival home he immediately went to bed, and in the words of his physician, Dr. Yacoel, "he is now reposing very calmly. Indigestion caused alimentary intoxication." The premier is likely to be around by Sunday.

British Coal Mines Bill Goes to House of Lords

London, April 3 (A.P.).—The government's coal mines bill, which has been one of the most contentious measures in recent times, passed on third reading in the House of Commons tonight, a motion for rejection being defeated 277 to 234. The measure now goes to the House of Lords.

The government's majority in the House of Commons compares with the majority of eight on second reading some weeks ago. The main body of the Liberal party refrained from voting in accordance with the recent decision not to embarras the government during the naval conference. One Liberal, however, voted with the government, while four others stood with the Conservative opposition.

Narcotic Victim Shoots Couple Who Sold Drugs

Wichita, Kans., April 3 (A.P.).—Alleging that they had sold him narcotics when he was "just about off the habit," Mack Searle, 28, of Kismet, Kans., shot and killed Bob Boaz, 30, and probably fatally wounded Miss Bonnie White here today, then turned the gun on himself. Both Miss White and Searle are expected to die.

Boaz, who was under indictment on a narcotics charge, was shot as he sat at the wheel of a motor truck in front of a store. Searle then fled to a residence where he fired a bullet into Miss White's head and shot himself.

Fumigating Gas Kills Two Men During Fire

Syracuse, N. Y., April 3 (A.P.).—A fumigating gas, said by firemen to have been used to kill insects, took the lives of two men, including a fireman; sent three others to hospitals in serious conditions, and less seriously affected several others during a fire here today.

Westernport Man Dies.

Westernport, Md., April 3 (Special).—James A. Bryan, former justice of the peace of Westernport, died yesterday at his home in Luke of paralysis. He had been in the employ of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. for 35 years, later becoming justice of the peace. Mr. Bryan was a member of the Order of Owls. He is survived by his wife, five sons and three daughters.

By RUDY VALLEE.

CHAPTER XIII—THE DAWN OF SUCCESS.

I knew from my theatrical experience that there was nothing more effective than a voice against music. So, without asking WABC if it were possible, I took the chance and always announced against a musical background. The young man sent by WABC to the club to control the volume of our orchestra soon saw what I was striving for and regulated the volume of the orchestra so that when I stepped to the microphone to announce the music did not overshadow my voice. I felt that voices were of a musical quality even in speech, and knew that nothing sounded nicer against an orchestra than a voice telling something interesting.

Our signature, which has become inseparably associated with us, is a Yale College football song entitled, "March, March On Down the Field."

Several high schools and other organizations have for years adopted the melody for their own school songs, but originally it was the composition of a Yale graduate who wrote two other very famous Yale songs and whom I count today as one of my dearest friends. I chose this song because Dickerman had named us the Yale Collegians, and as a former leader of the Yale Football Band which had played this tune so many times in the bowl at New Haven, I felt that it would be a fitting and spirited signature.

Effect of Music on Listeners.

It is surprising the effect of this composition has on our listeners. Many people say it is one of the most beautiful things we play, and it has become even more beloved than before.

I evolved a routine as follows:

After playing one chorus with the boys I step to the microphone and introduce us thusly: "Heigh-ho, everybody, this is Rudy Vallee, announcing and directing a program of dance music which we begin with so-and-so, and so-and-so and so-and-so." I used announcing and directing as I reflected that in reality I was doing both.

If there are any interesting details about any of the three or four tunes I mention them. We play them, with myself and various of the other boys singing an occasional chorus. Always this first group is in the regular fox-trot tempo, which is fairly swift moving. Our second group usually consists of one or more tunes of a very slow tempo; these are compositions that must be played slowly in order that the beauty of the lyrics be not lost, because they are tunes whose melody and lyrics can not be properly rendered in the regular fox-trot time.

Playing in Contrasted Tempos.

Our third group usually contains what I term a novelette, such as "Nola," "Japanese Sunset," "Song of India," in other words, a purely instrumental tune that has no vocalizing and which by its nature is a contrast to the other popular types of tunes. This is the nearest we come to symphonized syncopation, since we play this tune with introduction, modulations and all.

Then we continue with possibly one or more waltzes, possibly a tango, at least something of a slow-moving nature. Next we go back to a group of three or four of the outstanding hits of some successful musical comedy; then again to some slow tunes, which are more or less characteristic of our style.

Characteristic Fox Trot.

This characteristic, very slow fox trot which we seem to have been one of the pioneers in playing, was simply the result of a necessity that I had the courage to realize and carry into effect. The average orchestra leader, fearing that his dancers will not know what to do against such a slow tempo, ruins these numbers by playing them in regular tempo. But I wanted to play them really well, which meant playing them slowly.

I was extremely gratified to read in the newspapers that at the annual meeting of the Dancing Masters of America in Pittsburgh the prize step which they adopted for the coming year was termed "The Rudy Vallee." The particular feature of this step is, to quote the article, "a catchy bending of the knee which makes for grace and was inspired by the smooth, soft music peculiar to its namesake."

So our daring was not in vain after all.

I can understand the refusal of some orchestra leaders to play our very slow tempo because I know that I have antagonized some people by playing it, especially the middle-aged and elderly couples, who find it difficult to dance to anything but the regular fox trot and waltz. Young folks do practically the same steps to all dances and delight in inventing new ones when the tempo becomes difficult to follow.

No Fear of Microphony.

I can truthfully say that when I approached the microphone on my first night I had none of the fear or awe of it such as is supposed to terrify those who approach it for the first time. The reason for this, I suppose was simply that I was not conscious of my audience and did not care what others might think of our work if I myself was satisfied, because I know that I am harder to please than the most cranky critics in my audience.

I believe it is only those who must have that personal animation, those appreciative of laughs, giggles, titters and murmurs that audiences supply who find the complete silence of broadcasting and the dark metallic stare of a microphone screen uninspiring and nerve-wracking. I have never cared whether I was watched or if any one was listening to me or my voice; I play for the sheer love of playing and am scarcely aware of an audience.

Broadcasting Is Difficult.

For that reason I am happiest when in a broadcasting studio with no audience, with no voices, nothing but that jolly little mike staring at us. Neither do I visualize the thousands listening. Maybe once in a great while I am conscious that a certain tune will please those shut-ins and sick ones who tell me they like that type of music. But to me broadcasting is the spice of life.

As I mentioned before, there is no more difficult thing than broadcasting, yet even in meeting its complicated and nerve-wracking demands I am most happy.

Sometimes I jump to the microphone with my horn still in my mouth, removing it just in time to begin singing a vocal chorus, and even while rendering this chorus have to glance at my watch and compute the number of choruses I can still play before the station announcement, which must come every fifteen minutes. At the same time to give directions with my hands to the expectant boys as to what the routine will be. But, strange as it may seem, the more complicated our program the happier I am.

Toward the end of our program I usually leave a minute and a half to say, "Heigh-ho, until the next time," while the boys play "Down the Field." The tune dies out just as the hour, or half-hour, comes to an end. To the boys it is a great relief, and though I, too, feel relieved when I know the broadcast has been well done, still I am happy while it is taking place, because my heart and soul are in radio.

Response Small at First.

Our first broadcast from the Heigh-ho in February, 1928, brought about twelve letters.

WABC was a small station, with radius confined to New York, but has since become the key station of the gigantic Columbia Broadcasting System.

I must pay due tribute and express my gratitude to Stations WABC, WOR and WMCA, which were responsible for the outburst we received February, 1929, at Keith's Eighty-first Street Theater in New York City. When we began at Station WABC our band was only a small speck on New York's horizon. But the enthusiasm which my surprised eyes read in those first letters affected me like magic. Still, the full realization of our powers did not dawn on me until about a month of broadcasting had elapsed.

Gaps to Fill In.

Station WABC had a schedule that was far from full and they needed us to fill three or four gaps a week, sometimes for half an hour, sometimes an hour. At first we had a definite schedule, then it would vary, and at any moment during the evening we might expect a call from the studio to jump into the breach when some artist had failed to appear.

To make my programs more coordinated I realized that each man must know exactly what was going to happen. Here, more than ever, we were handicapped because obviously the directions could not be spoken and since I was playing the saxophone I was not free to indicate the routine by pantomime. So I conceived the idea of giving each man a typewritten "rogram of the numbers.

Since we were on the air as often as four or five times a week I realized too that every program must be different from the others, as much as possible, with repeats only when the number was very popular and frequently requested. I secured a hectograph, or duplicating machine, and a typewriter, and in my own homemade fashion, with two fingers, typed out the programs, staying into do so while the boys went out to eat between dinner and supper sessions.

Program Copies Typed.

Sometimes I spent as much as one hour just deciding which would be the best tunes to play, typing out the program and duplicating seven or eight copies of it. But I found that my efforts were well rewarded by a much smoother program.

The boys often wondered why I was so exacting and apparently unreasonable in my demands that every program be well-nigh perfect. If a mistake was unavoidable, I said nothing, but if the offender was day dreaming, stupid, or heedless, the resulting error was brought to his attention immediately after the broadcast, and if it was really noticeable he would probably hear about it the rest of the evening.

But today I think the boys appreciate what my high ideals have brought us. I read the fan mail; they did not, although I invited them to do so.

I began to see what was happening.

Several Programs Weekly.

One of my boys suggested that we were on the air too many times a week, but he did not see my theory which was this: I believed that by being on the air as often as four or five times a week, which is unusual in radio circles, eventually nearly every radio fan would stumble across us when moving the dials, and that our odd quality of tone and style would hold their attention, and that by having each program completely varied and different, carefully chosen and rendered, we would not become monotonous if one listened in every time we were on. Our terrific success has shown my conclusions to be completely justified. Our fan mail increased daily and my letters, which nearly all complimented us in superlative terms, bore witness to the fact there was something in the nature of our music that was different and that held the attention.

The speck on the horizon had begun to loom larger.

The fourteenth chapter will appear tomorrow (or Monday).

once to the hospital. Later, with the consent of the family physician, he had his daughter removed to the family home at 2456 Tracey place northwest.

Mr. Bolling said last night that his daughter had been pretty seriously shaken up and was confined to bed. He declared no serious consequences were expected. She probably will be up and attending to her social duties by the first of next week, he said.

The accident happened just after the riders had passed under the railroad bridge at the tourist camp.

Husband Arrested In Florida Killing

Former Pennsylvanian Is Held for Questioning in Servant's Death.

Sebring, Fla., April 3 (A.P.).—William R. Carver, former Philadelphia real estate operator, whose wife and 2-year-old son were slain here yesterday during their siesta hour, was arrested tonight for questioning in connection with the murders.

Discovery of a $10,000 life insurance policy on the life of Mrs. Carver in which Carver was made the beneficiary, and other evidence, caused Sheriff Oscar Wolff and State Attorney Grady Burton, who conducted an investigation at the home today, to hold Carver for questioning.

Sheriff Wolff said stains resembling blood had been found on some golf trousers Carver had in his room.

A coroner's jury which investigated the slayings of Mrs. Carver and her son, Lee, shortly after the killing returned a verdict that they had been murdered by Ben Whitehead, Negro employed at the Carver home, and that Whitehead had been shot to death by Carver, who went to his wife's aid after she had awakened and found the Negro in her room robbing her dressing table of jewelry.

Wray, Clarke Attorney, Not to Run for Congress

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., April 3.—Frank R. Wray, Commonwealth attorney of Clarke County, in a statement issued to the valley newspapers today announced he will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Seventh District. Capt. Wray is a former State commander of the American Legion of Virginia, and for the last three months his friends have been trying to get him into the contest.

His statement today definitely puts him out of consideration and leaves Judge John W. Fishburne, of Albemarle County, as the only avowed aspirant for the Democratic nomination. John T. Harris, of Harrisonburg, today stated he has not yet decided whether he will enter the contest.

1,000 Chicks Die in Fire In Winchester Hennery

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 3.—One thousand chicks were burned to death last night in a fire that swept through the hennery of Calvin Omps at Kernstown, near here, entailing a property loss of $3,000, partly insured. Most of his grown chickens were saved, but all that had been hatched recently perished.

The fire originated in a brooder heating apparatus. Winchester firemen and neighbors kept flames from spreading to other farm and residence structures.

Secretary Hurley yesterday sent to Congress an adverse report by Army engineers on the proposed improvement of Bradfords Bay, at Accomac County, Va., on the ground that the tonnage handled was too small and the means of distribution inadequate to justify expenditure of Federal funds.

All 16 Bodies in Mine Disaster Are Recovered

Kettle Island, Ky., April 3 (A.P.).—The last of the bodies of the 16 miners entombed here Saturday by an explosion was recovered today when rescue workers located the body of J. E. Hill, foreman. Nine others had been recovered earlier today and six on Monday.

Thus finis was written to the worst tragedy in recent eastern Kentucky history. All but one of the miners was married, and the disaster made 16 widows and orphans of 51 children. An appeal for aid for them has been made by the Red Cross.

Two Killed in Leap From Plane, Afire

Might Have Been Saved by Staying in Craft Which Lands Safely.

Tulsa, Okla., April 3 (A.P.).—Two men leaped 3,000 feet to their deaths from a burning airplane near the Collier Airport, east of here, late today. The victims were Louis Crippen, Tulsa, service foreman at the field, and Joe Breyant, Clermore, Okla., a visiting flier.

The men were not equipped with parachutes. The plane apparently caught fire just before they jumped.

J. C. Lucas, representative of the H. P. Wilcox Aeronautics, Inc., said the fliers probably would have saved their lives if they had remained in the plane. He said the ship came down to an almost perfect landing, suffering little damage, and then burned on the ground. The plane recently was completed by the Wilcox company.

M'DONALD OUTLINES POLICY IN PALESTINE

Arabs and Jews Show Little Enthusiasm as Premier Talks to Commons.

BREVITY IS CRITICIZED

London, April 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, in a statement to the House of Commons this afternoon, reasserted the British Government's determination to "administer Palestine in accordance with the terms of the mandate as approved by the Council of the League of Nations."

"Under the terms of the mandate," he continued, "his majesty's government is responsible for promoting the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, it being clearly understood nothing should be done which might prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country."

The prime minister further stated that the government is still considering the report of the Palestine commission, particularly the recommendations in it, and that while doing so is consulting with Jews and Arabs both in London and in Palestine.

Mr. MacDonald's declaration, naturally limited in scope in view of the brief time the government has had to study the Palestine report, did not arouse any particular enthusiasm in either Jewish or Arab quarters here tonight.

"The statement was satisfactory so far as it went," Israel Cohen, general secretary of the Zionist organization, said, adding, "presumably it is all the prime minister could say until the government has given the report further consideration. We expect the government to carry out the mandate for the establishment of a Jewish national home in Palestine and in particular expect more sympathetic support from the Palestine administration than we have had in the past."

At the headquarters of the Palestine Arab delegation here it was said that the premier's statement contained little or no information.

Former Premiers David Lloyd George and Stanley Baldwin, leaders, respectively, of the Liberal and Conservative opposition parties in the House, indorsed the prime minister's statement. In reply to Mr. Baldwin, Mr. MacDonald said that he will amplify his statement today as soon as possible.

Whoopee Cocktail Has Liniment Base

Prisoner's Beverage Also Has Tobacco Juice in It, Police Say.

A new whoopee cocktail was introduced to District police yesterday by a colored man giving the name of John Adams, the ingredients being a mixture of tobacco juice and liniment.

The colored man, who first identified himself with the cognomen of practically every President before deciding on the name of Adams, was arrested in front of the Police Court Building at Sixth and E street northwest, as he was making a tirade on capitalists of the country.

He was taken in custody by Detective R. E. Burton, of Eleventh Precint, and was locked up at the Sixth Precinct Station on an intoxication charge. In his pocket was found the cocktail. Police say Adams, when taken to the station, was in a ferocious mood. He gave his address as P street near Second street northwest.

ton and Georgetown gas light companies. Inasmuch as the Washington company has for several years owned all of the stock of the Georgetown company a merger is generally looked on with favor as eliminating duplicate officers and accounting systems and other expenses. It will also remove existing geographical restrictions on the expansion of the two companies.

But of major importance in the merger legislation is provision for removing existing restrictions on the capital structure of the company. The new owners want to exchange the outstanding 130,000 shares of stock for a similar amount without par value and to issue additional stock subsequent as they need additional capital, subject to control of the Public Utilities Commission. Sufficient money to carry out plans for expanded service can not be had advantageously to the company under present conditions, Mr. Burroughs pointed out. The utilities commission subsequently approved the merger legislation and sent it to the District committee of the House and Senate with a request that it be enacted into law.

improvement in facsimile transmission, which, while still in a highly experimental stage, gave an indication that some day radio may be delivering a large part of business mail and may also bring daily newspapers directly into the home.

The recording machine was developed by Charles J. Young, son of Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of General Electric, who in an address several years ago said that he hoped to live to see the front page of the London Times "flashed with a zip" into New York City.

The recorder can be attached to any radio receiver much the same as a loudspeaker. It prints on a roll of paper which moves through the machine at about ½ inch a minute. In this test short waves were used so that there would be no interference with broadcast programs.

The sending equipment, known as a facsimile transmitter, developed by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, a pioneer in television and telephonic work, was situated in the General Electric Station W6XN, which operates on 17.3 meters at Oakland, Calif. A directional antenna pointing toward Schenectady increased signal strength twenty times over the ordinary broadcast type antenna.

The receiver was at the experimental station at Glenville, 8 miles from Schenectady. This is the same station used in the two-way radio conversation between Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, and Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd at Dunedin, New Zealand.

Policemen Freed In Raid Charges

Pair Absolved of Theft of Money From Man at Numbers Game.

Claude Evans and John H. Foster, suspended Second Precinct policemen, were acquitted by a Police Court jury yesterday on larceny charges in connection with a raid several weeks ago on an alleged "numbers" game. The jury was out less than two minutes. The trial was begun Wednesday.

Both Evans and Foster took the stand in their own defense and denied emphatically statements made by Government witnesses that they had taken money out of a pocketbook belonging to Alphonso Brooks, colored, and had returned the empty purse to him. Brooks and other witnesses for the Government gave testimony to that effect at Wednesday's session of the trial.

Evans was represented by Attorney William B. O'Connell, while Attorney E. Russel Kelly appeared for Foster. Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray prosecuted. Both Evans and Foster still face charges before the Trial Board in connection with the case, although it is considered likely that the accusations will now be dropped and that they will be reinstated.

RETIREMENT BILL DIVIDES FIRST CONFERENCE SESSION

presented a divided front. Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employes, came out for the new bill; Robert C. Alcorn, chairman of the Joint Conference on Retirement, took a stand against it.

Alcorn Shifts Views.

Finally, however, after Chairman Lehlbach agreed to certain amendments, Mr. Alcorn also came out for the bill, and its passage seemed assured.

The new Lehlbach bill, so its supporters say, would grant all the benefits provided by the Dale bill, and "then some." Like the Dale bill, it would lower the retirement age by two years and permit optional retirement after 30 years' service.

Difference Between Bills.

The big difference between the two bills lies in the payment of annuities. Whereas the Dale bill would limit the maximum annuity to $1,200, the Lehlbach bill would allow an annuity of $3,000 or more, depending, of course, on what the employe had contributed to the retirement fund. Also, its supporters say, the Lehlbach bill would provide greater annuities for the poorly paid employes, and eventually would provide greater annuities for many others.

To make this possible the new bill contains a "tontine" provision, and this was the cause of the controversy over the bill.

The "tontine" is a $1-a-month sum which would be taken out of the employes contribution to the retirement fund, which is 3½ per cent of his salary. If an employe voluntarily leaves the service before reaching the retirement age, his tontine money is forfeited.

or tomorrow; that it was merely a matter of form now that Lila had pleaded guilty.

Mr. Moore said he probably would decide tomorrow what should be done with Nancy Bowen, aged Cayuga Indian woman, jointly indicted with Lila Jimerson for Mrs. Marchand's murder and whose weird testimony of witches and sorcery intrigued a crowded courtroom for several days.

Penwomen Indorse Mrs. Brosseau.

Word was received here yesterday that the St. Louis and Kansas City branches of the National League of American Penwomen had unanimously indorsed Mrs. Alfred Brosseau, past president general of the D. A. R., for the position of president of the national league.

Divorce Suit Filed Against Physician

Dr. Herbert S. Gates Accused of Infidelity in Action by His Wife.

Charging her husband, Dr. Herbert S. Gates, of 133 Twelfth street southeast, with infidelity, Mrs. Marianne H. Gates, of Maryland Courts Apartments, yesterday requested the District Supreme Court to grant her an absolute divorce. The wife names a corespondent.

According to the petition, the couple were married August 1, 1921, at Philadelphia, Pa., and separated on January 10, 1927, when the wife alleges that her husband abandoned her without excuse. The wife also charges the husband with physical and mental cruelty.

Gates, the wife states, filed suit for absolute divorce against her in Arlington County March 15 on the grounds of desertion and she requests that the local court restrain him from continuing the prosecution of that case. She also asks for reasonable alimony. Attorneys H. R. Burton and T. T. Marye appear for the wife. Gates, according to the petition, makes more than $10,000 a year from his practice.

MEDICAL COLLEGE DEAN IS DEAD AT 58

Dr. W. M. Barton, Georgetown U. Professor, Dies in Mayo Clinic.

WELL KNOWN AS WRITER

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Dr. Wilfred M. Barton, prominent local physician and dean of the Georgetown University School of Medicine, who died Wednesday at the Mayo Brothers' Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Barton, who was 58 years old, had been ill for about three weeks, and had been taken to Rochester for an operation. His wife, Mrs. Mary Q. Barton, was with him at the time of his death.

As dean of the medical school, Dr. Barton was exceptionally popular with the students and members of the faculty of that institution, and his death comes as a distinct shock to countless numbers of friends he had made here during his lifetime, most of which was spent in Washington. He was well known as a medical writer, having written, among other books and articles, the "Thesaurus of Medical Words and Phrases," "Symptom Diagnosis, Regional and General," "Manual of Vital Function-Testing Methods," "Therapeutic Index," and "Medicine." A history which he once wrote was "Road to Washington: History of the British Invasion in 1814."

He was a native of Washington, and a graduate of Georgetown University School of Arts and School of Medicine. He held degrees of M. D., M. A., and F. A. C. P. from Georgetown. He served as attending physician at Georgetown, Columbia, and Gallinger Hospitals.

In addition to his widow, one sister, Mrs. Isaac Gans, survives him. Funeral arrangements will be announced today.

JACOB B. LARRICK DIES.

Policeman Who Retired Few Days Ago Found Dead.

Jacob B. "Judge" Larrick, former policeman, who retired on March 28, was found dead in his bed at the residence at 1007 Rhode Island avenue northeast, early yesterday. Coroner Nevitt stated that his death was caused by heart failure.

For more than thirty-three years Mr. Larrick had been a member of the Metropolitan Police Department. He retired from active duty on March 17, taking leave which was due him before his actual retirement went into effect. He was well known in Washington, numbering some of the prominent business men and civic leaders among his friends.

Mr. Larrick was a native of Winchester, Va., although he had lived in Washington for more than forty years. He was 68 years old, and had been presented with an easy chair by members of the Headquarters Detective Bureau on his retirement.

He leaves a widow, three sons, and one daughter as survivors. Funeral services have not been announced.

Dr. M. H. Sutliff, Navy Man, Is Dead

Two Months' Illness Fatal; Funeral Services Set for Tomorrow.

Dr. Milo H. Sutliff, 64 years old, of 312 Cumberland avenue, Somerset, Md., who has been attached to the division of plan files of the Navy Department for many years, died yesterday at Georgetown University Hospital. Funeral services will be held at the residence at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, followed by requiem mass at 9 o'clock at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Chevy Chase. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Dr. Sutliff was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and attended Worcester College. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity. He then came to Washington, where he was graduated from Columbian University, now known as George Washington University, as a medical doctor. After a practice of several years he received an appointment to the Navy Department and had been with that department for more than 30 years. He became ill about two months ago and had not returned to his office since that time. He was a member of Carroll Council, Knights of Columbus.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Julia N. Sutliff; two daughters, Mrs. Dean Gundrum, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Miss Eileen Sutliff, of Somerset; two sons, Milo J. Sutliff, of New York, vice president of the Literary Guild of America, and Gerald Sutliff, of New York, and two sisters, Miss Viola E. Sutliff and Mrs. C. K. Davis, both of Cleveland.

Mme. E. Albani, Soprano, Is Dead

Opera Star Succumbs at 77 After Distinguished Career in Europe.

London, April 3 (A.P.).—Mme. Emma Albani, famous operatic soprano of the nineteenth century, died at her home in Kensington this afternoon at the age of 77.

Mme. Albani had a soprano voice which was applauded by thousands on every continent. She took leading roles at Covent Garden and charmed Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle. She was made a Dame of the British Empire in 1925 and was awarded orders of merit by Denmark and Germany.

She was born at Chambly, near Montreal, and much of her talent was ascribed to her father, Joseph LeJeunnesse, musician, organist and harpist who taught her from childhood. She made her operatic debut in Italy in 1879 after which her success became meteoric. She was married to Ernest Gye, impresario, in 1898. Her farewell concert was given in Albert Hall, London, in 1911.

Alan A. Ryan, Jr., Acquires $425,000 Seat on Exchange

Purchase by Grandson of Thomas Fortune Seen as Step Toward Recovery of Father's Losses in Disastrous Stutz Maneuver of 1920.

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—Alan A. Ryan, jr., grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, today purchased a seat on the New York Stock Exchange for $425,000.

This scion of a family long famous in Wall street is the son of Alan A. Ryan, speculator operator who cornered Stutz stock in 1920 and found himself involved in a financial imbroglio which resulted in his bankruptcy. He is 26 years old and a graduate of Yale.

He came to Wall street at the age of 21 as a partner in the curb exchange firm of Noah McDowell & Co. He asserted then that he was determined to recoup the fortune which his father lost in the Stutz fiasco. He resigned from the McDowell firm last December, and his purchase of a stock exchange seat is regarded by his friends as a new step in his program.

Not only was Alan A. Ryan bankrupt by the Stutz episode, but he was cut off in the will of his father, who died in 1928, leaving a fortune estimated at $500,000,000. Alan, sr., was bequeathed only a set of shirt studs, but Alan, jr., shared with other relatives in the estate.

Alan Ryan, sr.'s corner in Stutz resulted in an investigation by and sharp differences with governors of the exchange, Ryan eventually losing his membership.

Man Is Hurt in Fall.

Soldier-Composer Dead in Germany

Gen. Baron Von der Goltz Fought in 1870 and in World War.

Berlin, April 3 (A.P.).—Gen. Baron George Konrad von der Goltz, soldier and composer, died in Berlin today at the age of 77.

Born in Berlin in October, 1852, he fought in the war of 1870 and before the World War was commander of the Thirtieth Division. During the war, he was in command of a landwehr division under Field Marshal von Hindenburg, and took part in the battles of Tannenberg, Lyck and Osowiec.

He also was deeply interested in music. He composed a torch dance for the wedding of the former Kaiser and also wrote the operas "Myrrah" and "Witichis." He was not related to Count Rudiger von der Goltz, nor the late Gen. Colmar von der Goltz, both noted soldiers.

Centenarian, Father of 13, Dies.

Hoboken, N. J., April 3 (A.P.).—Kupper Bier, who his family said was 108 years old, died today. The eldest of his thirteen children, Samuel, 75, was at the bedside. He was born in Austria.

DISTRICT COMMISSIONERS.

The Senate is about to act upon the nomination of Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, retired, and Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer to be Commissioners of the District of Columbia. Dr. Reichelderfer's nomination has already been favorably reported from committee.

The opposition to Gen. Crosby, on the sole ground that he is not a civilian, has brought out all the facts and law in connection with the point that has been raised. The local organizations representing District citizenship are properly anxious to have District Commissioners who will be in sympathy with the taxpayers. These organizations honestly believe that a legal barrier stands in the way of appointing a retired military officer to the office of Commissioner.

The most that can be made of this objection, however, is that it is a technical and narrow construction of the law. Gen. Crosby has lived here eight years and is familiar with local conditions. He is well qualified by character and ability to render good service. He has been selected by President Hoover because he possesses the qualities that are needed to promote the welfare of the District. Dr. Reichelderfer was selected for the same reason.

The fact that President Hoover is earnestly desirous of bettering the government of the District, and has carefully chosen two men whose qualifications are satisfactory to him, ought to brush aside the technical question that has been raised against Gen. Crosby. What the people desire is good government and enlightened administration of District affairs, so that Washington may go forward toward its great destiny. The President has the same desire and has selected the men through whom he wishes to realize this desire. His wishes should prevail. The people can help Washington best by cordially cooperating with the President and Commissioners of his selection. In the circumstances the Senate should confirm these nominations.

FARMERS INCREASING ACREAGE.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports, as of April 1, that "farmers are going into the new season with a production program similar to that of recent years, despite declining commodity markets and a general feeling of economic uncertainty." The general commodity price level in the United States during recent weeks has fallen to a point some 8 or 10 per cent below that of a year ago and to the lowest levels since 1921-22. Similar declines have been evident in the world market.

A week ago the bureau made public a statement supplementary to the crop outlook report published the first of the year. Based on the planting intentions of some 50,000 farmers scattered throughout the country, the bureau finds that the total acreage of principal crops, exclusive of cotton, will be about 2 per cent above the acreage of the same crops harvested in 1929. The only large curtailment, says the bureau, will be in durum, or "macaroni" wheat, most of which is exported. The curtailment in this commodity will amount to about 15 per cent.

The two reports of the bureau are of the utmost importance in connection with the experiment of farm relief. They indicate, seemingly, that farmers are reluctant to cooperate in the Farm Board's program of acreage curtailment, and that the promise of stabilized prices has brought about an actual, although slight, expansion of acreage. It is generally admitted that unless the American farmer can be persuaded to desist from producing surpluses the farm relief experiment is doomed to end in an economic smash-up of the first magnitude. The vast stores of agricultural commodities that the board will have purchased to stabilize price levels will have to be dumped; the taxpayer will foot the bill, and the farmer will find his normal market cut from under him.

Possibly it is too much to expect that farmers would cooperate in the curtailment program at this early stage of the experiment of farm relief. The first reaction, naturally, when improved prices are promised, is to increase one's own output; and it may be that farmers will have to be treated with respect to a single commodity to the spectacle of what is bound to happen unless output is decreased, before they will realize the necessity for cooperative acreage curtailment. If, as the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports, farmers are going into the new season with production programs larger than those of last year, a show-down with respect to the necessity for cooperative curtailment in all probability is imminent.

MUSCLE SHOALS SOCIALISM.

The fundamental issues involved in the Norris resolution for Government operation of Muscle Shoals are being submerged in the discussion in the Senate. For two days Senator Norris has regaled a meager audience with talk of flood control on the Tennessee River and the benefits to agriculture which are supposed to be contained in the measure he is sponsoring. The power issue is incidental when the merits of his resolution are being considered, but as soon as he turns his artillery on all other measures for disposition of Muscle Shoals the bogey of the power trust overshadows everything. It is then merely a question of the insidious utility interests trying to rob the Government.

As a matter of fact, power is the most important issue in the Muscle Shoals question. The real intent behind the Norris resolution is not to develop flood control and aid agriculture, but to put the Government in the power business. Senator Norris loudly proclaims that the electric power to be generated would be but a by-product. But the facts that Muscle Shoals is no longer needed for national defense, that it is not equipped for the manufacture of fertilizer, and that flood control on the Tennessee River does not require such enormous outlays of Federal money, leave his argument without the semblance of a foundation.

The Norris resolution provides that the Government would distribute power generated at Muscle Shoals in competition with private industry. Proponents of the measure admit that they wish to experiment with a Government corporation in the utilities field. Their purpose is to discredit the electric power companies now serving the public and thus drive in the wedge that will lead to Government operation of all utilities. For this purpose the Muscle Shoals corporation would be required to sell power at rates prescribed by the Federal Power Commission. There would not only be Government operation but price-fixing, which would affect the industry throughout the country.

Economics has no place in this scheme. The Norris crowd is trying to stampede Congress into adoption of this socialistic measure under the pretense of saving a Federal project from the clutches of the sinister power trust.

Every vote for the Norris resolution will be a vote for governmental competition with private industry. If the Government enters the power business in Alabama, why should it not also construct power plants in Massachusetts, the Dakotas, or Oregon? Sophistry and oratory about national defense and aid to agriculture can not obscure this socialistic plan to put the Government in business in competition with its own citizens.

GREAT CRY, LITTLE WOOL.

The most formidable challenge to the wets that has come from the dry testimony before the House judiciary committee is the statement of Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale University. Prof. Fisher was a student of prohibition long before the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. At first he opposed compulsory measures to stop liquor traffic, but now he has come to regard prohibition as the lesser of two evils.

Much of the testimony from the drys and wets has been directly contradictory. Advocates have been extravagant in their praise and opponents have been often radically severe in their condemnation. Prof. Fisher admits that all the evils of prohibition pointed out by the wets exist to some extent, but asks them what actual improvement they could make. He discards each of the schemes proposed to remedy prohibition as impractical; worse, in fact, than present conditions. The truth is, he says, the liquor problem will remain insoluble for at least a generation.

Every one knows that the prohibition discussion is mostly wasted breath. The only thing worth considering is: What better plan of curbing alcoholism can be offered? Government supervision offers as many intricate problems as does prohibition. The controversy will get nowhere until the wets get together and work out a system that would improve conditions as they are.

It is not sufficient merely to demand a change in the dry laws. How should they be changed? That question has been given too little attention. Conditions were unsatisfactory before the Volstead law was put into operation, and they are unsatisfactory now; but it is useless to indulge the hope of uprooting the eighteenth amendment by mere agitation, without any constructive suggestions.

MORE BOOKS FOR THE BLIND.

Recognizing that books are eyes for the blind, and that the making available to blind readers of worth-while books is a practical way to help them overcome their physical limitations, Congress has for some time been generous in providing for their reading needs. At present there are four acts of Congress under which appropriations are annually made to take care, in a measure, of the intellectual requirements of America's blind.

There is, for example, the appropriation of $75,000 for elementary textbooks, which are distributed to various schools for the blind throughout the United States. Again, there is an annual allotment of $5,000 to the National Library of the Blind at Washington, and $3,000 to blind workers associated with the Columbia Polytechnic Institute for the Blind, also at Washington. Finally, through appropriations to the Library of Congress, there is maintained what is known as the "Service for the Blind," which lends to readers throughout the country, without cost to them, its 20,000 volumes in embossed type, and which assists volunteer workers to produce such books through a system of cooperation with the American Red Cross.

Under the terms of a bill now pending before Congress introduced by Mrs. Ruth Pratt, of New York, the sum of $75,000 would be appropriated annually to the Library of Congress for the purpose of providing additional books for the adult blind of the United States. The money would be expended under direction of the Librarian of Congress, and the books distributed through local public libraries. In lending them, preference would be given to the needs of blind persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service.

No one will begrudge this small additional appropriation to enable America's adult blind to keep in touch with what others, more fortunate, are doing and thinking. The bill has many champions, perhaps the foremost being Miss Helen Keller, who recently journeyed to Washington from New York, at her own expense and initiative to plead for the welfare of other unfortunates.

GANDHI'S MARCH.

Mahatma Gandhi, India's "peaceful revolutionist," will conclude his 200-mile walk to the salt fields of Jalapur in a day or so, whereupon the dramatic moment in the campaign of civil disobedience may transpire. Gandhi will evaporate sea water to obtain salt in defiance of the British monopoly. What will be the official reaction? If Gandhi is arrested he will become a martyr, and the radical element of the population will be moved to violence. If he is not molested a precedent will be set that may encourage the noncooperative campaign. His followers will proceed, for example, to violate the forestry laws. The government is in a tight place, and no one realizes it better than Gandhi himself.

The other day Gandhi voiced the theory that nonviolent methods are bound to provoke violence. "The success of my march," he said, "is proof that nonviolence is the best course, but it is not unlikely that India will see more violence very soon." It is reported that India already is seething with unrest and that only a spark is needed to touch off a general conflagration. That spark unquestionably would be the arrest of Gandhi.

India's man of peace waves a firebrand. That the government may, through necessity, be the first to strike does not disguise the fact that he is provoking hostilities. In some way the insurrection may be put down, but apparently it will only be at fearful cost.

FUTURE POPULATION

From the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

A crushing blow to the hopes of boosters will be the news that the United States will have no more than 185,000,000 people in 2000. Based on the estimates furnished by the cheerful statisticians of a few of our larger cities, this increase of 65,000,000 in 70 years will hardly meet the requirements of New York, Los Angeles, Chicago and half a dozen of the next in line. For New York City's estimate calls for an additional 17,000,000 people by 2000, Chicago for 5,500,000 and the believers in Los Angeles will not be content with less than 7,500,000 more Middle Westerners.

But the more modest estimate for the entire country is offered by men of authority in their field. Warren S. Thompson is director of the Scripps Foundation for Research in Population Problems and P. K. Whelpton, coauthor of "A Nation of Elders in the Making," in the American Mercury for April, is connected with the same institution. These experts tell us that our population doubles every 23 years between 1790, the year of the first national census, and 1860. From 3,929,214 to 31,000,000 was the jump for this 70-year period. The next 70 years, just ending, added 89,000,000 to our population. The 120,000,000 people we have today, although four times our 1860 population, represents a rate of growth less than half that of the first 70 years. But this reduction in the rate of growth is as nothing to what we may expect during the next 70 years, according to Messrs. Thompson and Whelpton.

The importance of projecting our population curve with some approach to scientific accuracy is apparent, but the authors of this article state their case with a brevity that merits quotation. The question we must answer they summarize as follows:

"Shall we build railways, canals, highways, telephone and telegraph lines, postoffices and so forth for 240,000,000 or for 175,000,000? Shall we plan an educational organization capable of caring for 35,000,000 children or for 50,000,000? Shall we undertake an agricultural program, including irrigation and reclamation, which when in operation will produce food, clothing and so forth for 240,000,000 people or for only three-fourths that number? Shall we try to develop an industrial system capable of producing manufacturing goods for the larger or the smaller population?"

Their reasons for predicting a maximum population of 185,000,000 in 2000 are too lengthy to be reprinted here, but their conclusions appear to be sound. Certainly they are right in saying that this slower growth will necessitate a readjustment in our business and industrial structure. Expansion has been the watchword. Mass production has been the recipe of the successful. All this will be changed if the predictions of these investigators come to pass. "When we no longer have 15 to 25 per cent more customers every decade," say Messrs. Thompson and Whelpton, "we are going to have to revamp many of our business practices."

But it is not as pessimists that the authors warn us that we are not going to grow so fast in the future. "Far from regarding a slow population growth with dismay," they write, "we should look forward to it with eagerness because it will give us time, energy and funds to spend on improving the quality of our living." Our energies have been taxed to the utmost by the job of taking care of the bare increase in numbers everywhere. There are not enough schoolhouses for the children in almost all rapidly growing cities. Our revenues go for the extension of streets, sewers, water and gas mains, transportation lines. As far as the municipality goes, we are forced to spend almost all we have for necessities.

Think of the time when millions of revenue, no longer needed to provide newly annexed territory with improvements, can be spent to make cities more beautiful, more sanitary, more livable! That is the bright side of the picture given us by these students of population growth. It will not be without its appeal to some Americans who are growing rather tired of growing. As a nation, it will be a luxury to come of age, face the fact that our first glorious youth is over and settle back to the calm enjoyment of maturity and middle age.

Darkness Isn't Frightful When Reason Overcomes the Child's Imagination.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

TWENTY years ago an itinerant printer, walking railroad ties from one town to another, was overtaken by darkness. Soon thereafter he came to a bridge or trestle and slackened his pace in instinctive dread of the depths below.

He had negotiated some 200 yards of the structure when he heard the rumble of an approaching train and saw its headlight emerge from the screen of distant hills.

It was too late to retreat, and before him lay an unknown length of trestle hidden in darkness. The situation was desperate, and with the awkward haste of desperation he crawled out on the ties, locked his fingers above a supporting timber and hung suspended in the air.

It was an ordeal, for the train was a long freight that moved slowly, but imagination filled the darkness below with a rock-strewn river bed at the end of a 50-foot drop, and terror gave him strength to endure.

When it was over he regained the level of the rails and counted his steps to the end of the trestle.

Next morning he returned from a neighboring barn that had sheltered him and again counted his steps to the spot where he had hung in the air. The trestle bridged a shallow depression between hills and his feet had hung 6 inches above the grass.

It is imagination that provides nearly all of life's woe.

Yesterday I talked with a man who is poor in money and yet rich in the possession of many things money can't buy.

He complained of being "broke," and I said to him: "If you had $50,000 in the bank, you could be content to live as you do now—couldn't you?"

"Yes," he said, "I have all I need."

All of his immediate troubles are imaginary; and if he could imagine a hidden fortune as vividly as he imagines tomorrow's troubles, he could be the happiest of men.

When the banks in our town closed, one old man lost a considerable fortune. He had worked hard for the money and loved it.

But it did him no actual good, for he spent none of it and the interest each year was added to the principal.

He died soon after the catastrophe, broken in spirit and full of anxiety. He thought the bank failure had "ruined" him, but it had made him no poorer in fact than he was while he felt very rich.

Our lives and our money never are safe, but we are content as a rule because we think they are.

And since imagination thus tricks us in any case, why not train it to give us peace?

THE ONCE OVER

NEW RULES FOR THE MOVING PICTURES.

Oscar the mouse may no longer ride a road-roller over Phelix the cat in the animated pictures unless it is clearly indicated that it is not done for revenge. And the ever-recurring scene in which the elephant with the police badge is smacked by the rabbit-hound may have to be dispensed with as tending to ridicule law and order.

* * * *

Mr. Will Hays, Imperial Kleagle of the Magic Lantern, has had the motion picture producers agree to new rules and regulations to keep moving pictures clean. Mr. Hays and the picture moguls, wearing the innocent expressions of choir boys, announce they are determined to give America pictures to which a child may safely take his parents.

* * * *

Lust, passion, anger, assault, mayhem and murder are all to be toned down so even the old folks can stand them.

* * * *

One rule stipulates no murder shall be pictured "in such a way as to inspire imitation." This calls for an entire new technique of moving picture murder. Instead of showing killings, which could easily be imitated, it will be necessary for all such crimes to be carried out in a manner beyond the reach of the masses.

* * * *

Exterminating the villain by running over him in a horse and buggy will probably become one of the accepted murder forms. Few movie fans are in any position to get hold of a horse and buggy these days.

* * * *

Crime for revenge is also barred by the new code. Henceforth the hero may shoot the villain full of holes because he eats with a knife, wears squeaky shoes, argues over the Digest straw vote or has a mean face, but never for revenge.

* * * *

The handsome cowboy may slay the Texas bad man because he oils his hair, ogles the schoolmistress or cheats on his income tax, but he must never give him the works for no better reason than that the wretch once tried to knife him in the back.

* * * *

The matter of murder is to be thoroughly limited to decent bounds. The only thing left unrestricted is the impulse of movie fans to rush out of picture theaters and kill an author, director or producer.

* * * *

Another regulation adopted bars "obscenity in word, gesture, reference, songs, joke, or by suggestion." This is going to increase unemployment. It will throw all but a handful of moving picture directors and comedians out of work at once. Profanity is forbidden, too, if it is "pointed." Pointless profanity is thereby by implication left okay, so the picture people will have no trouble wriggling out of that one.

* * * *

"Brutality must be treated within the limits of good taste," another rule says. This will prevent the infuriated hero in the rough and tumble fight scene in the El Jacinto cafe from hitting the same $25 a week super in the face with a chair more than once in any one picture. And probably also limit "extras" in the war scenes from being run over by more than three tanks per reel.

* * * *

Nothing is agreed to by the directors, however, so far as modifying brutality as practiced on the picture audiences.

* * * *

The fans will have to continue to take whatever the producers give them, no matter how they suffer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

In Washington, Maryland and Virginia May Be Found Enough New Scenery and Historical Background to Deter Thousands of Residents Thereof From Journeying Abroad.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: During the calendar year 1928, the latest year for which official figures are available, a total of 245,489 passports were issued by the American State Department to persons leaving this country for foreign lands. Of that total, 768 were District of Columbia residents, 2,265 were from Maryland and 1,083 from Virginia, a total of 4,116. All but a few hundred of these people journeyed abroad for the purpose of pleasure, health or education.

Why should 768 Washingtonians have gone abroad, and been held up for all they were worth, when they could have come down to my State, Virginia, and gotten an honest return for their money, in so far as scenery and historical backgrounds are concerned?

Again, why should 1,083 residents of Virginia have traveled so many miles, at such great cost, to see a few sights and to get first-hand information on historical or interesting facts, when such things already exist, unknown to them, in Maryland? Further, the 2,265 Maryland tourists could have gone to various parts of Virginia and been given new conceptions of American history and scenery.

There are in Maryland thousands of sights never before witnessed by the District folks who went abroad in 1928 and 1929, or who intend to do so this summer. There are also thousands of bits of history or interesting facts regarding Maryland as yet unknown to travelers from Washington. Conversely, this applies to the folks from the District regarding Virginia who traveled abroad in 1928 and 1929, or who contemplate leaving our shores in 1930.

I venture that of the 4,116 Americans from Maryland, Virginia and the District, all could have discovered enough new sights, and have learned enough new historical or interesting facts regarding the National Capital, to have amply justified their remaining in this country during 1928. And if this is true of 1928, it is likewise true of 1929 and 1930.

Liquor Evil Best Expelled by Substitution of Something Wholesome, Bishop Potter Wrote in 1899.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Turning the pages recently, in the Library of Congress, of the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle for 1899, I came upon the following quotation from a letter of Bishop Potter to the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, which I think may appeal to some of your readers perplexed by the problems of prohibition:

"I have never expressed an opinion as to the dram shop. In a recent address in behalf of coffee houses, coffee wagons, coffee cars and the like, I stated that something answering to the saloon—that is, a place of inexpensive recreation and refreshment—would always be a necessity. * * * The saloon may be driven to cover, but it can not be abolished. Something better, something wholesome, harmless, undefied and undefiling must take its place and so expel by substitution. Legislation has failed to do this and prohibition has failed. It is a case for Christian capital, wisely employed, as the history of the Liverpool coffee houses has shown."

A similar argument was urged by Paul Leicester Ford in his "The Honorable Peter Stirling."

Might not a return to the wisdom of the past help us a little in our present-day difficulties and perhaps add an element of sanity? Why not lpok up the history of the Liverpool coffee houses? B. B. CROFFUT.

Attorney General's Advice on Gen. Crosby's Nomination Discussed by a Citizen.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Attorney General W. D. Mitchell, of Minnesota, is head of the Justice Department of the United States, and President Hoover rightfully looks to him for legal advice, but certain groups of our good citizens seem to think they are wiser than even such a high and able man as our Attorney General when it comes to deciding such an important question as the eligibility of a retired Army officer for the job of District Commissioner.

The difference between these groups and the Attorney General is that the latter gets a salary for his able legal decisions, while the others submit volunteer and questionable decisions minus even fees. Many of our senators are good lawyers and are supposed to be patriotic when it comes to supporting their President when he is acting on the advice of his Attorney General, who was also confirmed by the Senate. Cherry Blossoms Are a Taft Tribute and Memorial.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Japanese cherry trees that border the Potomac Basin were presented the late Chief Justice when he was President of the United States by the government of Japan. Almost immediately after the death of the Chief Justice they showed signs of coming into bloom, and are now in full bloom, fully two weeks before their usual time. So I offer the following:

From far Japan the message came,
Through the Brotherhood of Bloom,
"You are needed, cherry blossoms,
To deck a chieftain's tomb;
Upon the hard fought battlefields
Of Justice and of Peace,
A mighty man of valor
Has found his soul's release."
In quick, responsive sympathy
The blossoms sought the light,
And as a votive offering
They bloomed from pink to white.
The trees, as guard of honor
Beside Potomac's wave,
Reach loving arms toward Arlington
And our gallant chieftain's grave.
A tribute sweeter far than stone
Or graven marble shaft,
Is cherry bloom in memory
Of William Howard Taft.

CONCESSIONS MADE TO SOVIET PEASANTS

Stalin Warns Red Officers Against Harsh Methods With Workers.

'MISTAKES' ARE RIGHTED

Moscow, April 3 (A.P.).—Far-reaching concessions to the peasants in an effort to encourage them to join collective farms were announced today at the same time that Joseph Stalin, Communist leader, issued a further warning against violent administrative measures against the peasants in an effort to stamp out the kulaks or rich peasants.

Stalin, replying to an avalanche of letters received from peasants inquiring into the meaning of the government's recent abrupt turn in carrying out its agricultural plans, issued a statement which occupied the entire front page of the Soviet newspapers.

He insisted that the government's attitude did not constitute a retreat, but simply meant correcting former mistakes and excesses committed by overzealous officials who were "drunk with the success" of the collectivization movement.

Mistakes Are Explained.

He explained the principal mistakes made by party workers and government functionaries, declaring the most serious of these were measures taken against the middle-class peasants who in many cases were treated like kulaks instead of being regarded as strong allies of the workers and poor peasants in fighting against capitalistic elements.

He condemned those officials who in their eagerness to achieve a high percentage in collectivization adopted violence against the peasants, the negative results of which soon became apparent, such collective farms "melting away as quickly as they were created."

Stalin said that if these excesses were allowed to continue they would lead to a break between the government and the masses, disorganization of the poor peasants, confusion within the ranks of the Communist party, weakening of the entire socialistic framework of the country and the restoration of the kulak, thus undermining the proletarian dictatorship.

Article Gives Warning.

"The central committee of the party," Stalin continued, "understood this danger and instructed me to give our erring comrades warning in a special article on the collective foreign movement which was printed a few weeks ago under the title, 'Drunk With Success.'

"This was not the result of my personal initiative, because the central committee of the party does not allow personal initiative in such matters, but was the result of deep investigation by the central committee of the party itself.

"There can be no doubt the party already has overcome this danger in appreciable measure."

Altitude Reached in Tiny Plane May Be New Mark

Dayton, Ohio, April 3 (A.P.).—Barographs of the altitude flight made by E. A. Johnson, operator of the municipal airport, here yesterday afternoon in a motor were sent today to the Bureau of Standards at Washington for official calibration.

The altimeter of the ship, which weighs but 467 pounds, showed Johnson reached an altitude of 18,000 feet on the flight, which is believed to be a new record for this type of ship. The present record is held by a Polish flier, and is 18,482 feet. At the highest point in his flight Johnson said he could see cities 100 miles distant.

Cut in Pullman Rates Follows Poor Business

Chicago, April 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Pullman Co. today announced a reduction of 22 per cent in the price of sections occupied only by one person. This reduction is to go into effect May 1.

Last year was the worst passenger-carrying year in a decade for the company. The regular rate for a section between New York and Chicago is now $16.20. This rate prevails even on the fast trains and extra-fare trains. Under the new rate a single person can take a section for $12.60. There is no change in the regular rate of $16.20 when two persons occupy the section.

Kinsman Is Arrested In Girl's Kidnaping

Detroit, Mich., April 3 (A.P.).—Police late today arrested Ignatz Tolnerovich, 45, who had been named as the kidnaper of 5-year-old Mary Suboch, by her brother, Joseph, 9. Tolnerovich, a cousin of the girl's mother, denied that he had seen Mary or taken her away.

Tolnerovich was confronted with Joseph who said he was not the kidnaper. His earlier identification of the cousin had been from a picture. Police were expected to release Tolnerovich after brief questioning.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

PITTSBURGH.—The final curtain on the political dominance of the Mellons in Pennsylvania appears about to drop. Apparently Puddler Jim Davis is about to sweep Allegheny County, always regarded as the stronghold of the Mellons, by an overwhelming majority. His running mate, Francis Shunk Brown, is away in front also in the gubernatorial contest, though this is not so important, from the Mellon standpoint, as the prospect of Davis triumphing over "Uncle Joe" Grundy.

Grundy is in a desperate way. He is a hard fighter, and resourceful, so a few more cards may be dealt before this political poker game is over. But at the present moment, on the face of things, he is badly beaten.

Two weeks ago, in a dispatch from Philadelphia, this writer suggested that the logic of the situation called for Grundy to throw S. S. Lewis overboard and to team up with Gifford Pinchot. Lewis went to Washington to see Grundy just after that dispatch was printed and denied vigorously that he thought of retiring.

Then he retired. So far Grundy has made no move to make an alliance with Pinchot, but that still appears to be the logical next step. Practically it would not hurt him in any way, and actually it might help him a great deal.

• • • •

GRUNDY'S manufacturing and corporate interest connections do not like Pinchot. He is sound on the tariff from their standpoint, but terrible on so-called progressive legislation of the welfare and social varieties. Right now he is crusading against the public service corporations, particularly the water works, and this line of attack is making Grundy's friends of the financial interest variety very restive indeed.

But Grundy has discovered that he can not do exactly as he pleases. He wanted to make Lewis governor, and found that this was simply impossible. He raved and stormed, but he could not force Gov. Fisher, the man he made governor four years ago, and who appointed him senator a few months back, to get into line. Nor could he arouse enthusiasm for Lewis in the Mellon crowd, or their Pittsburgh underlings. So he reluctantly dropped him overboard.

• • • •

HAD he realized it in time, and been willing to give up hope of dominating the governorship, he could have made a bargain with Vare. That would have assured his own election as senator, for the Vares had no particular reason for wanting Secretary Davis in the Senate. They wanted the statehouse. Now Grundy is fighting for his own political life. The Mellons have very nearly washed their hands of the whole thing, after complete failure to hold such powerful figures in local Allegheny County politics as Mayor Kline, of Pittsburgh, Senator Max Leslie and Former Mayor Joseph Armstrong in line.

Incidentally the men who are doing Grundy the most good are not Pennsylvania Republicans, but the nationally known Democratic and Progressive senators who keep attacking him. The Nyes, Brookharts, La Follettes, Caraways and Pat Harrisons in the Senate have pretty nearly made a hero of Grundy in Pennsylvania. He was never popular with the masses until he "snased" the lobby committee and criticised the "Backward States." That made a big hit up here. And every time one of the Democrats or Progressives attacks the "Grundy tariff" he makes votes for Uncle Joe.

KIDNAPINGS SPREAD IN YANGTZE VALLEY

Missionary Chiefs Declare No Ransom Will Be Paid to Outlaws.

BRITON REPORTED SLAIN

Shanghai, April 3 (A.P.).—Reports today indicated that increasing numbers of missionaries and other foreigners were being caught in the network of bandit operations that has been spread over the Yangtse valley and several southern provinces of China.

Announcing a stern policy in dealing with attacks upon its missionaries, the China Inland Mission headquarters here said that no ransom money would be paid to bandits, as to do so "would endanger every foreigner in the interior of China and place a premium upon kidnaping."

This policy was stated in connection with the kidnaping of the Rev. R. W. Porteus and Mrs. Porteus, of England, and Miss Nina E. Gemmell, of Girard, Kans. Captured a week ago by bandits who looted the city of Yuanchow, Kiangsi province, they are held prisoners in a bandit mountain camp, ransom of $20,000 Mexican each being demanded for their release.

From Tientsin came reports that Yorke Scarlett, a British missionary, was murdered at Peitaihb last night while inspecting mission property.

Because of bandit operations near Nanchang, Kiangsi Province, said Bishop D. T. Huntington, of the American Church Mission, several missionary families fled from Nanchang to Wuhu, Anhwei Province. They informed the bishop that 50 other foreigners were prepared to evacuate Nanchang immediately.

Bishop Huntington, who arrived here today from Wuhu, asserted that farmers, heavily burdened by taxation of the Nationalist government, which did nothing for them, were becoming bandits in desperation.

Dispatches from Canton stated that Nananfu, Kiangsi Province, remained in the possession of Red forces, with the fate of American Catholic missionaries there unknown.

Namyung, city of northern Kwangtung Province, was reported captured by bandits, who have been active throughout the northern part of the province and the adjacent Kiangsi Province.

BRUENING WINS VOTE BY NARROW MARGIN

Nationalists Hit Policy, but Join in Beating Motion of Nonconfidence.

FIERY HUGENBERG TALK

Berlin, April 3 (A.P.).—Victorious by 65 votes in its first skirmish with Parliament, the new Bruening cabinet today began work immediately on pressing legislation but was none too assured of its future.

The government, headed by Dr. Heinrich Bruening, defeated by 282 to 187, a nonconference motion offered by the Communists, Fascists and Socialists.

While the Nationalists, led by Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, gave support to the cabinet, they made so many reservations that the government feared Nationalist support might prove illusory when actual work began.

Dr. Hugenberg told the Reichstag his party was willing to give the cabinet a trial only because it had promised farm relief. He said his party assumed no responsibility whatever for the cabinet's action; that it would decline to vote, among other things, for a German-Polish trade agreement, and for many sections of the financial program.

He added that his party objected to the presence of Doctors Curtius and Wirth in the cabinet, and charged that the new government had been formed "by misusing the name and authority of the reich's president."

The speech was fiery throughout and the last reference is understood to refer to the fact that President von Hindenburg had authorized Dr. Bruening to dissolve parliament in case a nonconfidence motion were carried against him.

Members of the cabinet realize they have a stormy path ahead, but they feel that Dr. Hugenberg's speech was not representative of his party. They held a meeting immediately after the reichstag adjournment, however, and Dr. Bruening is reported to have consulted his cabinet as to whether it would be better to dissolve the reichstag and hold new elections. Meanwhile, the cabinet is planning its campaign for pushing its legislative program.

Merci, Bien!

College and art school had not taught me how to cut up a whole side of beef. One morning the French Auxiliare who was our cook and butcher in the Red Cross canteen at St. Germain des Fosses failed to appear. Knowing that the meat must be cooked no matter what happened, I stood gazing desperately at the whole half of an animal, wondering where one started in cutting it to pieces. We had a French soldiers in this canteen at that time and only occasional Americans, but just when my problem looked utterly hopeless I heard a shout from the front of the room. Over the counter vaulted an olive drab figure. With a beaming smile he hurried over to where I stood. "Say, lady, I come from the swellest butcher shop in Seattle, Wash. Let me fix your meat!" I let him.

Real Conversationalist

After the armistice it took so long to get the Army back home that many of the soldiers became very dissatisfied, and "I want to go home" was heard on every side, and the different organizations did all they could for them in the way of entertainment. Many dances were given and a part of the duties of the women in the welfare organizations was to go to the dances and dance as many dances as possible.

One night I was particularly tired, having done a hard day's work in the office and danced all evening on a rough floor, in my heavy uniform, shoes, and, of course, the boys had on hob nails, so it wasn't exactly a senior prom. Toward the last I got a partner, who was a big, overgrown country boy, and I said, "I don't talk much when I'm dancing, so you will have to entertain me." He was visibly embarrassed, but he was a good soldier and a gentleman and he was going to do his duty in peace or war so he finally stammered out, "For a fat lady you don't sweat much."

ALMA M. WINNINGHAM,

He Had Company

The time—July 5, 1918.

The place—On board S. S. Keemun, somewhere on the Atlantic.

The S. S. Keemun, British converted tramp ship, loaded with 1,400 American artillerymen, was slowly pushing her nose eastward across the Atlantic. Mess was staggered because of the inadequate facilities for galleys large enough to cook 1,400 meals at one time. Conservation of deck space for sleeping quarters cut down on the space for mess tables. Those that we did have ran fore and aft on the starboard side of the stow.

Our battery mechanic, a giant in stature, was seated directly opposite me consuming an enormous portion of slum, when suddenly the ship seemed to stop still and quiver like a vibrating leaf. Everyone stopped eating and wildly glared at the open hatch leading to the top deck and possible freedom. All of our thoughts, of course, were submarines. Some one at the far after end of the table started for the hatch and such a turmoil I hope never to witness again. Our giant mechanic in two wild leaps was on the table, in my slum, over my shoulder, and up the hatch ladder. When I arrived on deck he was holding on to the side of a lifeboat.

We discovered that some of the machinery was out of order in the engine room and it was immediately repaired and peace once more reigned.

When we settled down again to our slum of course kidding was in order—our battery mechanic was really razzed and more so when he claimed the reason for his hasty exit was that he feared some one would get hurt and wanted to get to the ladder first to prevent casualties.

I wonder if anyone else saw him holding on to the lifeboat.

The Turning Point

After the Germans had been stopped at Chateau-Thierry, from their long drive towards Paris, in which they advanced nearly 40 miles in four days, things were pretty quiet along the Marne, with the exception of an occasional shell, and the rat-tat-tat of machine guns which had sighted an enemy.

My outfit, the Fifth Field Signal Battalion, Third Division, were strung out along the Marne, and got our first taste of real war at midnight July 14, 1918. We had been expecting for some time the Germans to make their next attack, from information given by captured prisoners, but uncertain of the date.

It came at midnight of July 14, the heaviest artillery fire ever known to history—a night I shall never forget. The whole earth was in a tremor, and the continuous roar of the big guns from both sides was kept up until late into the following day, then quieted down somewhat.

All communications from our post were cut off shortly after the barrage had started, shells breaking our lines and we were helpless to send or receive any information whatever, as it was certain suicide to venture out to repair lines at this time.

During the early morning hours two French soldiers crawled into our station, badly mangled from shell fire, one with a leg torn completely off, and the other wounded in several places from flying shrapnel. They both died within a few minutes.

We were all glad to see daylight come, for this had been one horrible night, and being without communication, did not know just how the situation stood.

Daylight came at last, and the little strip of woods in which we were stationed, had been mowed down by shellfire and we were entirely in the open. The barrage lifted with the break of day, and we were greeted by bombing planes dropping bombs, and other planes making low flying sweeps and using machine guns on scattered troops. I saw a number of shell-shocked cases that morning, those whose nerves could not withstand the shock. One man I particularly noticed, was running around waving his arms and shouting, like a wild man, and finally disappeared over a hill.

Our reserves came up shortly from the rear, and this was the turning point of the war, as the Germans were on the defensive thereafter.

POSTPONED REDUCTION IN COAL PRICES

The retail coal merchants of Washington have been advised by the Anthracite Operators that the date for their usual spring reduction has been changed to May 1.

It will be necessary, therefore, for the retail coal merchants to defer their usual spring reduction until such time as the prices are reduced at the mines.

It is hoped that the change to May 1 will enable the Operators to offer a greater reduction on May 1.

New Kind of Salts Taking Country By Storm

They Revitalize the System—Induce Youthful Activity—Keep Body in Splendid Condition—Free From Fat.

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most salts Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of a label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fiber in the body with nature's own revitalising and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c at Peoples Drug Stores, or any drug store in America—take one-half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation—one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

Mission Head From France To Visit Here

M. Chastand to Be Guest at Luncheon Event Tomorrow.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WITH the visit of M. Emanuel Chastand, of Paris, director general of La Mission Populaire Evangelique de France, Washington will learn from an authoritative source of a great work which is of interest to two continents. For the mission has its American division, known as the McCall Mission. M. Chastand, who will stay with the Rev. Florian Vurpillot and Mrs. Vurpillot while in Washington, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given tomorrow at 1 o'clock at the clubhouse of the American Association of University Women by the Washington McCall Auxiliary.

M. Chastand will speak on the work of La Mission Populaire de France on this occasion and again on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the French service at St. John's Episcopal Church, Lafayette Square.

It's a most interesting story which he has to tell, dealing with what has been accomplished by the mission through its "fraternities," its chapel boats on the canals of northern France and its vacation colonies, one of which is housed in a picturesque old stone chateau.

As director of the mission station at Nantes, transformed into a hospital during the war, and later as chaplain in the French army, M. Chastand became interested in the rehabilitation of wounded soldiers. His inventions, enabling blesses to become self-supporting, were so remarkable that the United States Government invited him to come to this country in 1919. Many of his ideas were adopted by those in charge of rehabilitation work for former soldiers and are still in use. M. Chastand has been decorated by the French government.

In 1927 he was called to become director general of La Mission Populaire Evangelique de France, which has stations from Lille in the north to Marseilles in the south.

Mrs. Charles S. Alden is honorary president of the local auxiliary of the McCall Mission.

Mrs. John Rigg announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Violet Annis Rigg, to Lieut. William E. Maxwell, U. S. M. C., of Birmingham, Ala. Lieut. Maxwell is now stationed at the Marine Barracks in Washington. Miss Rigg is the daughter of the late Rev. John Rigg, dean of the cathedral at Easton, Md.

Mrs. Champ Clark, widow of the late Speaker of the House of Representatives, who has been visiting h[er] daughter, Mrs. James M. Thomson, at Biloxi, Miss., where Mrs. Thomson has taken a house for the spring months, has returned to her home in Bowling Green, Mo. Mrs. Bennett Clark, wife of Col. Miss Florence E Ward entertained at dinner last evening at the National Woman's Country Club in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Danziger, of Springfield Mass. The ranking guests were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Renick W. Dunlap, others in the company being Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Smith, Mr and Mrs. George E Farrell, Mrs. O. B. Benson, Miss Gertrude Warren and Dr. and Mrs. Robert G Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Danziger formerly lived in Washington when Mr. Danziger was connected with the Department of Agriculture. He is now assistant general manager of the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield.

Former Senator George Wharton Pepper, who came to Washington on Wednesday, returned to Philadelphia yesterday morning.

Mrs. Abby Sutherland, principal of the Ogontz School, Ogontz, Pa., accompanied by Miss Jane Kenney, is at the Willard during the session of the Progressive Education Association at the hotel.

Mask and Wig Return to Be Social Event

College Thespians Will Appear at Belasco Theater.

The coming to Washington of the famous Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania, after an absence of two years, is already inciting keen interest and enthusiasm.

Two of the prime movers in bringing the Mask and Wiggers to the Capital City are Mr. Warren F. Martin, once secretary of former Senator Coleman du Pont, of Delaware, and prominent both socially and politically in the city, and Mr. Darrell H Smith, also a Mask and Wigman, who for the past several years has been chairman of the Washington committee.

"John Faust, Ph. D.," this season's spectacular travesty on the story of the learned German doctor and the lovely Marguerite of the flaxen braids, will be seen here at the Belasco Theater Friday night, April 11, and box parties and theater parties will be the order of the evening, the event promising as always a capacity audience to witness this supercompany of singers and dancers.

Two Washington men are appearing prominently in the cast of players, Mr. Joseph Saunders Eaton and Mr. Ward Munroe French, who will appear as Gertrude and Christopher, respectively, in the big cast of players.

It may be confidently assumed that all of the 400 University of Pennsylvania men in the Capital City will attend the Washington performance.

Col. and Mrs. William R. Gibson have as their guests at the Wardman Park Hotel Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dove, of Baltimore, who will pass several days here.

Mrs. Longworth Plans Illinois Primary Trip.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wife of the Speaker of the House, will go to Chicago on Monday to be with Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick when the votes are counted on Tuesday in the Illinois primaries. Representative McCormick is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Senate, opposing Senator Charles S. Deneen. Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. McCormick have been friends since girlhood.

Mrs. William Howard Taft has returned to her Washington residence from Cincinnati, where she went for the funeral of her sister, Mrs. John Anderson, who died in Paris. Mrs. Taft expects to sail for Italy later in the spring, accompanied by her sister, Miss Maria Herron.

Mrs. Charles Francis Adams sailed yesterday from England for home and probably will go to her home in Boston for a visit before returning to Washington. Mrs. Adams has been in London with Mr. Adams, Secretary of the Navy, who is a delegate to the naval conference.

Bishop Freeman Returns From Election Meeting.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman has returned from Chicago, where he went to attend the special meeting of the House of Bishops.

Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, former president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will come to Washington on Tuesday and will be in town for the rest of the month.

Baron and Baroness von Below, who sailed yesterday for Europe on the S. S. Albert Bellin, will travel abroad for six months, returning to Washington the middle of October.

Mrs. Ridgely To Be Hostess Of Bay Staters

Phelps Browns Plan to Arrive Here Today for Sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Brown are motoring to Washington from their home in Springfield, Mass., and will arrive today to be guests of Mrs. William Barret Ridgely. Both Mrs. Brown, who was Miss Katherine Ridgely, and her husband are former residents of Washington. Mr. Brown is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sevellon Brown and a brother of Mr. Sevellon Brown, jr., Mr. Arthur Brown and Mrs. Charles Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Parish, jr., who live in New York, are being congratulated on the recent birth of a daughter, Mary Ellan Parish, named for her grandmother. Before her marriage Mrs. Parish was Miss Shelby Brown, great granddaughter and namesake of Senator Shelby Cullom, who was a distinguished figure in Washington's official group a generation ago.

The Minister of Bulgaria and Mme. Radeff have sent out invitations for a dinner on April 22.

Justice and Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone will entertain at dinner on April 25.

Miss Alice G. Cutts has arrived from Port au Prince, Haiti, where her father, Col. R. M. Cutts, U. S. M. C., is in command of the Marine brigade, for a prolonged visit to her uncle and aunt, Gen. and Mrs. John Twiggs Myers, at their residence, 3101 Thirty-fourth street.

Mr. Charles Porterfield Light has returned from an extended trip to Asheville, Charleston, S. C., Pinehurst and Old Point Comfort. He has recovered from his recent illness.

Mrs. John Laidlaw Buel, of Litchfield, Conn., is in Washington for the month of April.

Campaign Ends Tomorrow at 9 P.M.

The Deciding Hours Are Here! Today and Tomorrow Will Determine the Winners of

$20,000 Worth of AUTOMOBILES and RADIOS

Excitement is at fever pitch; every candidate's heart beats high with hope for he or she is as likely to be presented with the big $3,630 Cadillac Sedan as any other contestant. The road is straight to victory, there are no "rail" positions and no power but that of votes can place anyone in the forefront. The only way that votes can now be obtained is in accordance with the schedules for subscriptions and second payments as printed below. This is the crucial time, one single subscription, one "second payment" may mean a difference of hundreds of dollars in the prize that may be won. There can be no let down in enthusiasm, no "resting on the oars" or someone else will sweep through to the reward that should be yours.

Candidates Showing Last Minute Strength

As previously announced, the list of candidates' vote standings, published in last Sunday's Post, was the last before announcement of the winners. But during these last few days many have been turning in an unexpected quantity of subscriptions and second payments that have in many cases radically changed their respective standings. No one can be sure of victory, there is no one who hasn't a real chance at one of the biggest prizes of all . . . Which one of the prizes pictured below is going to be YOURS?

Final Remittance Sheets

Must Be in the Campaign Office or in the Mails

BY 9 P. M., SATURDAY

At this hour on April 5, this thrilling campaign comes to its formal end and it will be necessary for every candidate to have his final remittance sheets properly balanced, or at least within the campaign office at that time. Excepting when final statements are sent in by mail, in which case such mail matter MUST bear a post-mark of not later than 9 P. M., April 5, to be eligible for ballots. It is of the greatest importance that every candidate read carefully the final RULES AND REGULATIONS governing this final period as printed below.

Rules and Regulations

Governing Final Period of Campaign

As a matter of caution, and to guard against the possibility of loss to candidates through misunderstanding during these last days of the campaign, final instructions are herewith appended, which should be observed. All candidates, especially those who live in the outside districts, should read and weigh every line carefully.

(1) All remittances mailed from now on should be mailed special delivery to insure their reaching us in time. If you live outside of Washington and intend to mail subscriptions take the precaution to find out what time your postoffice closes, also obtain all possible information as to train service on the railroad which will carry your mail to the campaign office the last day of the campaign, April 5.

(2) You are allowed the privilege of mailing your subscriptions up to Saturday, April 5, 9 p. m. These subscriptions must reach the campaign office by Tuesday noon, April 8, and show a postmark of having been mailed on or before 9 p. m., April 5. The Washington Post will not be responsible for any mail, even though properly postmarked, which fails to arrive within the specified time.

(3) All remittances should be carefully addressed to the Campaign Manager, Washington Post, Washington, D. C. This will assure absolute accuracy and will prevent any of them from going astray.

(4) Examine your official voting ballots carefully and see that the correct number of votes have been issued on same. Pay particular attention to "second payments" and be sure that the proper votes have been issued. If there are any corrections notify the Campaign Manager in person or in writing and proper corrections will be made. The Campaign Department will not be responsible for clerical errors unless notification is given, after which correction will be made.

(5) UNDER NO CONDITION WILL VOTES BE TRANSFERRED FROM ONE CANDIDATE TO ANOTHER. THIS IS AN ABSOLUTE RULE, AND WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED.

(6) Be sure and mark your subscriptions properly, Old or New. Be sure they are marked correctly. Every subscription is verified and switching will only result in regret and disappointment.

(7) "Second payments" must be marked as such on the remittance sheet which is sent to the Campaign Department. Also give the amount of the first payment and the name of the candidate obtaining the first payment, if other than yourself.

(8) All remittances sent in after Monday, March 31, must be either postal money order, express money order, certified checks or drafts, excepting the individual checks of subscribers.

(9) Absolutely no subscription money will be refunded. If you don't receive prompt acknowledgment of remittances you send in during the last few days of the campaign notify the Campaign Department immediately.

(10) Only bona fide subscriptions will be accepted. No sums of money will be accepted, the names of subscribers to be supplied later. All remittances should be accompanied by the usual remittance sheets, properly filled out with the amounts.

(11) On the last day of the campaign the campaign staff will be unable to serve any contestant in any way other than by answering questions pertaining to subscriptions, second payments, &c. Contestants must have their subscriptions properly listed on remittance sheets, taking care that these sheets are properly balanced in relation to the amount of money necessary to cover subscriptions listed. Contestants will then seal their final remittances in envelopes provided for that purpose, personally dropping them in sealed and locked ballot box. Thus no one but the candidate in person will know the amount of final remittances until the auditors break the seal and start the final count.

POSTAL CHIEF URGES HIGHER STAMP RATE

Brown Would Increase Price to Lift $50,000,000 Deficit in Branch.

ADDRESSES TRADE BOARD

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, speaking tonight at a meeting of the Bronx Board of Trade, advocated increasing the rate on first-class mail to 2½ cents to eradicate the $50,000,000 deficit in his department.

"The business of the Postoffice Department shows it to be a public utility," he said. "Like any other properly managed public utility, it should conduct its operations without financial loss, that is to say, its rates of charge to the public should be adjusted so as to provide an income sufficient in the aggregate to pay the cost of all of its services."

The present rate on first-class mail, he said, has been in effect since 1885, except during a brief period during the war with Germany, when emergency rates were in force.

"Since 1916," he explained, "there has been an increase of 82 per cent in the second-class rate, and an average increase of 10 per cent in the parcel post rate But in a period of greatly increased commodity prices and steadily mounting labor and service costs the Postoffice Department has maintained unchanged for 45 years the selling price of its basic commodity—first-class mail.

"If we take into account the reduced purchasing power of the dollar in the period to which reference is made, the 2-cent postage rates of 1885 is equivalent to 3½ cents at the present time. If we take into account the relative wage to labor generally, the 2-cent rate in 1885 is equivalent to 7 cents at the present time.

"We are getting from three to five times more for our postal dollar in the sending of letters than for any other dollar which we spend."

Mr. Brown touched on the department's present building program, which he said in the next ten years would provide every city in the country which has annual postal receipts in excess of $20,000 with a "suitable Federal building."

HOUSE GROUP SPLIT ON NEW CRIME BILL

months imprisonment and a fine of $500. Two bills by Representative Christopherson (Republican), South Dakota, embodying plans for defining felonies and misdemeanors under the United States code and setting up juryless trials by commissioners, also were disapproved by Mr. Mitchell.

The Attorney General contended that the Stobbs bill lacked in exactness of definition, placed a tremendous burden on the Government in prosecution of major violations of dry laws and that it would for all practical purposes emasculate the Jones law and defeat the purpose of its enactment.

Mr. Mitchell suggested that the commission's bills be changed to provide that trials before the United States commissioners not be operative in any district until judges issue an order and designate the commissioners before whom trials shall be conducted.

The bill would be extended to include all offenses, the punishment for which does not exceed a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than six months or both.

JURY IS DISCHARGED IN MAE WEST TRIAL

what may have actually been depicted behind the footlights.

"The difficulty is inherent from the nature of the present system of evidentiary procedure. Words, intonations, gestures and actions can not easily be reproduced secondarily. All of which permits pause for thought as to whether modern requirements would not be better met in such regulation by a system of censorship impartial, representative and motivated by present-day concepts and ideals."

Assistant District Attorney James G. Wallace consented to continue the bail previously given by the defendants. He said, however, "in view of the length of time which has elapsed since this play was enacted and the fact that it will never again be presented on the boards, it may make it undesirable to try the case again."

Before the case went to the jury at noon, Judge Bertini dismissed the indictments against all but 24 of the 57 original defendants. This action was taken on recommendation of Assistant District Attorney James Wallace. The remaining defendants faced maximum penalty of $1,000 fine, a year in jail or both.

The case has been on trial in general sessions court since March 17. Police officers who attended the opening performance of "Pleasure Man," October 1, 1928, and closed it two nights later, testified concerning lines and songs which they found objectionable. Although Miss West did not take the stand in defense of the play she wrote, seven members of the cast testified they found no obscenity in the play.

Policeman Who Tagged Coed Menaced by Mob

Los Angeles, April 3 (A.P.).—Students of the University of Southern California, incensed over the action of a traffic policeman in tagging a girl student motorist, staged an incipient riot today which brought additional police to the scene to disperse the hooting crowds. The students were dispersed less than an hour after the outbreak. No arrests were made.

Miss Jeanne Sangor, the coed, whose encounter with the traffic officer precipitated the trouble, was booked at the University police substation on a charge of reckless driving and was released. Men students took the girl's part after her automobile had collided with one driven by Patrolman Judson. The policeman was reported to have been roughly handled before other officers came to his aid.

Canton, China, Forbids 'Ben Hur' Film Showing

Canton, China, April 3 (A.P.).—The Canton commissioner of education has forbidden the showing of the American film, "Ben Hur" based on the novel of that name by Lew Wallace.

The commissioner said the film was "propaganda of superstitious beliefs, namely, Christianity."

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Branson announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna Bailey Branson, to Mr. K. Fitz Ellers, of New York. The wedding will take place in October.

Tableaux Planned For Liberty Ball.

Plans for the tableaux, which will be featured at the Liberty Ball at the Willard on April 11, are taking definite shape and much interest is being displayed in this event, arranged as a benefit for the Association for the Preservation of Monticello. In the first tableau, "The Courtship of Thomas Jefferson," Jefferson will be shown with Martha Wales Skelton, the young widow whom he married the one with his violin and the other at her harp. Miss Margaret Sumner will have the part of the Widow Skelton. A costume, which belonged originally to Jefferson, will be worn in this tableau, which is under the direction of the Southern Society.

The next tableau will show the portrait of Martha Jefferson Randolph, daughter of Thomas Jefferson. The part of the beautiful young woman will be taken by Mrs. Flora Mason Nicholson, a direct descendant of the original of the painting.

The third tableau is being arranged under the direction of Mrs. Albert N. Baggs. Debutantes of the season and previous seasons will carry the flags of the nations. This colorful spectacle will be held under the auspices of members of the D. A. R., led by Mrs. Baggs and assisted by Mrs. George Hillyer.

The figure of the symbolic Statue of Liberty will be depicted by Mrs. Willis D. Crittenberger, wife of Maj. Crittenberger.

Information in connection with the pilgrimage on April 13, which is to be made to Monticello and to the home of James Monroe, a few miles away, and also tickets for the Liberty Ball, may be had from Mrs. Bertram Chesterman at room 121, the Willard Hotel, or from Mrs. Clarence C. Dill or Mrs. Stephen W. Gambrill at the headquarters of the Jefferson Memorial Association, at 1237 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Mrs. Ludlow Plans Breakfast for Guests.

Several guests will be entertained by Mrs. Louis Ludlow, wife of Representative Ludlow, of Indiana, at the authors' breakfast of the National League of American Pen Women, to be held Easter Monday, at the Willard Hotel.

This event, which is open to the public, will be the opening social function of the league's biennial convention.

Another important entertainment of the convention, which will open April 21 and continue through April 25, will be the concert for which invitations are now being issued. This will be held in the residence of Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, on Scott Circle, Thursday evening, April 24. Mrs. Dorothy De Muth Watson, who was chairman of the league's national musical contests, is director for the concert and will present the prize-winning composition, a string quartet, by Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe, of this city, which will be played by the National String Quartet as one of the features of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fay, accompanied by their son and daughter, motored from their home in Haddonfield, N. J., and are spending a few days at the Cairo Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Doeller are at the Madison, in New York.

Mrs. George Ricker, past president of the Voteless D. C. League of Women Voters, will be an honor guest at a luncheon meeting of the executive board of the league today at the Women's City Club. Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle will be hostess. Mrs. Ricker is now a resident of Chicago.

Mrs. H. T. Follett and her daughter, Barbara, of Los Angeles, Calif., are in Washington, and are staying at the Potomac Park Apartments.

Miss Shea to be Wed To Mr. Gibbons Burke.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis C. Shea announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Rose Shea, to Mr. Gibbons Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick E. Burke, of New Orleans, La. The wedding will take place in June.

The Glee Club of Geneva College will give a concert on Tuesday evening in the Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association of the school. Among the Geneva College alumni in Washington who are interested in the concert are Representative Henry W. Temple, Representative Howard Swick, Mr. Edwin Wendt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boal, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boots and Mr. Robert McFall and Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Duncan. Dr. Duncan was a trustee of the college.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Butler, of Montreal, arrived at the Willard yesterday to spend several days.

DENTIST IS INDICTED IN $200,000 MURDER

WIFE IDENTIFIES BODY

Bentonville, Ark., April 3 (A.P.).—Dr. A. J. Bass, of Columbia, Mo., late today was indicted by a special grand jury on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of a man on a highway near Gravette last Saturday. The body has been identified as that of William Robert Pearman, of Columbia, Mo., who officers say was the victim in a $200,000 insurance swindle plot.

Prosecutor J. S. Combs said the grand jury still was in session to investigate other phases of the alleged insurance swindle plot.

Mrs. Maud Pearman and her two children today identified the body in a morgue at Gravette, as their husband and father, missing from home since March 21.

Pearman's body with three bullet wounds in the head was found near Gravette Saturday. Authorities say it apparently was thrown beside the highway from an automobile.

Mrs. Pearman and her children, Robert, 21, and a daughter, Julie, 19, told police they knew nothing about the $200,000 insurance policy which Pearman is alleged to have taken out on his life at Kansas City while posing as William Folta, St. Louis land speculator.

The insurance was assigned to Dr. A. J. Bass, wealthy retired dentist and land dealer of Columbia, supposedly as collateral on a balance on the purchase price of 3,100 acres of land in Miller County, Ark., which "Folta" is alleged to have bought from Dr. Bass for colonization purposes.

Bass, who is regarded by officers as the principal conspirator in a plot to collect the insurance on "Folta's" life, is held in jail here on a first degree murder charge for the slaying of Pearman.

Revelations which connected Dr. Bass and Pearman in the alleged insurance fraud were made yesterday by Miss Pearl Powell, Columbia, Md., waitress and confidante of Pearman, following identification of the body by two working companions of the slain man.

Miss Powell told Sheriff Edgar Fields of a large land deal she said Pearman told her about. She recalled his sudden rise to affluence. She said she had gathered from hints dropped by Pearman that he and Bass planned to find a body, represent it as that of "Folta," who they learned had been missing from his Martinsburg, Mo., home for seventeen years, and collect the insurance.

Officers are investigating land deals made in Texarkana, Ark., under the names of William Folta and Dr. Bass and are checking the movements of Pearman between the time he left his home in Columbia and the finding of his body last Saturday.

Dr. Bass, meanwhile, has engaged attorneys to fight the murder charge and maintains silence in his cell at the county jail here. He was arrested Tuesday after appearing before the grand jury to testify the body was that of his friend William Folta. Papers bearing Folta's name were found in the pockets of the slain man. Relatives of Folta came here and repudiated the identification, saying it was not their relative.

Mrs. Pearman arranged today to have the body of her husband sent back to Columbia for burial.

"I have always been interested in the little painted creatures, and have saved many of them by giving them money and meals at a coffee house. To help these creatures was instilled in me by my mother, some of them having been sent to her home in California, where she has helped them start life anew. One was married from our home and has since proved a faithful wife and devoted mother. I am delighted that Columbia has made a talking picture of my play. The dramatic version was a big success, and I have every confidence that 'Ladies of Leisure' will duplicate that triumph."

School for Police Proposed in Bill

National Institution Here Asked in Measure Drawn by Missourian.

A bill to establish in Washington a national school for policemen and policewomen was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Romjue (Democrat), of Missouri.

The school would be administered by a board of three—the superintendent of schools here, the Attorney General, and a person appointed by the President. It would be located in a Federal building, and tuition would be free.

The bill authorized an appropriation of $50,000 to finance the school, and specifies that the individual appointed by the President shall receive from the fund a salary of $5,000 a year.

Night Golf and Tennis Are Launched in Capital

For those unable to participate in golf and tennis during daylight hours, the Welfare and Recreation Association of Public Buildings and Grounds, Inc., has installed lights, making these sports possible at night at Seventeenth and B streets northwest, according to announcement made yesterday by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, president.

Tennis courts will be open for night play on Monday while the lighting system on the new putting course has been tested and found satisfactory.

Congressional Rules Are Explained to Club

At a meeting of the Thirteen Club last night in the Fairfax room at the Willard Hotel, Herbert Pillan, congressional secretary, was the principal speaker. His topic was parliamentary laws and procedure. Mr. Pillan has made an extensive study of this subject, and he explained some of the reasons for the seemingly "queer" rules which govern the action of the Senate and House.

Other speakers were Lucian H. Mercier, Ernest Spitzer, Edgar Czara and W. W. Wheeler. The program was planned by Col. Joseph P. Randell, and the president of the club, Warren Schoonmacher, presided. The Thirteen Club is an organization composed of business men of Washington. Its main purpose is to foster better business methods and modernized salesmanship. Thirty-five members attended the banquet, which preceded the meeting.

Woman Ill After Poison Is Swallowed by Error

Mistaking a bottle on a medicine shelf containing what she believed to be a mouth wash, Teresa Inscoe, 36 years old, suffered ill effects in her home at 1020 Ninth street northwest yesterday morning when she drank a small quantity of poison.

She was taken in a taxicab to Emergency Hospital, where attendants reported her condition as fair and not believed to be serious. A report was made by the Second Precinct police

Man Taken From Poor Farm Held in Robbery

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 3 (A.P.).—Abram Cornelius, jr., alias A. P. Cornell, was arrested today at the county poor farm on a charge of embezzling $11,000 of the funds of the Citizens National Bank, of Englewood, N. J., in July, 1915.

Cornelius was arraigned this afternoon before D. W. Gill, United States commissioner, and entered a plea of guilty. Unable to provide a $5,000 bond, he was taken to the county jail pending disposition of the case by New Jersey authorities.

Air Pilot's Aid Futile As Two Burn to Death

Dubois, Pa., April 3 (A.P.).—A man and his 5-year-old son were burned to death and five other members of the family were injured in a fire that destroyed their home here early today. An air mail pilot bound for Cleveland flew low over the house with the plane motor roaring for several minutes, apparently in an effort to arouse the sleeping family.

The dead are Joseph Thomas, 42, a miner, and Paul Thomas, 5. The father is believed to have died while attempting to save the boy.

DEPEND ON ZEMO TO STOP ITCHING

Use soothing, healing, invisible Zemo for the torture of itching Skin. This clean, reliable family antiseptic helps bring relief in thousands of homes, stops itching and draws the heat and sting out of the skin. Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly, and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to any one in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores.—Adv

WORK ON BRIDGE

GOOD NEWS, BRIDGERS.

We are pleased to announce we can now renew the offer of Milton C. Work's great Contract and Auction booklet entitled "THE PLAYING PROBLEMS." Bridgers who received copies from previous offers are most enthusiastic over it.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS" presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reason for each answer in complete detail.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

A novice is apt to overlook the possibility of establishing entries in the weak hand; which usually is the dummy, although when a bid has been forced by an informatory double it may be the closed hand. The strong hand is apt to contain high cards toward which it is desirable to lead, and consequently one or more entries may be needed in the weak hand.

When the weak hand contains an Ace, or when it has the King of a suit and the strong hand holds the Ace, the entry is obvious; but frequently Declarer is obliged to discover and develop what are called "hidden entries." Suppose that in any suit a hand in which three entries were desired held Ace-King-Ten and the hand toward which Declarer wished to lead had Queen-Jack-Nine; it would be very simple to overtake the Queen and the Jack and thus make the Ten a third entry. But sometimes the possibility of obtaining an extra entry is not so apparent. To illustrate:

No. 1

Diamonds: K-5-4-2
Hand Needing Entries

Strong Hand
Diamonds: A-Q-8-3

No. 2

Diamonds: K-5-3-2

Strong Hand
Diamonds: A-9-7-4

It is probable in No. 1 that Declarer can win every Diamond trick. In No. 2 he surely must lose one Diamond trick; in either case Declarer should leave in the hand needing two Diamond entries, a Diamond which may be expected to win the fourth round of that suit, and so be able to place the lead a second time in that hand. This could be accomplished in No. 1 by holding strong hand's Trey and weak hand's Four or Five until the fourth round; and in No. 2 by holding strong hand's Four and weak hand's Five until the fourth round.

In neither case can it cost a trick to part with strong hand's Eight or Nine of Diamonds, on weak hand's high Diamond; if the division of the adverse Diamonds is the probable 3-2, none will be left for the fourth round; if it be the improbable 4-1, the unplayed adverse Diamond will be higher than the Nine.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Stitching is responsible for the subtlety of line that marks the new suits. This one is a mauvish mixture. (Courtesy of Doueillet-Doucet, Paris).

Paris, April 3.

HOW important blouses have become! They have never been so popular and so important. Of course, years ago blouses were always considered a necessary evil rather than an opportunity to be decorative. And as a necessity, they were just worn under a jacket, and that was the end of them.

In fact, they were so much "just worn under a jacket" that they finally became sleeveless and backless vestees.

But this season a blouse is more often than not the most important part of the tailleur. The skirt has its silhouette, the jacket its particular cut, the blouse has all the handwork on it. Adroit ruffles, unusual cut, tiny fine pleats stitched down or left open, embroidered eyelets or allover embroidered on the blouse simulating lace, intricately beaded collars and cuffs with the little white beads in a solid pattern on washable blouses—these are only some of the conceits of the new blouse.

And another thing, this blouse is almost always a tuck-in affair, or at least if it is not a tuck-in it does not come down very low over the hips when it is worn outside the skirt.

There are the evening blouses, more elaborate afternoon dresses and evening gowns made all in one piece, but with the tops simulating a white or cream-colored or pale pink blouse in lace or satin, or tulle or georgette.

Hurrah for the new woman and her new blouse!

* * * *

I thought you'd like to see the Doueillet-Doucet model I have sketched today for tailored types of people. The skirt is tweed, and its combination of colors which as far as I could make out, were red, beige and blue, gave it a decidedly mauve cast, which was very attractive. While the blouse very nearly matched the tone of the skirt in mauve silk broadcloth.

The jacket which goes with this suit is of tweed, and very large and loose as to shoulders—and for a collar has a very chic scarf of the same tweed which is sewn just at the neck and hangs loose from there to its three-quarter hem.

* * * *

Some of 'em cost $35 and some of 'em cost $75, honestly—these beautiful hand-made collars and cuffs which smart women wear this season. And so complicated and decorative are they that it is no wonder! Wouldst give your new frock a Paris look? Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for an illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make a musketeer collar and cuff of lame, how to use an old pearl necklace on a lovely collar and cuff set, how to make a set of horse-hair braid—oh, better send for it!

And as so often happens this season, with telling effect, too, there was a base made of the matching tweed of the ensemble. I illustrated the bag, too, front and back—and it was bordered in red, with one red and one gold hoop for a clasp.

Here's the reminder again. The weekly Dare fashion letter is in The Sunday Washington Post every week.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

If April 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 a. m. to 10 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m.

More propitious influences will be in force on this date and you will feel better satisfied with yourself and the world in general. A change means increased prosperity, a greater contentment of mind and social advantages.

Children born on this April 4 will develop strong characters, will be independent and original thinkers extremely energetic and ambitious. They will be forceful but not tactful, and they will make enemies through their bluntness.

You possess few of the virtues or vices depicted for those born on the previous date. Patience, bolstered up with pluck and energy, is your one big asset. If you lack the cleverness to take short cuts, you are long-winded enough to climb every rung of the ladder on the road to achievement, without being ill-tempered or exhausted. You are never in a hurry, but you always arrive in good style—never flustered and never half "put together." You do not grasp things quickly, but in your plodding way, you master things thoroughly. You probably lack the initiative for leadership, but you do excellent team work. In cooperation with others, or under supervision, you are able to carry heavy loads without much strain.

Your individual efforts show weaker results, because you are hampered by the lack of self-confidence and proper foresight. You will take big risks on some one else's judgment, but you are afraid to chance your own.

You have a very thoughtful nature, and an unselfish one. You do not forget the little courtesies in life which brighten the pathway for others. You have a very philosophical way of looking at things, and seldom kick against your fate. You are very tolerant minded, and do not bother yourself about the sins of others. Your home life will be replete with happiness—your home a haven of comfort and rest.

Successful people born April 5:

1. Thaddeus Stevens—Statesman.
2. Dorothea L. Dix—Philanthropist.
3. Lewis Cass Ledyard—Lawyer.
4. Lawernance Barrett—Actor.
5. Thomas Kingsford—Maker of Oswego starch.
6. Gustav Kobbe—Author and journalist.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Risk and Romance."

SOME of the romantic souls who read this column would profit by just a few hours in the court rooms where this writer has spent years. They would cease to question the wisdom of discouraging "romance" that entails disproportionate risk.

Many of these romantic ones are very young, of course, others are old enough to know better but one and all they vote the writer as "dead to romantic possibilities" when she advises a girl to avoid chance acquaintance and to know thoroughly the antecedents of the man she plans to marry.

The young lady who wrote the column of her thrilling encounter with a strange man in a public park one rainy night and her subsequent engagement to his friend, was warned by this column to investigate her fiance's family and status most thoroughly. And the column readers proceed to "boo" the column!

"Is all romance dead?" asks Tiny who proceeds to tell us that she met most of her boy friends "informally." "If they get fresh I just walked away," announces poor Tiny. Just walk away. How much better to have just walked away before the humiliation of being treated as her easy behavior indicated she might safely be treated. Where is the "romance" in being mistaken for some social outcast? And suppose on some future occasion Tiny is prevented from "walking away?" There are two girls lying at this moment on hospital cots not six blocks from this spot, who sustained fractured skulls in their efforts to get away from the brand of "romance" that depends upon pick-up acquaintances.

And in court just last week we saw well-to-do parents of an only daughter trying to explain that their daughter when she married a man she met "informally" had no idea that he was married and the father of two infant children. After six months of "matrimony" and "romance" that girl must return to her parents, and face motherhood, dishonored by a perfectly worthless individual who married her because her people had a little money and he saw an easy future ahead. Questioned about the matter of deserting his wife and infants, he replied that he "didn't cafe for" his wife and only married her "because her folks made him." A fine specimen for a girl to choose as her share of romance.

So, to the many letters received in the morning mail, objecting to the column's stand on this brand of "romance" the answer is, experience speaks plainly. Know your man.

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help those who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

WHOZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He lived before the Christian era.

2. He was a shepherd, a musician, a poet, a famous military leader, and a king.

3. His reign as king was disturbed by a rebellion headed by his son.

4. Some of his poems and an account of a famous single handed combat in which he was victorious are contained in a book which has had very wide circulation for many years.

New England Academy Gets $1,000,000 Gift

Exeter, N. H., April 3 (A.P.).—A gift of $1,000,000 to Phillips Exeter Academy from Col. William B. Thompson, '90, of Yonkers, N. Y., was announced today by Principal Lewis Perry. It was the largest donation ever received by the academy. There are no restrictions on its use and it may be distributed at the discretion of the trustees.

Col. Thompson has been one of the academy's chief benefactors in past years. He has given funds for the erection of a gymnasium, swimming pool, baseball cage and a science and administration building.

Loaded Plane Altitude Mark Is Made Official

Stratford, Conn., April 3 (A.P.).—Word has been received by the Sikorsky Co. that the National Aeronautical Association, at Washington, has officially recognized the altitude of 23,222 feet, made with a 1,000 kilogram load (2,204 pounds) by Capt. Boris Sergievsky, on March 13 as a new world's record.

The flight was made with a plane powered with two 575 H. P. Horney motors. The previous world's record was 20,961, held by Franz Kneer, of Germany, and the American record was held by Sergievsky at 19,593 with the same kilogram load.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

MR. BURTON HOLMES, the well-known traveloguer, took his audience yesterday afternoon on an imaginary trip to Germany; back to dot tear oldt Vaderland. Vell, mein frendts, ven he came to Munich, vere dey make der beer, such a bizziness. Mr. Holmes showed a picture of himself quaffing a stein—no less. Then, he added, as he smacked his lips, that he could see nothing sinful in the taking of a glass of beer. The house immediately was in an uproar, clapping and cheering—which shows you what manner of women and women attend these travelogues—all save one dear soul who hissed; but a lot of good that did, what with the odds so great. Here's hoping they're all well over in Munich. Next week, to get back to water, Mr. Holmes is going to take us on what he calls a spring cruise around the Mediterranean.

While the National Theater Players were romping round the stage last night in Philip Barry's frolicsome comedy, "Holiday," the old impresario himself, Mr. Stephen E. Cochran, stood on the rostrum at the Franklin Administration Building and delivered a lecture before the Community Drama Guild of Washington, the association of ideas, this, that and other stimulus to memory, the name was conjured from the past. As it was flung aloft, in great jubilation, one of the assembled party, a theatrical producer, said: "By jove, I should have known that—she was my first wife." Such is fame!

while the thespians, in their carefree way, are out on the boards.

For the benefit of those who claim fair femininity must always be present on the stage, to incite interest, Mr. W. M. Wilkinson cites the strange case of "Journey's End." There are no women in the cast. The play was really discovered by Maurice Browne, coauthor of "Wings Over Europe," a Theater Guild production which played the National earlier in the season. There was another play without a woman in the cast. Gilbert Miller, coproducer of "Journey's End," in America, staged the womanless "Pasteur" in 1923 with his father, the late Henry Miller, as star. Now, just to show that it can be always done, Mr. Browne is going to produce another war play, one celebrating the battle of Jutland, and there'll be no woman in that cast, either.

Lee Somers calls attention to the fact that in a long Sunday feature story on amateur dramatics the name of Ann Wheaton was forgotten—along with the Eaton sisters, Mary, et al; that goes to show, of course, the fallibility of dramatic reviewers. Also, memory is a treacherous thing. Once, in this office, several old-timers were trying to recall the name of a great star. After a deal of deliberation, the association of ideas, this, that and other stimulus to memory, the name was conjured from the past. As it was flung aloft, in great jubilation, one of the assembled party, a theatrical producer, said: "By jove, I should have known that—she was my first wife." Such is fame!

Girl Reserves Will Give Fairy Tale Play Tonight

Girl Reserves of Washington will present their fourth annual spring fairy tale, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," in operetta form, at Barker Hall tonight and tomorrow afternoon. There are 30 important roles in the production while 62 other girls will appear in the ensemble numbers.

Singing choruses are directed by Miss Lucy Street, and the dancers by Mrs. Alice Sigworth Morse. Miss Elsa Peterson, chairman of Girl Reserves, and Miss Mabel Cook, secretary, are in charge of the presentation.

JOHNSON SEES HAYES AS REGULAR SECOND SACKER

SWEEPSTAKES, HEARTACHES, HEADACHES

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 3.—A few weeks ago, when the idle rich and other career men in the army of the unemployed and the ladies of the auxiliary services were engaged in winter maneuvers along the east coast of Florida, certain gentlemanly agents passed among them selling tickets—or chances, as one of the witty lads called them—for the first annual Agua Caliente Sweepstakes. The price was $2 per copy, or $20 for a book of ten; and as $2 just barely qualify as money in the Florida rate of exchange in winter, business was quite brisk.

The chaps who were down there, giving conscientious attention to their winter and early spring drinking, were more than a trifle surprised to learn that there was still something that could be bought for $2 along that coast, and this unique character gave the tickets—or chances, if one must make jokes, a certain value as curios. Myself, I did not buy any, as I figured that anything which sold for $2 in those parts probably was worth no more than $2—or, in round numbers, practically nothing.

However, a great many of the chaps viewed the proposition from another angle. They figured that in a country where the value of the $2 bill was practically negligible they couldn't get much the worse of any $2 transaction; so, as I say, trade was quite active in the tickets for the first annual Agua Caliente Sweepstakes and the chaps around the horse track took up a large piece of the issue among them.

Agents Accommodate All Customers.

I am rather slow to learn what is going on, so it was not until some time later that I found out that other agents had done a handsome business in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, and in fact had pretty well accommodated the trade in every town in the U. S. A. of sufficient size and breadth of mind to support and abide a poolroom or handbook.

On March 9 the drawing was held at Agua Caliente, where every prospect pleases and man is no more vile than elsewhere, but somewhat more frank about it. I am assured that everything was strictly scrupulous. In the first place, the enterprise was conducted, and personally endorsed by two distinguished sportsmen, long associated with the circus and cabaret trades, the Messrs. James Crofton and Baron Long, in whom, naturally, any suggestion of unscrupulosity in the administration of a pool of $2 bills would arouse active repugnance.

Then, also, the drawing was witnessed by a committee of three journalists from San Diego, Calif., and the tickets were plucked, one by one, by a little child, aged 6, and blindfolded, than which, of course, assurance could go no further. It has occurred to me that they did protest a bit too much when they went to the extent of blindfolding the little child, but children may be precocious and it is just as well not to trust them too generously.

No Margin for Profit Or Expense.

At any rate, it fell out that when the first annual Agua Caliente Handicap was run one week ago last Sunday and Victorian won the race, some farmer from Idaho held the winning number and was awarded the capital prize of $51,500. Second prize, about $25,000, went to somedne in Maryland, and so on down a diminishing scale of awards. I believe the exact proportions were 45 per cent of the total to the farmer from Idaho, 20 per cent to the party in Maryland, 10 per cent to the holder of the ticket on the third horse and 5 per cent to the one who owned the coupon for horse No. 4.

Then a further 10 per cent was divided among persons holding tickets for steeds which went to the post but met with delays on the way and so finished fifth or worse. And, finally, 5 per cent was apportioned among those who drew the names of the nonstarters. As there had been 79 nominees in the first place, this 5 per cent was spread rather thinly, the return being $88 for $2. The other 5 per cent was allotted to the gentlemanly agents who sold the tickets, being deducted, I suppose, at the source.

But this comes to 100 per cent of the total and one has to conclude either that the sportsmen who conducted the sweep did so at their expense or discovered some curious mathematical phenomenon whereby the whole exceeded 100 per cent and thus left some margin for expense, if not for profit. Sportsmen who run race tracks presently develop a wellnigh magic knack for figures and I would be the last one to indulge in captious criticism if this were the way of it.

Mere $115,000 Pool Is Surprising.

My only impression is one of mild surprise because the pool amounted to slightly less than $115,000, which is trivial money as compared with that amassed in the English Derby Sweeps of the Calcutta Turf Club and the Baltic and Stock Exchange Sweeps of London. The Calcutta is the largest lottery of the kind in the world, and last year's capital prize was almost a half-million dollars, but,

Open Net Play Faces Dark Prospect

Only U. S. and England Favor Plan; 20 Nations Opposed.

Play With Pros Seen as Death Knell of Amateur Tennis.

PARIS, April 3 (A.P.).—Despite agitation, not much hope is held out for any future lifting of the International Tennis Federation's ban on open tournaments. The United States and England alone voted in favor of allowing amateurs to compete with professionals at the federation assembly which overwhelmingly rejected the American proposal.

The 20 nations recorded in opposition are Germany, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Spain, France, Holland, Hungary, India, Italy, Monaco, New Zealand, Poland, South Africa, Switzerland, Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

France was conspicuous in opposition but the actual fight against the American proposal was led by Chevalier Paul de Borman, president of the Belgian Tennis Federation. The Belgian president, former Davis Cup player himself, argued that if the motion were put through, "tennis matches would become spectacles analogous to prize-fighting shows."

Would Confine Pros To Teaching.

M. de Borman thought and said that the work of tennis professionals should be confined to teaching the game to amateurs. To permit open tennis tournaments would sound the death knell of amateur tennis, he asserted.

For the French, M. Pierre Gillou, captain of the French Davis Cup Team, confined himself to indorsing the views of Chevalier de Borman.

The delegates of Australia and New Zealand, although previously instructed to vote for open championships, refrained from voting as a result of de Borman's address.

Rosenbloom-Johnson Likely to Fight Again

New York, April 3 (A.P.)—If the New York State Athletic Commission is willing, Larry Johnson, clouting Negro light-heavyweight from Chicago, will have his chance for revenge on Maxey Rosenbloom in Madison Square Garden April 30.

Johnson was suspended for 30 days for fouling Maxey in their first meeting in the Garden three weeks ago. Unless Johnson incurs further penalties, the return bout will feature the Knights of Columbus charity card, reopening the Garden April 30 after the departure of the circus, which sets in next Monday.

Tilden Mows Down 3 Opponents in France

St. Raphael, France, April 3 (A.P.).—Bill Tilden mowed down three opponents in short order today to reach the fourth round of the tennis tournament here. All three of his victims were players of purely local fame.

In the first round, the American champion defeated Tinling, 6—1, 6—2. Thoroughly warmed up, he then proceeded to win his second and third round matches in love sets at the expense of Tiessier and Nicolaides, respectively. At that point play was stopped by rain.

YANKEES SIGN COLLEGIAN.

Winchester, Ky., April 3 (A.P.).—A. J. Kertis, of South Bend, Ind., star southpaw at Kentucky Wesleyan College, today signed a four-year contract with the New York Yankees.

Earl Clark Is Fastest As Braves Stage Races

Macon, Ga., April 3 (A.P.).—Out in the Braves' big center pasture, where speed helps, Earl Clark is well equipped. In a series of races yesterday he showed his heels to the whole squad.

Lefty Ed Brandt traveled the fastest among the pitchers, "Rip" Collins among the catchers and Jack Kahn, recruit, among the infielders.

Earl Clark, stockily built Braves' outfielder, is a Washington youth and is noted here for his speed afoot. As a boy he was the municipal playground sprinting champion of the District.

Heel Afflicted, Hornsby Told To Quit

Growth May Cut His Career With Cubs Short, Is Belief.

Pain Prevents Him From Running; Has Suffered 2 Years.

LOS ANGELES, April 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Rogers Hornsby, the once great second sacker and premier batter, is through with baseball for some time, perhaps for all time.

For two years he has been afflicted with a growth on the bone of his right heel. It produced a pain that stopped Hornsby's field work. Most of last year his territory around second base was limited and he was not sure on grounders.

After an X-ray examination of his aching heel this morning Dr. F. C. Early discovered that the bone growth on the heel that was cut away last December had grown again and that it is absolutely necessary for him to quit.

Dr. Early calls the growth a "spur." Rogers has been ordered to rest up by Manager McCarthy. He will do nothing until the Cub Team gets to St. Louis, when Rogers will go to the doctor who in December operated on the original growth.

Announcement Shock To Team.

It will then be determined what the future holds for Hornsby. McCarthy has wired President William L. Veeck about the condition and it is possible that Rogers may be ordered to St. Louis in advance of the club.

The announcement came as a distinct shock to the team today. With Hornsby out of the line-up much of the Cub strength will be taken away. Hornsby said the new growth has given him considerable pain and that he finds it impossible to run.

Hornsby has been nursing the heel all spring. It has been extremely tender since the operation during the winter, but he figured that the exercise would toughen the member, but it grew more painful.

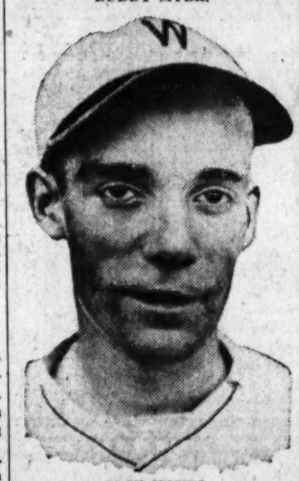
BUDDY MYER.



JACK HAYES.

Women's Golf Tourney Is Postponed by Rain

Pinehurst, N. C., April 3 (A.P.).—Rain that fell in cold, drizzling sheets and completely flooded the Pinehurst Country Club's sand greens and fairways caused postponement today of semifinal matches in the North and South Women's Golf Tournament.

The matches will be played tomorrow if the weather permits and the finals, in that event, will be Saturday.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., and Miss Glenna Collett, national champion, are bracketed in one semifinal while Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, Long Island, and Miss Edith Quier, of Reading, Pa., clash in the other.

Myer's Berth Is Seriously Menaced

Eclipsed in Fielding, He Must Show Consistent Hitting.

Team to Break Camp Today; Play Barons Tomorrow.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3.—Manager Walter Johnson tonight announced his Washington infield has not yet been definitely decided upon and that Jack Hayes has an excellent chance of starting at second base.

"What we need most is a punch," said Johnson, "and for that reason Buddie Myer has been getting the call. I think Hayes is a really great second sacker, however, and he's not far from being in the game right now. Myer can not approach him as a fielder and, unless Buddie shows consistent batting, he's likely to be out of there, even before the team returns home."

Johnson also stated that his present plans call for Fred Marberry to be the Washington pitcher in the opening game with the Red Sox, who already have announced Charley Ruffing as their probable starter.

Face Ten Games in As Many Days.

The Nationals completed their 1930 training season here with a short workout this morning and are now due to put on the finishing touches with ten games listed in as many days, starting with contests tomorrow and Saturday against the Barons at Birmingham. Although the weather here has been cold as a general proposition and there has been considerable rain, yesterday was the only entire day lost in training and the players seem to be close to ready.

The entire training season has been more or less of an experiment, with conditions quite different from those faced during the past ten springs, when Tampa was the training base.

In the past, the Nationals have battled under a red hot sun, which frequently had the players close to being "all in," and then they frequently slipped back as soon as they reached the colder northern climate.

Biloxi Air Conducive To Better Health.

At Biloxi during the first three weeks of preliminary workouts last month, it was noticeable that there were no players pulling up with bad colds or upset "tummies," while in

Ruth Puts on His Act Twice for Texans And Smiles Broadly, But Yanks Lose, 9-6

2 Balls Sail High and Wide Over Wichita Falls Fences.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 3 (N. Y. W. N. S.).—The famous Babe Ruth Circus was a howling success here this afternoon, even though the New York Yankees were beaten by the Wichita Falls Shudders by the score of 9 to 6. When Ruth comes to town he's the big attraction, and today George Herman was at his very best—and what a show he gave the big crowd.

The $80,000 beauty came to the plate in the first inning amid the cheers of the multitude. A big fellow by the name of White was pitching at the time, and he flipped three wide curves to the Babe, and the crowd groaned. Then Mr. White threw one in the alley, as the ball players say, and the Babe cracked it over the left center field fence.

But that was not the Babe's best act. He left his headliner for the sixth inning. Another big fellow, this one named Hillin, was now pitching for the Shudders. The Babe took a strike and a ball, and then waded into a fast one. And how he did wade! The ball sailed high and far over the center field fence and landed about a hundred yards on the other side of the park.

Man, boy and child, it was one of Ruth's longest Ruthian drives, and he has hit many since he came up to the big show. The crowd went wild now and gave a flock of Texan yells as the Home Run King jogged around the bases. The Babe himself seemed to enjoy his act, for he smiled his usual smile as he crossed the plate and tipped his cap to the crowd.

They gave another yell in the seventh inning. There was a young Texan girl dressed all in red out on the foul line trying to take his picture. A Wichita Falls player hit a foul down the right field line. Babe had no chance to catch the ball, but he purposely ran over to the foul line and posed for the Texas beauty. The big fellow is the most obliging guy in the world and never seems to be annoyed or peeved at the number of baseballs and other articles that he is asked to autograph every day.

Memphis, Tenn., April 3 (A.P.).—Gen. Alvin Crowder held Memphis to four hits, and the St. Louis Browns won today, 1 to 0, although they made only five hits—all singles—off Walter Beck, former St. Louis Brown hurler. Crowder was the first Brownie pitcher to go the full route this season.

Goslin Makes One Hit, Playing for Lookouts

Special to The Washington Post.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 3.—"Goose" Goslin, who will start in the Washington line-up at Birmingham tomorrow, asked and was given permission to play with the Chattanooga Lookouts against the Baltimore Orioles here this afternoon, drawing the right field assignment for six innings. He was at bat three times, cracking out one hit, lashing out a sacrifice fly and reaching first on "Stuffy" Stewart's error. He had no chances afield.

Second Griffith Bout Accepted by Gagnon

Boston, April 3 (A.P.).—Jack Gagnon, Boston heavyweight, who knocked out Tuffy Griffith at Philadelphia last Monday night, has agreed to meet Griffith at the Chicago Coliseum April 30, it was announced here today. Gagnon was given only an outside chance to defeat Griffith Monday, but knocked out the Sioux City boxer in the sixth round.

DINAH DID UPSET WINS BY NOSE IN MUD AT BOWIE

Pennant Lass Odds-On, Is Beaten Out

Le Blanc Rates Mount Back and Comes Fast at End.

Garlic Takes Opener; Judge Bartlett Wins Over Algol.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

S. W. LABROT'S Upset filly, Dinah Did Upset, was the rainy-day sensation at Bowie yesterday, in winning the feature race, the Attractive Purse, for fillies, vanquishing the odds-on favorite, Pennant Lass, but only by a nose, in one of the fiercest stretch runs that has marked the meeting of close finishes.

Pennant Lass further established her recently acquired reputation as a quitter in a drive, as she emphasized also in the running of the Inaugural Handicap, when, after taking a long lead, was beaten on the wire. But in the Inaugural Dinah Did Upset showed poor form, and if a charge of form reversal were made it would lie against the Labrot filly, more than against Pennant Lass.

Changed track conditions probably was the cause of the different race on the two days of today's feature winner, for she was 70 yards or more behind Pennant Lass on the opening day. Coming into the stretch today, Pennant Lass cleared the turn with at least three lengths' advantage, but she began to weaken when the Labrot filly began her challenge in the stretch. Another thing noticeable in the stretch drive was the perfect ride of LeBlanc on the winner, compared to the weak finish of Thurber. Belle of Govans was an indifferent third, finishing five lengths back of Pennant Lass and a length in front of Rueful, in a field of six. The time was good for a muddy track, 1:12 3-5, 6 furlongs.

Annapolis First to Win Two Races.

Walter J. Salmon's Man o' War colt, Annapolis, was drawing away at the end of the mile and a sixteenth of the Whitemarsh Purse to win by a length and a half in 1:49 4-5 and attain the honor of having been the first horse during the present meeting to win two races. The Walbri Farm's Strongheart was second, a head in front of C. Graffagnini's Arcturus. Mole Hill was fourth in the field of five and Lightview last.

Quackenbush made a protest to the stewards concerning his mount, Strongheart, which was ignored. Annapolis paid even money.

Arcturus set a fast pace almost to the turn when Annapolis got to him. Strongheart, prominent contender in the early part of the race, dropped back but came again in the stretch to nip the place from Arcturus.

Garlic, Outsider, Takes Opener.

The talent slipped a cog in the first race when the Nevada Stock Farm's Garlic, outsider, were down Princess Tell, in the field group, winning by two lengths with R. Merrison up. The Brandon Stable's Brandon Dare was third, a head from the place money, and Marcheur was fourth.

The winner paid $17.10 for $2. The track was heavy, but the rain had ceased by post time in the first race. The crowd was curtailed by the inclement weather but many came late and swelled the attendance. The time for the half mile was 0:48 4-5.

The entry of the Dixiana Farm and Alex Barkley, Noajoyce and My Inver, was backed into early favorites, then the crowd took up the notion, by the good showing of J. E. Davis' horses in the past few days, that Abitibi was the chosen one and her price slumped from 15 to around 2 to 1, but Garlic and Princess Tell cut out most of the running. Princess Tell ran wide turning into the stretch carrying Abitibi wide with her, but she came again and held her own to a nose finish. Bounder was coupled in the field with Princess Tell, paying $13.60 for place.

St. Tuscan Leads All The Way in Second.

R. A. Smith's St. Tuscan, at home in the mud, led all the way to win the second race, fashioned for 3-year-olds at 6 furlongs. The Rancocas Stable's Columbus came from eleventh position to finish second, and W. H. Snyder's Guilder was third. Three lengths separated the first and second horses and five lengths further back, the third horse checked in. Mutual Friend was fourth. The time was 1:13 1-5. The winner, the favorite, was $6.80 to win.

S. Renick shot St. Tuscan into the lead from the barrier, but Columbus held the others at the first turn. In the stretch Cannon attempted to challenge with Columbus, but St. Tuscan was drawing away at the end, Guilder was a close second choice to the winner.

Judge Bartlett Beats Algol in Thriller.

The third race was 7 furlongs out of the chute and the field was reduced to seven starters by the withdrawal of Lindy just before post time. Richard Pending's Judge Bartlett won in a sensational nose finish from J. C. Costello's Algol. Two lengths back, Stupendous finished third. Frank Fullen was fourth. The time was 1:27 2-5. The winner paid $4.90 and was the favorite.

Algol came into the stretch three lengths in the lead, but when Carlisle began moving up with Judge Bartlett, it became apparent that it would be a horse race with doubt to the last strike whether Judge Bartlett could catch the leader, although making up ground fast. The finish was about the closest of the meeting.

Chattering Easily Beats Platers in Sixth.

Chattering, a frequent winner at New Orleans the last winter, carried the colors of Mrs. Blanche Watson to an easy victory over seven claiming 3-year-olds in the sixth over the distance of 1 1/16 miles. The time of the race, 1:49 2-5, was exceptionally good over the bad track prevailing.

Chattering jumped into the lead shortly after the barrier's rise and led all the way. She was never in serious trouble. Her mutuel price was $9.70. Associate, always close up, finished gamely, but was unable to get to the winner. She easily took the place by two lengths. Pink Coat lasted to whip Mary Eloise for the show. Play a Bit was off his stride when the barrier went up and closed a lot of ground to finish going swiftly.

The longest shot of the day came down in front in the seventh race. G. B. Foley's John W. Weber led a big band of platers over the mile and sixteenth route to win by a neck from Spurrier, the second choice, who was five lengths in front of Fire On, a field horse, which was third.

NATS' CAMP NEXT YEAR IN DOUBT

Griffith Awaits Results of Training at Two Sites..

was warm enough to work up good sweats and continually advance, with the invigorating air keeping all of Johnson's men peppy at all times, President Griffith withheld decision as to whether or not his team would return there next spring until after the shift here had been completed.

While the Nationals have not been able to get in as many strenuous workouts here as was desired, due to the fact that on several occasions, like today, the diamond was not available because of rain the previous night or early morning, all seem to have held their edge while, at the same time to become slightly hardened and used to weather more of the kind they will run into when they start touring toward home Sunday night.

Griffith Awaiting Training Results.

President Griffith, however, is not sure whether the Biloxi-Chattanooga combination camp gave his men as much work as they need and so will not make a definite decision until after the coming season starts and he sees how the Nationals compare to their opponents in training. Indications are that he will try out the same plan next spring, except that the period at Biloxi will be a little longer than it was this year.

It is the pitchers who need the hard work more than any of the others and there is no question but what Manager Walter Johnson has his moundsmen in better shape than they have ever been at this same stage of the training period. Already Irving Hadley has gone the route once and is due to do so again before the Nats reach home, while Adolph Liska will be asked to toil for nine frames against the Barons Saturday, with Lloyd Brown doing the same thing against the Boston Braves here on the Sabbath. In fact, the only ones not likely to pitch at least one entire game before the regular season starts are "Sad Sam" Jones and Garland Braxton.

Hadley and Marberry To Face Barons.

The Nationals are scheduled to leave here early this evening for Birmingham, where they hope to get revenge tomorrow for the beating they received at the hands of Zeb Milan's boys on March 21. Fred Marberry and Irving Hadley will divide the hurling duties in this game, while, as stated above, Liska will get the call on Saturday.

Goose Goslin took his first workout, showing plenty of pep. While he did not have the sympathy of all of his mates in his salary ruckus with the club, there is no question but what his entrance into the fold was generally welcomed. As one player expressed it: "If the Goose has a good year at all, he's likely to mean the difference to us between a first division and a second division berth," which is only too true.

There was quite a reunion at the Nats headquarters here this morning when the Baltimore Club arrived to meet the Lookouts this afternoon. With the Orioles are pitcher "Big Jim" Weaver and infielder John "Stuffy" Stewart, former Nats, while Bobby Lamotte, of Chattanooga, and George Loepp, former Baltimoreans, were on hand to greet their former mates.

Don Savidge, Washington rookie, claims the distinction of being Johnson's best rainy day pitcher. He has been listed to work in the only two games which the Nats have had to postpone during the spring season to date.

BOWIE NOTES

THE haltermen have been busy here. The following horses were claimed the first two days of the meeting: Burlap, $2,500, to Martin Eckman; Mary McNeal, $2,500, to E. J. Smallman; Searington, $2,000, to Jaces Coffey; Keydet, $1,750, to Dr. J. Fred Adams; Jack Hawksley, $1,500, to W. A. Amberger.

Vander Pool, star in Florida, and Prince d'Amour, king of New Orleans 2-year-olds, worked yesterday here. Vander Pool went three-eighths in 0:37 3-5, pulled up; Prince d'Amour breezed a half in 0:50. They They are being pointed for the Bowie Kindergarten.

Parnell Bound came out of his race Tuesday badly cut up and lame. The veteran Opperman will race no more. He was the claiming plater that became a stake horse.

Frankie Coltiletti is here from Agua Caliente to ride free lance at Bowie, but will join the Willis Sharpe Kilmer outfit at Havre de Grace, to which he is under contract.

Richard Pending purchased Wayfarer and Companion from W. J. Salmon at private terms.

Pending advises horsemen to ship no more horses here, as all of the 1,100 stalls are occupied.

W. Hildreth, who rode his first mount today, is no relation of the late wizard, Sam Hildreth.

C. Ward, colored, rode his first race Wednesday. When asked where his mount, Guffie, finished, he replied: "I didn't finish last, and when they give me a horse I will win."

Scott Harlan, who wintered the Jeffords horses at Berlin, Md., has moved on to Havre de Grace with the 26 head.

"TOM THUMB" OF THE JOCKEYS

Hugh Miller, Post Staff Photographer.

Joseph Passero, mite apprentice rider under contract to George Brenton, receives the felicitations of Andrew J. (Cy) Cummings, president of the Maryland State Fair Association. Passero, now riding at Bowie, was a sensation at the recent Havana meeting.

Boots and Saddle's

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

—Bowie Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

THE change in track conditions here threw no damper on the entry of horses in the card for today. The card for tomorrow will be enlivened by two handicaps, the Flash and the Old Dominion, and the James Rowe Memorial will feature the week-end program.

FEATURE RACE—The Aspirant is for 3-year-olds, fourth on the program today, at 6½ furlongs. The Rancocas Stable's ZUBLENA, scratched Wednesday, but having a good workout yesterday, looks best of the field of seven named in the overnight entries. She has had enough racing at New Orleans to put her in good condition, and demonstrated there her quality, and is selected to win. BETTY BEAU, a very fast filly last year, but which was not engaged in winter racing, looks like a dangerous contender. At her best, she would be favorite. Without recent racing second is more prudent placing. The H. P. Whitney entry, IRIDESCENT, withdrawn on opening day, is highly regarded, and should hold the others safe. Rod Rack is little above the plater class and is inconsistent.

FIRST RACE—This race, for maiden 3-year-olds, does not call for much, except in numbers, there being 14 entered, with six on the eligible list, and 10 excluded, showing the preponderance of cheap horses. FRANCIS ST. L. is picked to win on winter form, PRINCESS HENRY worked fast yesterday, and might get the brackets. TRICKEY COLONEL is a show possibility. STAR has a big chance, but is doubtful, being last on the eligible list.

SECOND RACE—Much interest will be added to this race for 2-year-olds because of the presence in the entries of VANDER POOL, the unbeaten star of Miami racing and a good mudder. He had three clean-cut victories over the Hialeah course over the strongest opposition that could be mustered against him in the South and breezed a fast half-mile at Bowie yesterday morning. He should win, but his opposition may be stronger than in the South. The Dorwood Stable will send its fast but untried colt under colors, WESTERNER, in this dash. He was entered opening day, but withdrawn and undoubtedly will be the contender. This will be the strongest test a winter 2-year-old has encountered. AIRLINER and SMEAR will represent the H. P. Whitney interests and they look better than any of the others in the large field. SCHOONER, from the Rancocas Stable, ran well at New Orleans this year.

THIRD RACE—APOSTLE appears to be well placed in the third race at 6 furlongs for cheap horses. He won his last start in the South and is more than the equal of any plater in this field. The mud will not impair his chances. DOCTOR FRED, a useful plater, probably will be the contender. TIN HAT, a Florida double winner, should hold the others safe.

FIFTH RACE—LAURIE and GADALONG should be the contenders. LAURIE ran Searing to a head Wednesday, and many in the press stand though had won. He likes a soft track and is picked to win. GADALONG is slow to get started, but will put up a dangerous stretch drive. WOOLORAC is rated third, on his New Orleans form.

SIXTH RACE — REJUVENATION, withdrawn the other day, is fit from winter racing and ought to get brackets in the sixth, a mile and a sixteenth. He outclasses his field. SEARINGTON, winner Wednesday, may make it a close race, and MAXIVA should improve, especially on a soft track.

SEVENTH RACE—Anything can win the seventh race, but on the strength of her good workout yesterday, the old-timer, ALITA ALLEN, is put in nomination for the purse. CHATTAHOOCHEE, which suffered interference the other day, will improve and has a chance in this company. JUDGE CAVERLY may be the third horse.

Lexington Race Track To Try Starting Stalls

Lexington, Ky., April 3 (A.P.).—Lexington is to use starting stalls. The contrivance will be given a trial at the fifteen-day spring race meeting opening April 15. Sewell S. Combs, president of the Kentucky Association, said that if successful here, they will be installed at the Louisville and Latonia race courses.

The stalls, invented by C. M. Waite, resemble miniature houses, with an inverted "V"-shaped top, or "roof," with a rounded coronet atop four steel legs which push into the ground to make the gate firm once it is in place.

Each stall reaches about to the saddle cloth of a horse. The usual tape barrier is used in front of the contrivance.

G. U. AND CATHOLIC MEET INVADING NINES TODAY

Hilltop Team To Engage Cornell

Seeks 7th Straight Win; Cardinals to Meet Vermont.

Local Lads on Teams Is Heightening New Interest in Game.

By JACK ESPEY.

COLLEGE baseball, which seems to be enjoying a healthier condition locally than in several years past, will be resumed today when Georgetown and Catholic play hosts, respectively, to Cornell and Vermont at Washington Barracks and Brookland Stadium diamonds. Both games will commence at 3:30 o'clock.

Thus far neither Georgetown nor Catholic has tasted defeat on a Capital field, the former having won four straight games and the latter two, one of which was forfeited. The strong Villanova College Nine was the team that forfeited to C. U., but the Brooklanders were leading at the time the game closed in a row between the Villanova players and the umpire.

Including its first three games played in the South, Georgetown's record shows six successive triumphs, as the Hoyas won from Wake Forest and Guilford after losing their opener to Davidson before they started activities here. They have downed Franklin and Marshall, Dartmouth, Drexel and Vermont in that order since the local season opened.

Gallaudet-Vermont Game Rained Out.

Gallaudet's scheduled opener with Vermont yesterday was called off, owing to the inclement weather, and the Kendall Green team thus was denied competition until tomorrow when it has a game listed with Maryland State Normal at Towson, Md.

In both games today, the local clubs face bright chances of continuing their winning streaks. Cornell has not shown enough strength in its earlier contests to cause any fears for Georgetown, while Vermont has failed utterly to impress. The Green Mountain boys have yet to register a victory on their invasion of the South.

In all likelihood the pitching choices for the home teams will be Harry Noznesky for Georgetown and Lou Hurley for Catholic. Noznesky was victorious in both of his previous starts, and Hurley pitched C. U. to triumph in its debut with Dartmouth last Monday, yielding only two hits, including an infield single.

Capital Boys Perform With Local Schools.

The presence of Washington natives in the line-ups of Georgetown and Catholic is, perhaps, causing a reawakening of interest in those teams among Capital fans.

Walter Morris and Bill Rapp, former St. John's Prep stars, are doing fine work with Georgetown, while "Whitey" Peifer, formerly of Gonzaga High, and Tom Dunn, another former St. John's flash, are featuring for the Brookland Team.

Peifer and Dunn in two games thus far have collected six of a total of fifteen hits made by Catholic, while in the outfield each has turned in clever catches that cut off alien runs. Dunn is winding up his baseball career at C. U., this being his second season on the diamond there. He played in the outfield in 1928, but was unable to serve last year because of the pressure of classroom duties.

V. P. I. IS HOST TO W. & M. TRACKMEN

Gobblers Look for Strong Opposition in Meet.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, Va., April 3.—A sturdy-limbed band of runners from the College of William and Mary, Virginia Conference track and field camps, will come up from the seacoast this week to open the new season at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Eager to register their first victory over the Gobblers in the initial invasion of Miles Stadium, the Indians will head into the southwest with a gala array of veteran performers. Stadium records are threatened by this tribe of redskins, who rode to victory in the Virginia Conference loop and repeated with brilliant performances during the recent indoor season. Many of the flashiest performers of the invading host are sophomores who will trot in varsity togs for the first time in Saturday's meet.

Leading the Indians is a youngster named Bill Scott, who has burned the cinders up and down the Old Dominion in the dash events. Johnson, star of the sophomore cast, turned in the third fastest half-mile run in America last year while just a freshman. This lad also has to his credit a faster mile than Miles Stadium has yet seen.

V. P. I. Also Looks To New Talent.

Then there are Syer, in the javelin; Shipp and Smithers in the dashes; Mapp, quarter-miler; Trowbridge and Swentzel, weight stars, all ready to open their varsity careers under the tricolor of William and Mary.

V. P. I. also looks to new talent in the shot put, dashes and the middle and longer distances, and will take the field with a veteran array in other events. Stanley Rhinehart, former Virginia high school dash champ, is teamed with Martin and Harrison McCann in the dashes. Jim Swart, sophomore weight star, will make his varsity debut, as will Johnny Miles, George Elder and Ralph Overstreet in the distance runs. Julian Preble, Henry McCann and Carlyle Wade carry Tech hopes in the hurdle events.

In two preceding clashes with the Indians, V. P. I. was victor at Blacksburg in 1926 and at Williamsburg in 1928. The meet this year will be witnessed by several hundred girls on the campus from Virginia and adjoining States for the annual Easter dances of the German and Cotillion Clubs. The first event is scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

Montgomery County Nines Meet to Organize League

Nine Teams to Be Represented at Meeting at Rockville Tonight; Much Interest Is Manifest.

THE first step toward the organization of an extensive unlimited championship baseball series under the direction of the Capital City League will be undertaken tonight when representatives of leading Montgomery County nines will meet at the Rockville Fire Department Engine House at 8 o'clock.

Nine teams announced their intentions to have representatives at this gathering and before the session is adjourned it is expected all of these teams and probably several others will be organized into a circuit. All teams in Montgomery County have been invited to send representatives.

Those teams expected to be represented tonight are the Takoma Tigers, Silver Spring Giants, Rockville A. A., Kensington National Guard, Kensington Firemen, Friendship A. C., Chevy Chase Grays, Damascas and Dickerson.

Six of these teams figured in a spirited title race late last season and it is planned to start the race earlier this year. Efforts are being made to align ten teams for the series.

F. Barnard Welsh, president of the Rockville A. A., is one of the prime movers behind the circuit and predicts an enthusiastic meeting tonight. The men fostering the league hope to organize and make plans for the series at tonight's meeting.

College Sports Chiefs To Address Columbus U.

Athletic directors of four local colleges will be the principal speakers at the first annual sports banquet of Columbus University, which will be held next Thursday night at the Mayflower Hotel. Tom Mills, of Georgetown; James E. Pixlee, of George Washington; Walter H. Young, of American, and Jack McAuliffe, of Catholic, will address the banquet while Fred Rice, C. U. basket ball coach, and H. Heinrich Spang, of Southwestern University, will also speak.

The banquet will commemorate the first year in collegiate athletic circles of Columbus U., and will be sponsored by the "C" Club. It will be open to the public, which may procure tickets at the University, 1314 Massachusetts avenue. The award of the C sweaters to the varsity members of the basket ball team and awards to the participants in minor sports will be made at the banquet.

Navy and Yale Nines Idle; Play Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 3.—The first of two baseball games between Navy and Yale, scheduled to be played here today, was prevented by rain. The Eli squad, including Albie Booth and other stars of the gridiron, as well as the diamond, remained in Washington and notified Naval Academy athletic officials they will come to Annapolis tomorrow for the second scheduled encounter. The Blue tossers are now on their annual Southern trip and planned to use the Middies' diamond for workouts over a period of several days.

Bieber, Young Cyclist, To Try for New Mark

Ed Bieber, youthful District bicycle champion, will make an effort to break the record for the Washington-Baltimore route Sunday. The present record of 1 hour 44¾ minutes is held by Charles Glock, Baltimore speedster. The record was set June 17, 1928.

Bieber, who has been training for several weeks, will be accompanied and timed by three judges, including Robert J. Connor, former national sprint champ.

POTOMACS HAVE FOE.

The Potomac A. C. Nine will clash with the Clovers of Alexandria on No. 7 Monument diamond Sunday at 1 o'clock. The Potomacs have Farrell, Irving, Kannihan, Hile, Jarvis, Mehler, A. Rosenbaum, Trundle, Donaldson, B. Rosenbaum, Reeves, Best, N. Rosenbaum, Beans, Robey and George signed.

DEBUT TODAY FOR SCHOOL NINES

Western High Ready to Meet Georgetown Prep.

BASEBALL for the high schools will officially be ushered in for the 1930 season today, when Western High stacks up against Georgetown Prep on the Garrett Park diamond at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, in the first game of the season for the local high school nine. Rained out of their tapering-off drill yesterday, Western, nevertheless, is ready for the fray.

Coach Clifton Moore has selected Tom Poore, a member of the mound squad last year, to do the hurling, notwithstanding the fact that Bill Payne is expected to bear the major portion of Western's pitching activities this year. Poore, a right-hander, as is Payne, has been showing up well recently in Western's daily drills and his mentor is anxious to see the lad under fire. Yowell, a second-string catcher last year, has apparently clinched the receiving job, and will hold down Poore's slants this afternoon.

Two Veterans in New Positions.

Although three members of last year's team are back, two of them will be in strange positions, with the result that the team will be practically a new one to Western followers. Capt. Bob Freeman, all-high first baseman last year, has been shifted to shortstop to allow Clarence Fox, a newcomer, to play the initial sack. Fox's only weakness is said to be his hitting, but the youngster will be given a chance to disprove this in the first few games. Quincy Owens, regular backstop last year, will play second, while George Clark, a sandlotter, will hold down third.

With Fletcher the only regular holding over in the outfield, Tabler and Kaylor are to be sent to left and right, respectively.

GRAYS START SEASON.

The Chevy Chase Grays will start their season Sunday, journeying to Fort Washington to meet the Soldiers. A practice is slated tomorrow on the Chevy Chase diamond. The Grays, who rounded out the season last year with 22 straight wins, will enter the Montgomery County series.

W. & L. Elects Belser Captain of Wrestling

Lexington, Va., April 2.—Washington and Lee's 1931 wrestling team will be led by Townsend M. Belser, of Columbia, S. C. Belser, a junior in the college of liberal arts, has wrestled for the Generals in the 145-pound class for two years. During the regular 1930 campaign he was undefeated, winning from wrestlers representing the Army, North Carolina State, V. P. I., William and Mary and Virginia.

Alexandria School Nines Launch Season Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., April 3.—Baseball teams of two local high schools open their 1930 season today when Alexandria High entertains Hyattsville here on Baggett's field and Episcopal High goes to St. Alban's for a game in Washington.

Although no definite line-ups have been announced, coaches of both teams have named their starting batteries. Tilton is expected to pitch for Episcopal and Carter catch, while Bacchus will hurl for Alexandria with Mudd on the receiving end.

7-Team Golf League Planned by Gonzaga

A golf league in which St. John's and Georgetown Prep have already assured support, and to which Devitt Emerson, St. Alban's and Friends have been invited, has been planned by Gonzaga High School golfers. The public high schools have had such a league for the past few seasons.

Gonzaga is already looking forward to a successful year on the links and will open its season a week from today, playing the Maryland Park High School at East Potomac Park. Any teams, scholastic or otherwise, desiring games should communicate with Manager Stanley O'Sullivan at Gonzaga High School.

Leading Duckpin Teams To Clash at Clarendon

The Bethesda and Clarendon Duck Pin Teams, which finished first and second, respectively, in the national tournament, will meet Saturday, April 12, at Clarendon in the initial five-game block of a ten-game total pinfall battle. The second block will be rolled the following week at Bethesda.

The match was arranged after George L. Isemann, secretary of the national organization, had ruled out a protest made by the Clarendon Team, claiming that it was credited with ten pins less than actually felled at Waterbury.

Lucy Owen Wins Cup In Duckpin Tourney

Lucy Owen rounded out a successful season in the Eastern Star Duckpin League by winning the all-events and singles title and sharing the doubles crowd with Helen Whitbeck in the first tournament held by the league. Mrs. Owen's nine-game total of 953 earned her the silver trophy. Mrs. Whitbeck was the only other bowler to pass 900 for all events.

Miller Joins Navy Spring Grid Coaches

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 3.—E. J. "Rip" Miller, former football star at Notre Dame, arrived in Annapolis today and will give a lift to "Navy Bill" Ingram, Navy's head football coach, during the remainder of the spring practice sessions. Miller was line coach of the Middies during the campaigns of 1926 and 1927. Navy was anxious to have him on the staff the last two seasons, but Miller turned offers aside because of business affairs, and it is known that the Navy Athletic Association still is negotiating with the former Rambler ace to come to Annapolis next fall.

Ingram is also being assisted in the spring roundup by Huggins, former Brown University athlete.

Oxford-Cambridge Stick Team Routs Shoremen

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., April 3.—Under a drenching rain that quickly transformed Washington Field into a sea of mud, Parinholt, first attack of the Oxford-Cambridge University Lacrosse Team and former Johns Hopkins student, scored the first tally that sent the English twelve to an 18-0 victory over Washington College here this afternoon. The Baltimoreans' score came after three minutes of play and in the next three minutes, despite heroic work on the part of Stewart, local goalie, R. Ainsworth sent another score into the net on a flip shot just outside the crease.

Fielden, Giddings and Rains followed with beautiful long shots that sank into the net and before the rain had ceased toward the close of the period the visitors had chalked up nine clean goals. It was the beginning of a scoring spree that swept a like number of tallies through the Washington defense in the second period.

Though the work of Bringhurst, Capt. Warthen and Moore, who went in for the local leader at center, was a feature of the tilt, local stick wielders were no match for the skillful passing game unleashed by the university men whose teamwork crashed through all opposition while in easy fashion score after score was flipped into the net.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Answered by BOB CRUICKSHANK,
Winner of Los Angeles, San Antonio, Hot Springs, North-and-South Open Championships, 1927; Maryland Open, 1928.

As has already been said hundreds of times, putting is really a one-handed stroke. The right hand is always in control of the club, assisted by the right elbow, which is steadied by pressing close to the body during the entire stroke. The right wrist is fixed slightly on the back swing, with the left hand and wrist merely following it back. On the down swing the right wrist is straightened and the left wrist comes into play in raising the club on the slight follow through. In each instance, however, it is the right hand and wrist that dominate the club. Also, most players will find a good heavy putter to their advantage.

CORINTHIANS MEET.

All Corinthian insect, midget and junior players will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Immaculate Conception Hall, Eighth and N streets northwest. All new and old candidates are asked to report.

LIONELS TO GATHER.

Lionel A. C. members will meet tonight in Fisher Hall, Wisconsin avenue and N street, at 8:15 o'clock. Candidates for the senior, junior, midget, insect and peewee nines are asked to report.

LINCOLN POST BACK.

The Lionel A. C. will again place a nine in the American Legion baseball series as representatives of Lincoln Post. The Lionel-Lincoln combination was the runner-up last season. The Lincoln Post will draw its high school players from Central High School.

Burtons Win Duckpin Event at Mt. Ranier

Frank W. Burton and his son, Wallace Burton, of Branchville, Md., won the father and son duckpin tournament completed yesterday at the Mount Rainier Recreation Alleys. Their 700 total topped Harry and Jack Wilson by 3 pins. A. J. and E. J. Dean, of Alexandria, were third with a 693 total. Twenty father and son teams competed during the duration of the tournament.

Gallant Fox, Flying Gal In Fast Derby Tryouts

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—"Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, trainer for William Woodward's Belair Stud, showed his Kentucky Derby hand today, when he sent Gallant Fox and Flying Gal over the 6-furlong course at Aqueduct in the fast time of 1:16.

Gallant Fox, which has been made the future book favorite at 8 to 1, was at the ⅝ pole in 1:01 2-5 after traveling the first 3 furlongs under the tight restraint of Jockey Abel, contract rider for the stable. Flying Gal, in her speedy trial with an exercise boy aboard, was paced by Prisius, a double stake winner in Canada last season.

"Both horses are in fine shape," said Fitzsimmons, "but whether they go to the post in the derby depends on Mr. Woodward."

Cadets and Cavaliers In Double Track Bill

Lexington, Va., April 3.—The V. M. I. track and field men, both varsity and freshmen, will get into action Saturday in a double-header meet with Virginia at Charlottesville.

The varsity's weakness in the hurdles, dashes and jumps is expected to outweigh any advantage gained in the weights events and races. Capt. Jack Read, pole vaulter; Charlie Holtzclaw, quarter miler; Bob Mitchell, half miler; Jack Bond, miler; Ham Smith, 2-miler; Bill Haase, shot putter, and Aubrey Grow, javelin star, are the likeliest first or second place winners.

In spite of recent cold weather and the lack of indoor practice during the winter, Smith, "Big Four" cross-country champion, is running his 2 miles in close to ten minutes.

U. of Va. 12 Prepares For Oxford-Cambridge

University, Va., April 3.—Virginia's first lacrosse game will be an event of unusual importance this year. The first foe of the Cavaliers will be the Oxford-Cambridge Team, which comes to Lambeth Field next Monday, April 7.

The University of Virginia is one of fourteen leading educational institutions in the United States that were selected to play the distinguished visiting athletes, who will remain in America until April 24.

Virginia's stickmen, under the joint instruction of Dr. Allen Voshell and Gus Welch, promise to present a better combination this season than at any time since the Indian game was taken up here.

Five meets are included on the 1930 lacrosse card. All but one of these contests will be played at home. The schedule follows:

April 7, Oxford - Cambridge, at home; April 11, Randolph-Macon, at home; April 17, Georgia Tech, at home; April 21, University of Georgia, at home; April 30, St. Johns, in Annapolis.

One Position Vacant On Eastern Relay Team

Eastern High School's track men will resume active work on Monday for their outdoor season. Their next competition will come on April 18, when Coach "Mike" Kelley takes a mile relay team to the Penn relays, at Philadelphia.

Although Clow, Swope, and Chester Miles have virtually assured themselves positions on the relay team, the fourth position is being bitterly contested at present. Three men, Smoak, Richards, and Weber, appear to be equally matched and Kelley will take his fourth man from that trio.

EDWARDS AN OLD COURT STAR

Mal Edwards, Tech High School baseball coach, is also more than proficient in basket ball. The newest mentor at Washington's newest school was a star court performer for Wabash College in Indiana two years ago.

COLUMBIANS BOOK GAME.

The Columbians have scheduled a game with the Wonder Boys Nine Sunday at 1 o'clock on No. 1 Monument diamond. Sullivan is slated to pitch for the former team.

WANT EVENING GAMES.

The Takoma Cubs are seeking evening games with strong teams in the unlimited class. Call Manager Earl Kadan at Shepherd 2913-J between 7 and 8 p. m.

AZTECS SEEK SUNDAY FOE.

The Aztec Nine is seeking a strong unlimited foe for Sunday at 3 o'clock, at which time it has a diamond. Call West 1284. The Aztecs will practice tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the West Ellipse.

MUST KEEP ELIGIBLE.

Although Eastern High's Baseball Team is not affected by eligibility at present, the Light Blue and White will not play its first interhigh series game until after the second advisory is completed, which may, or may not, have a disastrous effect.

CHICKASAWS OPEN.

The newly organized Chickasaws will open their season Sunday when they play the District Grocery Store Nine at 3 o'clock on Monument Lot, No. 1. For games, call Arthur Holder at Potomac 3140-J.

CHALLENGE WONDER BOYS.

The Langdon Insects who are seeking games with teams in their class especially challenge the Wonder Boys. Call North 6183.

HYATTSVILLE NINE OUT.

Henry Hiser has called the first drill of the season for the Hyattsville All-Stars Sunday on Riverdale diamond at 2 o'clock. All of last year's players and any newcomers wishing to join the team are requested to report.

Wynne, of Creighton, To Coach Alabama Poly

Auburn, Ala., April 3 (A.P.).—Chester "Chet" Wynne, football coach at Creighton University, Omaha, Nebr., since 1923, has been signed by President Bradford Knapp as football coach at Alabama Polytechnic Institute for three years. Wynne will assume his new duties here May 1.

Wynne was selected by some experts in 1921 as being the outstanding fullback in collegiate football. He played fullback under Knute Rockne at Notre Dame for three years, graduating in 1922.

He went to Creighton in 1923, where his teams won a majority of their games, playing some of the strongest teams in the Southwest. Under his direction Creighton won thirteen consecutive games and one season lost only one game.

Wynne comes highly recommended to Auburn authorities. Knute Rockne, his former coach, wired Dr. Knapp: "Wynne, of Creighton, very good coach. Fine character and tireless worker. Knows Notre Dame system of play intimately. He will go long way. Can not go wrong on him."

Dispatches from Omaha quote Wynne as saying his salary at Auburn will be $12,000 a year.

V. P. I. NINE IDLES.

Blacksburg, Va., April 3.—V. P. I.'s opening game with the Elon College Nine was canceled because of wet grounds, here today. Intermittent showers during morning and afternoon made Miles Stadium unfit for use today, but the scheduled finale of the two-game series will be played tomorrow, if no more rain falls before game time.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

COMMON SKIN DISEASES.

DR. HERMAN GOODMAN advises the general run of physicians to learn just 10 diseases of the skin, and then forget the 999 other sorts and kinds, unpronounceable names and all. Should a case of skin trouble not in this group of ten come along let him send the patient to a skin specialist and go on his unfretted way. By concentrating on ten he can have a good working knowledge of how to recognize them, how to cure them, and how to prevent. If he tries to learn all skin diseases and do his other work besides he will spread out too thin to be of service to his patients, or to give aid that will satisfy himself or anybody else.

These ten comprise 90 per cent of all skin troubles anyhow. If he refers the people with rarer skin troubles to specialists his services as a signpost will not be in frequent demand at that. The ten, in the order of their frequency, are given as: Eczema, acne, scabies, psoriasis, seborrhea, impetigo, urticaria, dermatitis venenata, tinea and alopecia.

A considerable number of physicians reported that one-half of all the skin troubles they saw were due to one-half of this ten, though the physicians were not in agreement as to all of the diseases to be included in this subgroup of five, and which were to be put in the second class. Five of the ten can be rather certainly cured or prevented. A physician who knows the job, and is willing to study his case closely enough, can be pretty certain he can cure. He can also give advice which will prevent. These five are: Eczema, scabies, urticaria, dermatitis venenata and tinea. Many other physicians would add impetigo to this five. As to acne, psoriasis, seborrhea and alopecia, they would be much more reserved in their opinions.

Since what is called eczema is such a large group of diseases, and since these vary so much and have such different causes, physicians might want to divide the cases into subgroups, feeling sure of their ground as to certain subgroups but more cautious as to others.

EYES AND BLOOD PRESSURE.

N. C. writes: In what way are the eyes affected in high blood pressure?

REPLY.

Inflammation of the retina is one of the most important effects of high blood pressure and one of the most serious of the eye diseases. Whenever the blood pressure is high the blood vessels of the retina should be periodically examined. Hemorrhage of the retina, detachment of the retina, and glaucoma are other eye troubles that may accompany increased blood vessel tension.

CURE IS POSSIBLE.

Daily Reader writes: 1. Is there any difference between tuberculosis and consumption?

2. Can tuberculosis in the third stage be cured?

REPLY.

1. They are essentially the same. Infection with tubercle bacillus anywhere is called tuberculosis. Infection which causes a certain type of lung disease is called consumption.

2. Yes. However, the more advanced the disease the more difficult to cure.

BABY'S EAR FOLDS DOWN.

S. K. writes: My baby's ears extend away from the head. He is 9 months old and has a tendency to sleep on a side with his ear folding down, no matter how many times I bend it back. I have used an ear conformer with little or no results.

REPLY.

The ears should be held against the head by means of a knitted cap. If this fails operation may be considered. Postpone operation until the child is old enough to cooperate.

BOBBY THATCHER — The Passing Ship — By George Storm

FROM THE LIPS OF HIS GREAT AUNT BOBBY LEARNED THAT HIS FATHER AND MOTHER HAD BEEN LOST AT SEA ..... EZRA THATCHER OWNER AND COMMANDER OF THE BARK MARY M. BELIEVED THAT A VOYAGE IN THE CARIBBEAN WOULD BENEFIT HIS WIFE'S FAILING HEALTH... THEY SAILED— IN A TROPICAL GALE THE VESSEL WAS DISMASTED AND DRIFTED HELPLESSLY.....
THE SHIP THAT PASSED MUST HAVE BEEN TOO FAR AWAY TO SEE THEM
YES IT WAS MILES AWAY, AND THE UPPER SAILS HAD BEEN TORN FROM YOUR FATHER'S SHIP.
SO NEAR YET SO FAR!
THOSE ABOARD THE CRIPPLED BARK WATCHED THE SHIP PASS, A SPECK ON THE HORIZON... THE CAPTAIN ORDERED POTS OF GREASE AND RAGS. BURNED, BUT THE THICK BLACK SMOKE WAS UNSEEN BECAUSE OF THE HAZE . . . . . .

THE GUMPS — Call Out the Reserves

TO DEPOSIT A MILLION AND A HALF DOLLARS IN A BANK ALL IN CURRENCY IS AN ORDINARY THING FOR UNCLE BIM- BUT TO THE NEWSPAPERS IT WAS A GREAT STORY- IT GAINED HIM NO AMOUNT OF PUBLICITY- BIM WAS LYING IN BED- HALF AWAKE- WAS HE DREAMING? OR DID HE IMAGINE HE HEARD A FAINT NOISE OUTSIDE HIS WINDOW? HE LOOKED- AND THERE IN THE WINDOW FRAME- CLEARLY OUTLINED AGAINST THE NIGHT SKY- WAS THE SILHOUETTE OF A MAN'S HEAD AND SHOULDERS-WHO'S THERE?
BANG! BANG! BANG!
BIM IS NO COWARD- GRABBING HIS REVOLVER- HE LEAPED TO THE WINDOW- AND FIRED THREE SHOTS INTO THE NIGHT AIR-
WHO SHOT? WHAT IS IT?
BURGLARS! THERE WAS A MAN TRYING TO GET INTO MY WINDOW- I FIRED IN THE AIR- TO SCARE HIM WHO COULD IT BE?
ANDY AND BIM WERE ON THE SCENT IMMEDIATELY- A LADDER WAS FOUND UNDER BIM'S WINDOW- THE ROBBER MUST HAVE ESCAPED OVER THE BACK FENCE- IT HAD RAINED EARLY IN THE EVENING- WHERE ANDY'S SPOT LIGHT FELL ON THE SOFT MUD IN THE ALLEY- IT REVEALED FOOT PRINTS — LOOK!

STOCKS VARY LITTLE IN REDUCED TRADING

Price Index Gains ½ Point While Turnover Drops 700,000 Shares.

RADIO-KEITH IS FEATURE

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—The stock market made partial recovery today from the setback suffered yesterday. Trading was in reduced volume, however, and save for feverish pool operations in a few specialties was distinctly cautious. Total sales were little more than 4,600,000 shares, about 700,000 less than yesterday's.

Considerable more selling had to be absorbed during the early hours of trading, and the list generally worked lower, but the market turned dull in the afternoon, and professional speculators for the rise were encouraged to resume wholesale bidding up of some of their favorites. The rally was not particularly impressive, however. The index of 90 leading shares showed a gain for the day of only about half a point, against a drop of more than 2 yesterday.

During the morning some commission houses advised their customers to await a further reaction, feeling that an overextended position had been reached in steady rise of the past two weeks and that a decline of more than one day would be required to correct it. By no means all observers shared this view, however. The more bullishly inclined were of the opinion that purchases for foreign account and by large investors and institutions had played a major part in the recent rise and that the market's foundation remained secure. Also, it was felt in some quarters that no substantial reaction would be likely at this season when business is showing distinct signs of recovery.

Loans Up $148,000,000.

The weekly brokers loan statement, appearing after the close of the market, was fully as unfavorable as the monthly stock exchange tabulation had indicated yesterday. A gain for the week of $148,000,000 was the largest reported for any week since July, 1929. Undoubtedly a large portion of this gain represents borrowing by pools and other strong interests attracted by the comparatively reasonable rates for money, now so low that dividend yields in many cases will pay carrying charges. Furthermore, even with this increase, loans have gained only about half as fast as stock prices have since last November. Nevertheless, a considerable change in the character of buying is indicated.

Radio and the amusement group provided the high lights of the day's trading. Radio was bid up more than 3 points to a record price for the year at 60¼, compared to a low last November of 26, and a high record for the present stock of 114¾, reached before the autumn crash. The turnover in this stock was nearly 500,000 shares, or about 10 per cent of the day's total trading. Radio Keith was also a bull feature, rising 2¾ points to a new high for the movement at 40¼, in less active trading. General Theaters, Fox Film, Keith Albee and Loews mounted about 4 to 6 points. Paramount and Warner Bros. gained only about a point each.

J. I. Case jumped 8 points, then slipped back 5½ from the top. Worthington Pump sold up 7½, then receded moderately. Electric Power & Light moved 4 points, but closed up only a point. Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Columbian Carbon, and Western Union moved up about 2 to 5 points. U. S. Steel closed unchanged. Simmons rallied moderately in response to a favorable sales report.

Westinghouse Electric Loses.

Among shares closing lower were American Can, American Tobacco, American Smelting, Calumet & Arizona, and Westinghouse Electric, off about 2 to 3 points. Sloss Sheffield lost 9 points.

Credit conditions remained unchanged, with call loans holding at 4 per cent. The weekly Federal Reserve statements showed that meeting the month end money requirements had been helped by increases in rediscounting, and open market purchases of bills. The New York banks, however, were borrowing only $15,000,000 at the Federal Reserve, against $135,000,000 at this time last year. Foreign exchange rates were generally steady, with South American rates showing a firmer tone. Sterling cables held at $4.86½.

The rally in stocks was helped by a sharp upturn in the grain markets. Wheat futures shot up about 2½ to 5 cents a bushel, reflecting better export sales, and reports of extremely dry weather in the Southwest. Corn mounted 1½ to 2 cents. The cotton market also gave a good account of itself, futures closing about $1 a bale higher.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS FEATURE IN MARKET

Amusement Shares Rally Sharply; Various Rails Experience Gains.

UTILITY GROUP IS FIRM

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—Stock option issues provided virtually all the action in today's bond market. Obligations without the speculative appeal of the convertible classification continued dull and in general there were only minor moves in the investment rails, utilities and industrials.

Considerable strength developed in the share privilege section during the final hour when the bonds of several amusement companies rose sharply. General Theaters Equipment 6s, the best performer, moved between 131 and 144, closing at the latter figure for a net gain of 11 points. Loew's 6s advanced 2, Pathe 7s improved 5, while Warner Brothers Pictures 6s ruled firm. Shubert Theater 7s proved to be an exception to the general trend, sagging nearly 3 points.

American Telephone Gains.

American Telephone convertible 4½s, trading in a 6-point range, turned an early loss into an advance of 3¾, finishing at 182. International Telephone 4½s gained 1¼. Railroad convertibles were less active and lower levels prevailed in New Haven 6s and Atchison 4½s.

Scattering advances appeared in the high-grade rails, notably Atchison General 4s, Nickel Plate 5½s, Pennsylvania Gold 5s and Pittsburgh & West Virginia 4½s. These rose from nearly 1 to about 2 points on moderate turnovers, giving a better tone to the group.

Northern Ohio Traction & Light 6s, up 1½ net, featured the dull and firm utilities. Domestic industrials were quiet, but several foreign sugars sank to new lows on the announcement of a price reduction by the Cuban single selling agency.

U. S. Shares Lose Slightly.

United States Government Securities closed irregularly lower, but transactions were small and the largest decline was a drop of 6-32 of a point in the Treasury 3¾s.

The New York Stock Exchange announced the reinstatement of United States 2 per cent consols. These securities, in which no transactions have been made on the exchange since 1924, were stricken from the list April 1 on the assumption that interest had ceased, whereas they only became callable on that date. The bonds are outstanding to the amount of nearly $600,000,000 and most of them are deposited as the basis for national bank circulation.

Foreign obligations were slow. German Republic 7s, which are being watched in view of the reparations loan flotation now expected next month, eased a shade. Kreuger & Toll 5s, with warrants, traded actively, rising half a point.

CAPITOL TITLE JOINS NEW YORK COMPANY

Ernest M. Weaver Becomes Manager of Firm Here Following Merger.

NEW OFFICE IS CREATED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Affiliation of the Capitol Title & Guarantee Co., of this city, with the New York Title & Mortgage Co., of New York City, was announced yesterday following a meeting of the former company's board of directors. Management of the local office has been placed in the hands of Ernest M. Weaver, assistant vice president of the New York company. He was elected general manager of the Capitol Title & Guarantee Co., succeeding Louis A. Dent, who resigned recently to devote his time to other business. Bernard B. Bailey was appointed title officer, a newly created position.

It was stated following the meeting that hereafter, the formal title insurance policy of the New York company would be issued by the local company as its exclusive representative in this territory and that its certificates of title issued by the local company would be jointly guaranteed by the New York concern. Negotiations resulting in the foregoing action have been in progress for some time.

The local company opened offices in the Chandler Building in October, 1928, and became the representative of the New York company in the District, and adjacent counties of Maryland and Virginia. Last year the New York company acquired a controlling interest in the local concern but its management has remained in the hands of local men.

Title Company Officers.

Officers of the company are: Maj. Julius I. Peyser, president; Mr. Weaver, general manager; Eliot H. Thomson, secretary-treasurer; Don S. Hutchison, assistant treasurer. Directors are Maj. Peyser, John H. Duncan, William S. Quinter, W. Clark Taylor, Eliot H. Thomson, W. Meade Holladay, Carey L. Meredith, Edward W. Wickey and William J. Latimer. The New York Title & Mortgage Co. has capital assets of more than $60,000,000.

The Morris Plan Bank of Washington, of which Bertram Chesterman is president, is joining with Morris Plan Banks throughout the country in celebrating during the month of April the twentieth anniversary of the first Morris Plan Bank in the United States.

The first Morris Plan Industrial Bank was founded by Arthur J. Morris, of Norfolk, Va., in that city in 1910, to extend to the individual credit facilities of a banking institution. Since the organization of that bank, 115 of these institutions, with 178 offices operating in 147 cities, have been founded. The combined number of loans made by all of these institutions since the organization of the first bank, according to officials, amounts to 6,500,000 totaling $1,800,000,000.

New Investment House Aid.

Chester W. Lockwood is now associated with Maynard, Oakley & Lawrence, members of the New York Stock Exchange, as manager of their Washington branch. The firm is temporarily located in the Securities Building until its permanent offices in the Shoreham Building are completed about May 1.

Mr. Lockwood was formerly manager of the Washington offices of Harriman & Co., having been employed by them for the past eight years. He was a member of the class of 1919 at Harvard University and at the outbreak of the World War, joined the Navy. He attended the officers training school at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, and later saw active service.

Charles D. Light has returned to the local offices of the National City Co., after several weeks spent at Charleston and Asheville.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 3 (A.P.).—The Associated Press corrects an error made in announcing yesterday the election of George U. Harris, of New York, as a member of the board of directors of the Lima Locomotives Co., Inc. It was erroneously stated that Mr. Harris succeeded his father, John F. Harris, deceased, whereas the elder Mr. Harris is not dead, but resigned in 1929 from the board. An attorney of the company here said today he had understood that the elder Mr. Harris was dead but in reading reports of the company today, had learned that the vacancy on the board was created through his resignation and not through his death. His son, George U. Harris, was reelected yesterday to the board. The Associated Press is glad to make this correction.

Rate of discount 3 per cent.

Cotton goods ruled quiet. The new price of 150 on 2.20 denims has been followed generally by mills, and business is being booked for deliveries in the second charter of the year. Rayon sales are less active, raw silk dull. Hosiery prices very irregular. Wool goods for fall being engaged moderately, dress goods openings attracting more attention than men's wear for the time being.

Directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank made no anouncement after their regular weekly meeting today regarding the rediscount rate, which is 3½ per cent.

Directors of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. today approved expenditures totaling $4,597,667, bringing the yearly appropriations approved to date to $8,183,862.

The Berne National Bank of Switzerland lowered its discount rate today from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent.

Directors of the City Ice & Fuel Co. today approved a proposal to acquire the Seaboard Terminal & Warehouse Co. of Jersey City, N. J., on a basis of one share of City Ice preferred stock for each share of Seaboard preferred and one-half share City Ice preferred for each share of Seaboard common. The City Ice preferred pays a dividend of $6.50. The Seaboard Co. has a long time contract with the Erie Railroad for its Terminal Ice requirements and also has contract for handling the road's freight. James Horner, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was elected a director. The City Ice preferred pays a dividend of $6.50.

March shipments of the Auburn Automobile Co. were the largest for the month in the history of the company. There was an increase of 34 per cent over the previous month and 8½ per cent compared with a year ago.

Building permits issued throughout the country last month were 55 per cent greater than those of the previous month, S. W. Straus & Co. reported today. This increase compares with a loss of 2 percent from January to February. 17 per cent from December to January, 19 per cent from November to December and 23 per cent from October to November. The report, which covers 125 of the "key" cities, states the normal increase of March over February is 37 per cent.

Reports from the copper trade are to the effect that buying during the last few days has been better than for some time past. Foreign sales also have been better with the total for the month so far amounting to about 9,000,000 pounds.

The Waldorf System, Inc., New England chain lunchroom organization, has started its expansion program planned for the current year by purchasing St. Clair's, Inc., which operates ten restaurants in Boston and vicinity. The major portion of the expansion, James J. Curry, president, said, is to be concentrated in Greater New York.

Z. G. Simmons, president of the Simmons Co., told stockholders at the annual meeting today that the March sales had increased 12.3 per cent over those of March, 1929.

First quarter sales of Thompson Products, Inc., of Cleveland, manufacturers of parts for automobile and airplane engines, are larger than for any previous corresponding quarter in the company's history with the exception of the first quarter of last year, according to C. W. Thompson, president, who added that the profits for the quarter, to be announced in a couple of weeks, are expected to be in proportion to the sale figures.

Gross sales of the Southern Grocery Co., for the 28-day period ending March 29, were $1,335,000, covering the 596 stores in the chain, compared with $1,185,000 for the corresponding period of 1929, when the chain numbered 581 units.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank's gold movement report for the week ending April 2 showed imports of $246,000 from Latin-American countries, and exports of $195,000 to England. There was no net change in the amount of earmarked gold. The daily statement covering transactions up to 3 p. m., today showed no imports, exports or change in earmarked gold.

The Phillips Petroleum Co. has acquired the Beard Oil Co., operating 11 service stations, 50 retail outlets and warehouse facilities, located in Fort Smith, Ark., and vicinity.

The General American Tank Car Corporation reports that its Sharon, Pam Tank Car plant is booked to capacity until July 15, and that the leased car situation is extremely favorable. Recent utilization of tank cars for the shipment of molasses and other food products has given the company a much broader field of operations. The demand for oil and tank cars, officials state, indicates a record-breaking movement of those products this spring and summer.

Directors of the Simmons Co. today declared the regular quarterly cash dividend of 75 cents a share. There had been some uneasiness in Wall street over the dividend, in view of the recent decline in the stock, although officials of the company had indicated that uneasiness was unnecessary.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 3 (A.P.).—Skyrocketing wheat prices today went 11¼c a bushel higher in some cases than wheat could be bought last week. With millions of acres of wheat lands Southwest reported dry as ashes, and with drought news coming from the West and Northwest as well, European demand for wheat showed sudden big expansion. Meanwhile, weather forecasts held out no hope of immediate moisture relief, and there were indications that hot weather would increase danger of widespread severe crop damage.

Excited buying especially on the part of previous speculative sellers, led to a wild close in the wheat market at the day's topmost point, 2½@5¼c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1½@2¼c up, oats ½@1c advance and provisions showing 2c@27c gain.

It was estimated that as much as 2,000,000 bushels of North American wheat were bought today for overseas shipment from Canada and the United States, mostly from Canada, but including at least some domestic hard winter grades. This was the first important change in a long while that has taken place in the apparent concerted policy of European countries to keep buying on a strictly hand-to-mouth basis. Alarm over crop conditions of Kansas and Oklahoma wheat in particular became acute today, however, and price jumps formed the rule from the start both at Liverpool and here, official Kansas and Oklahoma reports confirming word from other sources that the crop situation has become critical.

Special notice was taken today of dispatches from a leading Chicago field observer who said that to prevent serious damage, 6,000,000 acres of wheat in western Kansas and portions of adjoining States must have soaking rains before hot weather set in. He added that but little moisture was left around the roots of wheat, that some fields were losing color, and that even with cool weather the damage would increase until rain was received. Adding to the force of consequent price upturns were reports that Argentine wheat offerings had dwindled to almost nothing, and that importing countries would require wheat shipments of 229,000,000 bushels before the end of July with dependence chiefly on wheat from Canada and the United States.

Corn and oats responded briskly to the skyward movement of the wheat market. General buying of corn future deliveries was witnessed. On the other hand, country offerings of corn to arrive were fairly liberal. Oats traders gave sharp attention to reports that the oats crop Southwest as well as wheat was in much need of rain.

Provisions kept upward pace with the grain markets and also with hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May, 1.12⅛; 1.16¾; July, 1.12⅜@1.12½, 1.18¾@1.18½; September, 1.14⅞, 1.21⅛@1.21¼. Corn—May, 86⅝, 88½; July, 88⅜, 90¾@90⅝; September, 89, 91½@91⅝.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

RESTRAINING ORDER REFUSED BY JUDGE

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 99-J-1.

Judge Howard W. Smith yesterday refused to hear a suit instituted in Fairfax County Circuit Court by a number of residents of Merrifield and vicinity to restrain the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors and the county engineer from using county equipment and road forces in road-building work on private subdivisions.

The motion for an injunction was refused by Judge Smith because Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr, who will represent the county in the case, has not had sufficient time to prepare a defense. This automatically continues the case until the next term of court, as Judge Smith will close this term of court tomorrow.

Though the county is paid for the work, plaintiffs in the suit claim that the county has no right to engage in work for private parties.

This question was discussed at some length at the last meeting of the board of supervisors. It was stated by some of the members that these roads that were worked on have been dedicated to the public and, therefore, have become public roads even though they have not been taken into the county system, and the county is greatly benefited when private persons pay for their improvement.

It was also brought out that in the past the board authorized the county engineer to undertake such operations only when funds for county road work were not available, only charging actual expenses and rent for the machines. These methods practically paid for all the county's road-building equipment and aided the county engineer to maintain an efficient county road-building force throughout the year, the board claims.

The members of the board stated that before they authorized the county engineer to undertake work in private subdivisions that they obtained the opinion of the Commonwealth attorney, who in turn asked the attorney general of the Commonwealth for a ruling in regard to the question. It was stated that the attorney general ruled that the supervisors were acting entirely within the scope of their authority and that there was nothing to prevent them from engaging in this work.

Eugene Miles and Alma Miles, who were indicted during the January term of court for a second offense under the State prohibition law, and who left the State while under bond before their case was heard, were brought before the Circuit Court yesterday by State Prohibition Inspector Virgil Williams. Mr. Williams arrested Miles and his wife in Greensboro, N. C. They waived extradition from North Carolina and returned to Fairfax County. They pleaded guilty to the indictment yesterday and Judge Smith imposed a fine of $500 and costs and one year jail sentence on each defendant. Both sentences were suspended with the provision that Miles and his wife leave the State. This the defendants agreed to do immediately.

Two other criminal indictments were tried by a jury yesterday. Both indictments were against John Woodlawn, colored, of Merrifield, for a second State prohibition offense. The first trial was for the sale of ardent spirits. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and recommended a fine of $25 and costs and six months in jail. The second trial was for transportation and possession of liquor on another occasion. A verdict of guilty was also returned by the jury after hearing the testimony, who recommended a fine of $50 and costs for an inadvertent violation of the State prohibition laws.

The petition of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors to purchase an acre of land adjacent to the present permanent road camp at the intersection of the Little River turnpike and Burke from W. E. Crosen was granted by the court. The purchase price named was $1,000. The petition stated that it was necessary for the county to own this land to provide for the expansion of the camp and the present water supply for the camp was located upon this property.

A license to sell soft drinks was granted to H. L. Hiett at his place of business at East Falls Church.

A civil jury awarded a verdict of $925 in favor of Thomas B. Snoddy, an infant who sued Angie A. Irwin.

The Fairfax County School Board will hold its regular monthly meeting in the board room at the courthouse tomorrow. Several questions of importance will be discussed. The afternoon session of the board will be devoted to consideration of consolidating the high school in Dranesville district. The question has been tentatively discussed by the board on various occasions. If the schools are consolidated it will mean the elimination of the Floris Vocational High School and the Forestville High School. The pupils would be transported to the school at Herndon. Divisional Superintendent W. T. Woodson has prepared a table of figures comparing the cost of instruction per pupil attending the high schools in Fairfax County. The cost in these three schools are almost double that of any other high schools in the county. The consolidation of these three schools was recommended in the report of the survey made by the State Board of Education.

John M. Pettitt was the successful bidder at an auction sale of the old Ashford School Building located one mile north of Burke on the Fairfax Station road. The highest bid received was $150. This figure is subject to the approval of the county school board and the circuit court.

W. Irving Dixon, an assistant to the State school architect, was in Fairfax yesterday to consult with Divisional School Superintendent Wilbert T. Woodson in regard to the proposed school buildings and additions. The Fairfax School, which is built on State specifications, was inspected and the proposed addition discussed. The State architect's office will prepare the plans and specifications for the addition and return them at an early date.

Pupils of the McLean School will present a play in the school auditorium at McLean tonight and tomorrow night. Miss Eleanor Appich, teacher of English, will direct the play, which is entitled, "Patty Makes Things Hum." Those taking part as members of the cast are: Mildred Logan, Dorothy Tavenner, Louise Arnold, Catherine Cunningham, Isabelle Beattie, Narcisses Jenkins, Hayden Davis, James Magarity and Albert Follin. Between the acts Miss Belle Burke, District home demonstration agent, from Blacksburg, Va., will address the audience. The proceeds of the play will be used to pay for a concrete walk from the school building to the science laboratory.

The Junior League at the Groveton School will hold a meeting this afternoon, in the schoolhouse.

The Lenten Study Class of Andrew Chapel, which meets tonight, will be in charge of Miss Elizabeth Berry.

The Rachel Walker Circle of King's Daughters and Sons will hold their meeting tonight at the home of Miss Margaret Williams at Woodlawn.

The 4-H Club at Fort Humphreys will hold a meeting this afternoon. Mrs. F. James, leader, will give a demonstration on the preparation of eggs.

W. L. Northrop, of Alexandria, arrested last Saturday during a raid upon the Thompson property near the Penn Daw Hotel in Fairfax County has filed an appeal and posted bond of $50 following a fine of $10 on a charge of being disorderly. The Post on Tuesday morning erroneously carried a story that Northrup had forfeited $10 following his arrest by Prohibition Inspector Virgil Williams and Fairfax County police.

Funeral Services Set For Slain Tobacco Man

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., April 3.—The body of P. T. Barley, 38, well-known tobacco buyer for the American Tobacco Co., who was shot and killed early yesterday morning at Sylvania, Ga., by R. L. Farmers, a tobacco grower, arrived here this evening and was removed to South Boston, his home, for interment tomorrow.

Barley, who had bought tobacco here for several years, recently was assigned the task of advertising the company's products. Reports from Sylvania are that Farmer was awakened late in the night by Barley, saying he had been held up, shot and robbed. Farmer was in the alleged act of dressing to get a doctor when the tobacco buyer is said to have attacked him with a knife, whereupon he shot him three times. Farmer was freed on the verdict of the coroner's jury, which found justifiable homicide.

LOST $40,000 GEMS RECOVERED IN TAXI

Negro Collects $2,000 Reward From Banker's Wife in Richmond.

WIDE SEARCH IS ENDED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., April 3.—Widespread search for $40,000 worth of jewels belonging to Mrs. Anne Douglas Dillon, wife of Clarence Dillon, wealthy New York banker, missing since her arrival here by train Tuesday from Charleston, S. C., ended late tonight when a Negro found the valuables in a taxicab and returned them to the woman and collected $2,000 reward.

Reported to have been lost or stolen, the gems had been sought by police intensively since Mrs. Dillon reported them missing yesterday. She had recalled having them in a leather case beside her in the Pullman seat on the train shortly before its arrival in Richmond, where she went to visit her mother, Mrs. George Douglas.

Discovering her loss next day, she was unable to remember whether she had taken the case off the train, although the remainder of her luggage had been deposited in a taxicab, in which she rode to her mother's home. The Negro in giving her the jewels said he had found the case in the same cab in which he later rode as a passenger.

Mrs. Hettie S. Martin Dies in Lynchburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., April 3.—Mrs. Hettie Sperry Martin, wife of H. H. Martin, clerk of the corporation court here, died early this morning, having been ill several months. She was a native of Bedford County, daughter of the late J. Thomas Sperry and a member of Court Street Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband, two children, Mary and Thomas, and five sisters, Mrs. Oliver Tamplin and Miss Roberta Sperry, Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. Mace S. Rawlings, Roanoke; Mrs. Moorman Field, Bedford, and Mrs. E. Rivers, Atlanta, Ga.

Maryland Youth Held In Automobile Death

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., April 3.—Richard E. Light, aged 16, son of Arthur Light, of near Pinto, this county, was held in $10,000 bond pending action of the coroner's jury tomorrow in the case of Allen Clarence Lyons, 58, Cresaptown, this county, employe of the Celanese Corporation of America, who was killed by an automobile driven by Light this morning.

Lyons died at Alleghany Hospital of a fractured skull. Light, also a Celanese employe, was driving to work and Lyons was walking on the McMullen highway. Lyons was formerly a resident of Kitzmiller, Md., and was a paperhanger and a painter by trade.

Fredericksburg Fire Losses Jump Suddenly

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., April 3.—Losses from fire in this city for the current year almost equal in monetary value total losses since and including 1924. A compilation of figures for the last six years shows that approximately $35,000 in damage has been wrought by flames in this city since 1924, while thus far in 1930 about $32,000 worth of property has been destroyed.

In no year since 1923, when fire losses reached $16,150, have the present figures been even approached. Even then the sum was only half as much as that for the first three months of this year

Danville Man, 55, Kills Himself With Shotgun

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., April 3.—William Edward Emmerson, aged 55, long in ill health, committed suicide here this evening with a shotgun.

His wife, hearing the report, found him dead on the bed in a room at his home. No final message was found.

ALEXANDRIANS ACT TO BLOCK FARE GAIN

Committee Is Authorized to Carry Fight to State Commission.

DELAY IS TO BE ASKED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Two resolutions were adopted by the mass meeting held in the Elks' Auditorium last night to protest against the proposed increase in passenger fares between Alexandria and Washington and intermediate points by Robert L. May, owner of the electric railway and bus line.

The first was that the citizens' committee be authorized, if they find it necessary, to appear before the Virginia State corporation commission and apply for an extension of time in order to adequately prepare and present a protest against the proposed increase in fare, and also to employ counsel, accountant, and any other help they may need.

The second resolution provided that Mr. May be requested to postpone having action taken on his application, now pending before the State Corporation Commission, for a period on 90 days from April 1, to permit an opportunity for ascertaining if a fair return on his investment can be made by the operation of the bus and railway under the one management at the present rate.

A finance committee to raise funds for the work proposed was appointed, having Harold Abbey as general chairman, and as members the Rev. E. V. Regester, the Rev. F. C. McFadden, C. L. Burgess, E. D. File, J. Hugh Rollins, Miss Lucy Graves, R. E. Knight, Mrs. A. R. Gilliam and W. J. McTaffery.

The committee sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, which has been in conference several times in the last week with Mr. May and the auditors of the Washington-Alexandria Electric Railway and the A. B. & W. bus line regarding the increased fares completed its report yesterday, and presented it for consideration at a meeting of the full committee.

The committee report goes into great detail as to the figures submitted by Mr. May in support of his proposed fare increase, but fails to make a recommendation as to a scale of rates which will be fair to both sides, as was understood to be the purpose of the conferences. It recognizes the fact that the joint operation of the railway and bus line, at the present rates, would not be profitable. It shows the loss sustained by the railway in 1929, including the Mount Vernon division, which has now been scrapped, to have been $1,800, of which only $200 was charged to the Mount Vernon division, while the bus line showed a profit of $19,988.94, or 5.2 per cent on the property investment. The net profit on the combined properties for 1929 was $18,327.56, or a return of 2¾ per cent on the capital invested as set up by Mr. May, and 1.8 per cent on the value arrived at by using assessments for taxation of the railway. Mr. May claims it would be necessary for him to spend $150,000 on the railway, in addition to the purchase price. He values the combined bus and railroad properties at $1,008,623.

The regular meeting of the city council yesterday was one of the shortest on record, only two matters being presented for consideration.

Louis A. Watres, of Scranton, Pa., president of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association, acknowledged receipt of the council's recent letter thanking him for the public spirit shown by him in donating to the new Masonic temple a set of chimes.

J. E. Brice was granted a permit to erect a porch on the house at 610 South Washington street.

Councilman Carroll Pierce asked if the figures requested of Robert L. May, owner of the Washington-Alexandria Electric Railway and the A. B. & W. bus line in the rate controversy which is now engaging the attention of Alexandrians had been presented. City Manager Lawrence stated they had but that Mr. May had requested that they be not made public. The council then went into executive session to consider the rate schedule.

The work of dismantling the electric railway bridge over Hunting Creek at the extreme south end of Royal street, was started yesterday, for the purpose of salvaging the timber in the bridge. H. H. Forbes, of Alexandria, is doing the work. The bridge is 4,480 feet long, and is built entirely of timbers. For many years it provided a roadway for vehicles and pedestrians, but several years ago Washington, Alexandria & Mount Vernon Railway, owners of the structure, closed it to all but railway traffic.

One Alexandrian and two tourists were slightly injured yesterday in automobile accidents, as a result of the slippery condition of the streets and roads, due to the rain.

John W. Wyne, of 502 King street, suffered a deep cut under his chin, which necessitated several stitches, when he swerved his automobile to avoid striking another car at Queen and Washington streets, striking an electric light pole. The pole was broken off at the top, and Wyne's car was considerably damaged.

Miss Marian Groetsch and Miss Marian Roop, both of Glenside, Pa., narrowly escaped serious injury when their machine skidded on the Fort Humphreys road a short distance south of Alexandria and struck a pole. Miss Groetsch suffered lacerations of the left leg and Miss Roop cuts and bruises on her hand and knee. The damage to their car was slight.

H. B. James, driver for a Washington bakery company, reported to the police that while delivering bread the brakes on his truck accidentally were released, causing the machine to run into the building at the northwest corner of Gibbon and St. Asaph streets, damaging a window frame and breaking glass of the show window. The store is occupied by Green Boone.

Almshouse Survey To Aid Maryland

Centralized Institution for Western Shore Under Discussion.

A special subcommittee of the governor's committee on the establishment of a central almshouse for the Western Shore of Maryland today will inspect several centralized almshouses in Virginia and a State institution at Frederick, Md.

The subcommittee, of which Lacy Shaw, vice president of the Montgomery County Board of County Commissioners, is chairman, will leave from Silver Spring County Building this morning at 9:30 o'clock. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Maude S. Gardiner, St. Mary's County; Miss Bessie Gavit, Charles County, and Dr. P. Bird Hopkins, Harford County. The party will be accompanied by Howard Cutler, Washington architect.

The governor's committee is studying the feasibility of establishing central almshouses for the Eastern Shore and the Western Shore at which it is believed inmates can receive better care and medical attention than in the county almshouses. The subcommittee will report to the meeting of the committee at its meeting early in May in Baltimore.

Colored Schools Hold Exhibition at Bedford

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., April 3.—The colored schools of the county held their annual exhibit at the Bedford Training School here yesterday. Susie B. Gibson, colored rural school supervisor, has been directing the work. The colored rural supervisors from Campbell and Franklin Counties were present also.

Miss Eliza Stickley and Mrs. F. O. Thomas served as judges, and there were exhibits in sewing, cooking, woodwork, weaving, drawing and painting. The program was held in Washington Street Baptist Church. Addresses were made by W. D. Gresham, State supervisor of Negro education, and Dr. J. A. G. Shipley, division superintendent of schools. Groups from the various schools were represented and there were contests in spelling and arithmetic. A pupil from the Olive Branch School won in the arithmetic contest and the spelling contest resulted in a tie.

Eight in Lynchburg Saved From Flames

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., April 3.—Eight persons sleeping in quarters above a store here were rescued this morning by firemen when a fire in the lower part of the store, a tea establishment, filled the building with smoke.

Damage was small and is covered by insurance.

Farmer Burns to Death In Flaming Granary

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 3.—Hiram W. McQuain, 36, prosperous Beverly farmer, was burned to death last night when trapped in his granary by fire caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp he was carrying.

The whole structure was a mass of seething flame within a few seconds and his wife was unable to reach through the wall of fire to rescue him.

GRANT STATEMENT HIT BY SOMERVELL

War Department Engineer Alleges Colonel's Park Claim Unfounded.

POWER COMPANY ACTS

A third chapter in the publicity attending the proposed park and power development of Great Falls was written yesterday when Maj. Brehon Somervell, District engineer for the War Department in the Washington area, issued a statement answering criticism of his power plan by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, vice chairman and executive officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Maj. Somervell's claim of $100,000,000 saving through development of Great Falls for power purposes was denied by Col. Grant in his statement of Wednesday, and yesterday's statement by Maj. Somervell was in reply to Col. Grant's criticism.

The War Department engineer, who, according to Col. Grant's statement, is backing a power plan advanced by the Potomac River Corporation, of Wilmington, Del., struck back yesterday by stating that "if I am the spokesman for the Potomac River Corporation, as suggested by Col. Grant, Col. Grant must be the spokesman for the Potomac Electric Power Co."

Statement Is Amplified.

Maj. Somervell amplified this statement with the declaration that "the greatest single beneficiary from the Cramton bill, as it was originally written, would be the Potomac Electric Power Co., as it would be able to dispose of the property which it has been holding at $1,000,000 to the Government and keep out all competitors in the District, which has evidently been its purpose in buying and holding the land."

The major's reply to Col. Grant, in part, is as follows:

I have read Col. Grant's article which was evidently given to the newspapers before being presented to the proper authorities, as was the first letter written by the Park Commission to the Power Commission. The newspapers are no place to debate the merits of this question.

Col. Grant was requested to reply to my statement on the Potomac by the Senate District committee and declined to do so. Had there been any merit in his contentions he should have advanced them at that time when he could have been cross-questioned as to his knowledge of the economics of the development on the Potomac. The reasons for his failure to reply when before the proper committee seem obvious.

Grant Claim Ridiculed.

I am very sorry not to be able to take Col. Grant's remarks concerning flood control, power, &c., seriously. I did take them seriously at first, but have been unable to do so since I saw his report to Gen Jadwin in which he stated that the flood of 1889, which reached its crest on June 2 of that year, was due to an ice jam at Long Bridge, this in June with the temperature in the 70's.

Similarly with regard to power, his remarks concerning collapse of dams to be built and destruction of the Lincoln Memorial are too far-fetched to claim the attention of any thinking person, much less an engineer who is supposed to know about such matters.

I do not claim to be a park expert. The park laid out around the power development proposed by this office follows exactly the report of the previous Senate committee under chairmanship of Senator McMillan, which investigated this matter. This committee had as its advisers Messrs. Daniel H. Burnham, Charles F. McKim, Augustus St. Claudens and Frederick Law Olmsted, jr. They state:

"Without interfering with future utilization of the water power, the surroundings of Great Falls on both sides of the river should, in our opinion, be converted into a national park, to be connected with the city by a continuous river drive."

Mr. Olmsted, it seems, once advocated the development with power and once without.

Challenge to Committee.

As I stated in the beginning, however, this is no place for a debate on the merits of this proposition. In the event that the District committee should take Col. Grant's remarks seriously, I have written the chairman of that committee to suggest that he call on the chief engineer of the Federal Power Commission for the results of the review of the power development made by the engineers of that commission.

Their investigation was made independently of this office, and by the highest authority on such matters in the Government service. Their statements will be the facts in the case, and whether they substantiate or do not substantiate the conclusions reached by this office, I will be willing to accept them. Their views should set the question of the economics of the development at rest.

The Park Commission, if it wishes to be fair in the matter, must likewise accept the conclusions of the power commission as to the economics of the power development.

Corporation Also Replies.

Attorneys of the Potomac River Corporation, which is opposing the Cramton bill, also issued a reply to Col. Grant's statement in which they cited the report made by Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, when chairman of the National Park and Planning Commission that "waste of more than $48,000,000 of potential values for debatable minor scenic consideration is neither necessary, desirable nor sound."

"It is a remarkable fact," the company's reply continues, "that both statements of Col. Grant and the American Civic Association, criticizing the Somervell report, rely on the Jadwin report."

"This is particularly remarkable," Elisha Hanson, attorney for the corporation, says, "in view of the fact that Col. Grant, as executive officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, suppressed the Jadwin report when he transmitted the conclusion of that commission to Congress in December."

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 3.—Horace McDavid, of Illinois, international Kiwanis governor, will visit and address the Martinsburg Kiwanis Club on April 25, it is announced.

The clubs of Charles Town, W. Va., Frederick and Hagerstown, Md., and Winchester, Va., will be invited to attend the meeting. The announcement was made at a meeting of the local club last night by W. H. S. White, West Virginia Kiwanis district governor. Mr. McDavid is making a one-day trip to this State.

ARLINGTON MONARCH CLUB GIVEN PRAISE

National Secretary Asserth Organization Is Growing Wherever Located.

TAX RETURNS DUE SOON

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 709. Clarendon, Va.

Speaking at a meeting of the Arlington County Monarch Club yesterday at the Ashton Heights Woman's clubhouse, Percy P. Woodbridge, of Arlington County, national secretary, declared there is no organization in any community where so much can be accomplished than in the service club. The meeting was well attended.

"The service club," said Mr. Woodbridge, "had its origin in February, 1908, when the first Rotary Club was organized in the city of Chicago through the efforts of Paul Harris.

"I have only recently returned from a visit to each of the Monarch Clubs, and I find the organization growing rapidly, and the only news I can bring to you is of a most encouraging nature.

"There is nothing commercial about a service club. Its objects are to raise the level of ideas and achievements of its members. As to the size of the club, let us have a group of 50 men together in a club, set them to work, and I will show you a community that will profit by its existence. No better objective could this or any other club take than to do something for the young boys of the community."

President A. B. Honts, in thanking the speaker, said the club is to be congratulated that it has as one of its young members one who now holds the office of national secretary.

State and local tax forms for the year 1930 are now being delivered to the homes, according to an announcement made yesterday by County Commissioner of Revenue Harry K. Green. All returns must be filed on or before June 1 to save the penalty of 10 per cent or the minimum of $2. The office at the courthouse will be open each day except Saturdays until 4:30, on Saturdays to 1 o'clock, where Mr. Green or his assistants will assist in filling out returns.

The Parent-Teachers Association of the James Monroe School held its weekly luncheon at the schoolhouse yesterday and assurance was given that the meetings will be continued each Thursday. Among the guests who enjoyed the luncheon with the children were: Mrs. Percey A. Richmond, Mrs. H. H. Snarr, Mrs. C. B. Austin, Mrs. Wildman, Mrs. R. E. Woodyard, Mrs. K. Messick, Mrs. G. S. Lynch, Mrs. John W. Walcott, Mrs. S. T. Scott, Mrs. Carrie T. Bibson, Mrs. Vernon Lamberson, Mrs. Alton M. Brown, Mrs. Arthur C. Millen, Mrs. J. L. Mathusa, Mrs. L. R. Price and Mrs. W. E. Bell.

The Floral Circle of Mary Washington Chapter No. 50, Order of the Eastern Star, meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Richard L. Eacho, elected Mrs. Louise Elliott president and Mrs. Eleanor Gary secretary-treasurer.

During the month of March there was a total of 299 deeds recorded in the county clerk's office, according to the monthly report released yesterday. The tax to the State amounted to $1,051.89.

Other items included in the report are: Wills and administration, eight, State tax, $51.50; chancery suits, 23, State tax, $34.50; actions at law, 8, State tax, $9; fines collected during the month for violation of the prohibition law amounted to $95, with costs amounting to $207.25; fines in cases other than prohibition were $85.25, with the costs totaling $92.50.

Delinquent real estate taxes collected during the month going to the State treasurer amounted to $163.51. The amount collected which goes into the county treasury totaled $1,515.84.

According to an announcement last night by State Game Warden W. Harry Johnson, the Department of Inland Game and Fisheries, is distributing 20,000,000 ring perch in the streams of Virginia. The perch have been given to them by the United States Bureau of Fisheries at Fort Humphries.

There will be a meeting of the workers in the Arlington County district of the Kernahan campaign of visitation and evangelism tonight in the Ballston Southern Methodist Church. The Rev. Earl A. Kernahan is announced as the principal speaker.

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Matthew Fontaine Maury School at Clarendon was held last night at the schoolhouse with a large attendance. Dr. P. M. Chichester, county health officer, the principal speaker, stressed the need to get busy and provide suitable means of fighting the fly with the approach of spring and summer.

"Great care should be taken," said Dr. Chichester, "in seeing that food in all forms is well covered and at no time exposed."

Announcement was made last night that the board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, with the chairman of the membership committee, Guy N. Church, will formulate plans for an extensive membership drive at a luncheon meeting to be at the Boulevard Bakery next Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Paca Kennedy, of the Virginia Theological Seminary, will conduct the special Lenten services tonight at St. George's Episcopal Church.

The monthly court of honor will be held tomorrow night at the Clarendon Methodist Church to review those Boy Scouts prepared to pass merit badge and first and second class tests, A. E. Falconer, chairman of the Arlington County Court of Honor committee, will preside.

The activities of the troops during the past month indicate that a large number of scouts will be candidates for higher rank.

The committee announces that more than 100 scouts in the county are busy preparing plans for the annual camporee the first part of May. The purpose of the camporee is to judge the troops in their ability to camp, taking into consideration the following factors: Adequate equipment, safety, sanitation, cooking and morale.

The winners of the meet will be privileged to assemble with the scouts from Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia and the rest of the State of Virginia at Natural Bridge for a jamboree to be held after the close of school in June.

Two Virginians Die As Plane Crashes

Biplane Fall of 500 Feet Cost Lives of Pilot and Passenger.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., April 3.—The first fatal aeroplane crash since the Danville airport was opened took place near there at 6 o'clock this evening, claiming the lives of Fleming Wright and Colbert Perdue, both of this city.

Eye-witnesses said that the biplane piloted by Mr. Perdue and owned by a friend at Fieldale went into a tail spin at the height of 500 feet. The plane fell like a bullet, the engine being buried in the ground.

Mr. Wright was dead when the plane was reached. Mr. Perdue, a licensed pilot with 65 flying hours to his credit, died on the way to the hospital.

SIGNBOARD REMOVAL IS DEMANDED IN SUIT

Prince Georges Court Grants Injunction in Action by Realty Firm.

VIOLATION IS ALLEGED

Suit to force the P. & H. Morton Advertising Co. to remove signboards on lots in Beltsville Heights on the Baltimore Boulevard has been filed in the Prince Georges County Circuit Court at Upper Marlboro by the Peoples' Cooperative Realty Co. Judge Joseph C. Mattingly issued a rule to show cause which requires the signboard company to answer before April 17.

Through Attorney Waldo Burnside, the realty company declares that the signs are erected in violation of a covenant which was written in all deeds to property in the subdivision and which forbids the erection of signs for advertising purposes on the property.

The company further alleges that the signboards tend to deteriorate the value of adjacent property.

The sign company has repeatedly asked for permission to erect such signs, the real estate company contends, and at all times has been refused and has demanded that the offending signs be removed but has been unable to secure action from the sign company, the petition for a mandatory injunction declares.

Annapolis, Md., April 3.—Charles E. Meade, 57 years old, of Gotts Station, Anne Arundel County, president of the Meade Baking Co., of Baltimore, died in Annapolis Emergency Hospital today from a complication of organic ailments. He has been in ill health for more than a year. He is survived by three sons, Charles Albert, Brook and Gill Meade, and three daughters, Dorothy and Anna, and Mrs. Henry Stilper.

Committee Favors Bill For Beautifying Tomb

The Wood bill providing for the beautification of the approaches to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery was approved yesterday by the House military affairs committee.

The plans for the approaches and adjacent roadways would have to be approved by the Arlington Cemetery Commission, the American Battle Monuments Commission and the Fine Arts Commission.

ROCKVILLE TO ALTER SYSTEM OF LIGHTING

Project Aimed to Increase Efficiency 190 Per Cent by Change.

WILL LAUNCH WORK SOON

Complete rehabilitation of Rockville's lighting system has been decided upon by Mayor J. Roger Spates and the town council, the mayor announced yesterday. The Potomac Electric Power Co. is to begin work as soon as possible on revamping the system.

Mayor Spates said that the council figured out that an increase of 190 per cent in the lighting efficiency could be developed by the expenditure of about 80 per cent more money than the present inefficient system is costing. The additional safety factor can not be computed in money, he said, for "good lights are the best policemen."

The main street of the town from the Fair Grounds to the Frederick turn will be lighted with 250-candlepower lamps modeled after those in use on Wisconsin avenue in Bethesda. Other lights in the town will be replaced with new fixtures to carry 100-candlepower bulbs. An additional 30 lamps will be distributed in the dark corners of the town, according to Mayor Spates who, with members of the town council and representatives of the power company, made an extensive survey of the town's lighting needs.

Robbery of the home of W. C. De Groot, at Indian Spring Terrace, was reported yesterday to the Montgomery County police, of the Silver Spring substation. A window was broken open to gain entrance and the entire house was ransacked room for room. A number of burned matches, evidently used by the robbers to find their way about, were found on the floor. A $10 bill was found missing.

A total of 605 instruments were filed in the office of Preston B. Ray, clerk of the county circuit court, in the month of March, it was reported yesterday. These were divided as follows: 158 deeds, 126 mortgages and releases, 76 trusts and 245 bills of sale.

There were 163 resident and 2 non-resident anglers' licenses issued in the same period.

Richard White, colored, of Norbeck, Md., was arrested yesterday by Corpl. Roy Bodmer and Policeman Robert Howes, of the Rockville police headquarters, on warrants charging driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and assault upon Francis E. Fraley, of Rockville, on Sunday.

According to police, White threatened Mr. Fraley with a razor when the latter remonstrated at the manner in which the Negro was driving his automobile.

Roy Warren reported to Rockville police yesterday that his store and dwelling at Browntown had been entered and robbed. The store and house were broken into April 1, while he was away, Mr. Warren reported, and the lock on a trunk broken and $50 taken from the trunk. A small quantity of candy was stolen from the store.

Warrants charging perjury have been issued in Rockville for George W. Stewart, of Lynchburg, Va., a soldier stationed at Fort Myer, Va., in connection with his marriage Monday to Miss Annetta Dommell, of Lancaster, Pa.

The warrant was sworn out by the girl's father, who told police that his daughter
